NATIONAL BUREAU OF STANDARDS

The National Bureau of Standards¹ was established by an act of Congress March 3, 1901. The Bureau's overall goal is to strengthen and advance the Nation's science and technology and facilitate their effective application for public benefit. To this end, the Bureau conducts research and provides: (1) a basis for the Nation's physical measurement system, (2) scientific and technological services for industry and government, (3) a technical basis for equity in trade, and (4) technical services to promote public safety. The Bureau consists of the Institute for Basic Standards, the Institute for Materials Research, the Institute for Applied Technology, the Institute for Computer Sciences and Technology, and the Office for Information Programs.

THE INSTITUTE FOR BASIC STANDARDS provides the central basis within the United States of a complete and consistent system of physical measurement; coordinates that system with measurement systems of other nations; and furnishes essential services leading to accurate and uniform physical measurements throughout the Nation's scientific community, industry, and commerce. The Institute consists of a Center for Radiation Research, an Office of Measurement Services and the following divisions:

Applied Mathematics — Electricity — Mechanics — Heat — Optical Physics — Nuclear Sciences² — Applied Radiation² — Quantum Electronics³ — Electromagnetics³ — Time and Frequency³ — Laboratory Astrophysics³ — Cryogenics³.

THE INSTITUTE FOR MATERIALS RESEARCH conducts materials research leading to improved methods of measurement, standards, and data on the properties of well-characterized materials needed by industry, commerce, educational institutions, and Government; provides advisory and research services to other Government agencies; and develops, produces, and distributes standard reference materials. The Institute consists of the Office of Standard Reference Materials and the following divisions:

Analytical Chemistry — Polymers — Metallurgy — Inorganic Materials — Reactor Radiation — Physical Chemistry.

THE INSTITUTE FOR APPLIED TECHNOLOGY provides technical services to promote the use of available technology and to facilitate technological innovation in industry and Government; cooperates with public and private organizations leading to the development of technological standards (including mandatory safety standards), codes and methods of test; and provides technical advice and services to Government agencies upon request. The Institute consists of a Center for Building Technology and the following divisions and offices:

Engineering and Product Standards — Weights and Measures — Invention and Innovation — Product Evaluation Technology — Electronic Technology — Technical Analysis — Measurement Engineering — Structures, Materials, and Life Safety⁴ — Building Environment⁴ — Technical Evaluation and Application⁴ — Fire Technology.

THE INSTITUTE FOR COMPUTER SCIENCES AND TECHNOLOGY conducts research and provides technical services designed to aid Government agencies in improving cost effectiveness in the conduct of their programs through the selection, acquisition, and effective utilization of automatic data processing equipment; and serves as the principal focus within the executive branch for the development of Federal standards for automatic data processing equipment, techniques, and computer languages. The Center consists of the following offices and divisions:

Information Processing Standards — Computer Information — Computer Services — Systems Development — Information Processing Technology.

THE OFFICE FOR INFORMATION PROGRAMS promotes optimum dissemination and accessibility of scientific information generated within NBS and other agencies of the Federal Government; promotes the development of the National Standard Reference Data System and a system of information analysis centers dealing with the broader aspects of the National Measurement System; provides appropriate services to ensure that the NBS staff has optimum accessibility to the scientific information of the world. The Office consists of the following organizational units:

Office of Standard Reference Data — Office of Technical Information and Publications — Library — Office of International Relations.

³ Located at Boulder, Colorado 80302.

FOREWORD

Soon after the establishment of the Law Enforcement Standards Laboratory (LESL) at the National Bureau of Standards, the need arose for a list of law enforcement and criminal justice associations which could serve as sources of information and comment on the law enforcement equipment standards being developed for the National Institute of Law Enforcement and Criminal Justice of the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, U.S. Department of Justice. It was discovered, however, that information on these law enforcement and criminal justice agencies, organizations and research centers was scattered among several sources of varying age and accuracy. Although the collection of these sources into a single reference document was designed primarily to fulfill an internal requirement, it is believed that a unified directory will facilitate communication between these groups.

Thanks are due to Jared J. Collard, Assistant for Special Projects, for supervision of the project; Dawn E. Haller for typing hundreds of letters; Pamela J. Christian for preparing the manuscript; and the NBS Office of Computer Assisted Printing for assisting in the publication.

Appreciation is also extended to Gale Research Company, publisher of the Encyclopedia of Associations, 7th edition, and the Research Centers Directory, 4th edition, for their consent to the use of copyrighted material, which has been identified in the directory by one asterisk (*) or two asterisks () respectively.

Directory of Law Enforcement and Criminal Justice Associations and Research Centers *

Brenda J. Latka

This directory lists national, nonprofit professional and volunteer social action associations and research centers which are active in the fields of law enforcement and criminal justice. The international and foreign organizations which are listed either have a large number of American members, have a U.S. chapter, or are doing work which is applicable to the United States. The local organizations which are listed either cover several States or are of national interest. The organizations are listed alphabetically with a subject index included. The format of an entry is: title of organization; mailing address; officer; telephone number; year founded; number of members; number of staff; description of purpose and activities; affiliations; publications; meetings.

Key words: Associations; criminal justice; law enforcement; research centers.

INTRODUCTION

This is a directory of organizations which are active in one or more areas of the criminal justice system, including law enforcement, courts, corrections and rehabilitation. The directory lists national organizations primarily, but also includes regional organizations and local organizations of special interest as well as international organizations which have a significant number of American members, a U.S. chapter or subcommittee, or are doing work applicable to law enforcement in this country.

The types of national law enforcement and criminal justice organizations listed in this directory are limited by the criterion that they be nonprofit. Included in this category are professional and volunteer social action associations, research centers (usually connected with a university), and government agencies. Strictly social or fraternal organizations are not listed.

The information about each organization in this directory forms a separate entry. Each entry contains the following information: (1) the full title of the organization and its acronym, where applicable; (2) the mailing address; (3) a person to contact within the organization, usually an incumbent officer; (4) the telephone number at which a contact person can be reached; (5) the year when the organization was founded; (6) the number of members; (7) the number of staff, where applicable; (8) a brief description of the purpose and activities of the organization; (9) affiliations, if any; (10) publications, if any; and (11) the date and place of the next meeting or convention, or when they generally occur. There are entries which do not contain any more than the first four of the above data items. In these cases it was not possible to obtain further information before the deadline for publication of the directory.

This directory was developed primarily by scanning the Encyclopedia of Associations, the Research Centers Directory, and other general directories, and extracting from them the data on organizations relating to law enforcement and criminal justice. Whenever personal investigation has revealed organizations which were not included in the primary source material, they were included in this directory.

Once the information was obtained from the general directories it was verified by telephone or by mail. Although in some cases it was not possible to obtain verifications of the descriptions of the organizations, the names, mailing addresses, officers and telephone numbers for all entries are accurate as of July 1972.

The organizations are listed alphabetically. A subject index, which is located at the back of the directory, is cross-referenced and is based solely on information given in the descriptions of activities.

The author sees this work as a first attempt to list all law enforcement and criminal justice associations and research centers in a single directory. Additions or corrections to this first edition should be addressed to Mr. Jared J. Collard, Assistant for Special Projects, Law Enforcement Standards Laboratory, National Bureau of Standards, Washington, D.C. 20234.

*This project was funded by the National Institute of Law Enforcement and Criminal Justice of the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, U.S. Department of Justice, Washington, D.C. 20530. This fact does not imply endorsement of the content by the National Institute.

The Program offers courses in all phases of Criminal Justice leading to a Bachelor's degree. The primary focus of the Criminal Justice Program will be centered on the new criminal justice curriculum in law enforcement and continued research in related fields.

CRIMINAL LAW EDUCATION AND RESEARCH CENTER (CLEAR)

New York University

School of Law
31 West Fourth Street
New York, N.Y. 10012
Assistant to the Director: Carol Maxfield
Phone: (212) 598-2014
Founded: 1958

The Criminal Law Education and Research Center (CLEAR), financed largely by private foundation grants and by a Ford Foundation grant, coordinates the undergraduate and graduate criminal justice programs at New York University School of Law. More than twenty criminal justice courses and seminars are presently included in the curriculum. The program includes extensive criminological research and action components of an interdisciplinary nature. The Comparative Criminal Law Project, an operating division of the Criminal Law Education and Research Center, offers seminars in international, foreign, and comparative criminal law and criminology. It was established in 1958 and has been instrumental in making information about American criminal justice available to governments and research institutions abroad and in informing American governmental and private agencies about the system and developments in criminal justice abroad. Foreign scholars have served on the research and teaching staff of the Comparative Criminal Law Project, enabling it to carry on extensive comparative research in the workings of various aspects of criminal justice. Many of the results have been published in articles and books, twenty-five of which are now in print.

Brandeis University
Waltham, Mass. 02154

Director: Dr. John P. Spiegel
Phone: (617) 894-2605
Founded: 1966

The Lemberg Center for the Study of Violence was established in September 1966, as a multi-discipline research center. Center's objective is to produce new insights which could be used to formulate guidelines for anticipating and reducing violence. Attention is focused on three specific problem areas: (1) The processes and dynamics involved in efforts to produce social change within the American society at large and within specific sub-systems such as cities or educational institutions; (2) Long-range factors and conditions underlying the occurrence of collective violence (civil disorders) in both community and institutional settings and; (3) Short-range social conditions and interactions between contending parties governing the triggering and escalation of civil disorders. Through the combination of theory and practical research the Center is working toward the development of a set of social indicators of impending collective violence which can serve as an "early warning system." The Center also performs service and consultation functions.

Begun by the Legal Aid Agency of the District of Columbia, to help public defenders develop rehabilitation programs for their indigent clients. Purposes are: provide to the attorneys of the Legal Aid Agency reports on their indigent clients; develop rehabilitation plans based on these reports; help secure community-based social and rehabilitative services for the defendant and his family where needed. This may include physical or mental health treatment, educational and employment assistance, counseling, housing, etc. Project begins rehabilitative programming immediately after the defendant is assigned a Legal Aid Agency attorney and will continue as long as possible after disposition of the case. Operational staff includes a psychiatrist, a psychologist, eight social workers, six rehabilitative aides, and three law students.*

OFFICE OF LEGAL SERVICES

Office of Economic Opportunity
1200—19th Street, N.W.

Room L-508
Washington, D.C. 20506

Acting Director: Theodore R. Tetzlaff

Phone: (202) 254-5219
Founded: 1967

Funded by the Office of Economic Opportunity to establish law offices to provide a full range of free legal counsel and representation to low-income citizens in rural and urban areas. To be eligible for services, clients must meet locally-established standards of indigency which are consistent with the terms of the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964, as amended. Eligible clients are given the full benefit of an attorney's services in all civil legal matters except cases from which a private attorney could earn a fee. The Office of Legal Services currently funds 265 local legal services programs which operate out of approximately 800 law offices with nearly 2,400 attorneys. These local law offices and attorneys receive support and back-up assistance from 16 national research and technical assistance centers specializing in substantive areas of the law of particular concern to the indigent client. Local legal services programs handled over 1.2 million legal cases or matters during Fiscal Year 1972. In addition to delivering a comprehensive and effective range of legal services to individuals, local law offices represent eligible poverty groups which have no resources for legal counsel and conduct extensive programs of client and community education in legal rights and responsibilities.

Kansas City, Kans. 66119
Phone: (913) 281-5777
Founded: 1963
Staff: 17
Local clubs: 6

Founded "to help rehabilitate inmates and former inmates of penal or correctional institutions." Members are ex-convicts who successfully completed a pre-release training class run by the Foundation in a penitentiary, or other ex-convicts who complete a similar course in post-release classes. The Foundation also offers counseling by ex-convicts and finds sponsors who help released inmates with employment and financial problems. Work is done through a local club, which conducts the pre-release classes at the institution it serves and post-release classes at club premises, along with other educational and social events; each pre-release class publishes a semimonthly bulletin. The Foundation's Biblical motto: "Know the truth and the truth shall make you free" (John 8:32), aims to help convicts realize they have alienated themselves from society and must change if they are to avoid returning to prison. The Foundation's seven steps of personal development are (1) Facing the truth about ourselves and the world around us, we decided we needed to change; (2) realizing that there is a power from which we can gain strength, we decided to use that power; (3) evaluating ourselves by taking on an honest self-appraisal, we examined both our strengths and our weaknesses; (4) endeavoring to help ourselves overcome our weaknesses, we enlisted the aid of the power; (5) deciding that our freedom is worth more than our resentments, we are using the power to help free us from those resentments; (6) observing that daily progress is necessary, we set an attainable goal towards which we can work each day; (7) maintaining our own freedom, we pledge ourselves to help others as we have been helped. The Foundation developed from Freedom House, a Kansas corporation founded in 1963 by W.P. (Bill) Sands, an ex-convict and author of "My Shadow Ran Fast," now a professional lecturer and counselor. A national expansion program was begun and the name changed to 7th Step Foundation in 1965, with Mr. Sands also a founder of the national organization.*

Not a membership organization. "To further the equal protection of the laws for the indigent by research into neglected aspects of court procedure, law enforcement, and the nature of crime; by sharing research results with jurists, lawyers, correction officials, and the public and by furnishing voluntary financial assistance on a case basis to the indigent accused." Conducted 3-year Manhattan Bail Project as a research-demonstration program designed to develop an alternative for the use of bail in criminal proceedings. Co-sponsored National Conference on Bail and Criminal Justice with U.S. Dept. of Justice. Since 1966 Vera has developed numerous projects designed to increase efficiency in court and police systems; e.g., the Calendar Control Project, which adjourned cases in advance and out of court in an attempt to free judges of some clerical duties; Traffic Court Alert System, which makes it possible for only those police officers actually required in traffic court to appear there, thereby saving about 50% of the police time previously spent in that court. Vera's other concern has been diversion of cases from the criminal justice process at the earliest stage possible—e.g., through the Manhattan Bowery Project, a detoxification center for indigent alcoholics to test non-penal approaches to the skid row problem; the Manhattan Court Employment Project, which offers counseling and finds work for certain criminal defendants and recommends dismissal of charges for those who participate successfully; the Manhattan Summons Project, which substitutes a summons for an arrest in qualified misdemeanor cases; the Bronx Sentencing Project, experimenting with developing community supervision alternatives to sentences of prison or parole; the Supported Work Project, which provides structured jobs and counseling for ex-offenders and addicts through the operation of a messenger service; and the Neighborhood Youth

Diversion Program, which seeks to divert delinquency-prone youths from the family court process into a community-based system. Formerly: (1966) Vera Foundation.*

NBS TECHNICAL PUBLICATIONS

PERIODICALS

JOURNAL OF RESEARCH reports National Bureau of Standards research and development in physics, mathematics, and chemistry. Comprehensive scientific papers give complete details of the work, including laboratory data, experimental procedures, and theoretical and mathematical analyses. Illustrated with photographs, drawings, and charts. Includes listings of other NBS papers as issued.

Published in two sections, available separately:

- Physics and Chemistry (Section A)

Papers of interest primarily to scientists working in these fields. This section covers a broad range of physical and chemical research, with major emphasis on standards of physical measurement, fundamental constants, and properties of matter. Issued six times a year. Annual subscription: Domestic, $17.00; Foreign, $21.25.

- Mathematical Sciences (Section B)

Studies and compilations designed mainly for the mathematician and theoretical physicist. Topics in mathematical statistics, theory of experiment design, numerical analysis, theoretical physics and chemistry, logical design and programming of computers and computer systems. Short numerical tables. Issued quarterly. Annual subscription: Domestic, $9.00; Foreign, $11.25.

TECHNICAL NEWS BULLETIN

The best single source of information concerning the Bureau's measurement, research, developmental, cooperative, and publication activities, this monthly publication is designed for the industry-oriented individual whose daily work involves intimate contact with science and technology—for engineers, chemists, physicists, research managers, product-development managers, and company executives. Includes listing of all NBS papers as issued. Annual subscription: Domestic, $6.50; Foreign, $8.25.

BIBLIOGRAPHIC SUBSCRIPTION SERVICES

The following current-awareness and literature-survey bibliographies are issued periodically by the Bureau:

Cryogenic Data Center Current Awareness Service (Publications and Reports of Interest in Cryogenics). A literature survey issued weekly. Annual subscription: Domestic, $20.00; foreign, $25.00.

Liquefied Natural Gas. A literature survey issued quarterly. Annual subscription: $20.00.

Superconducting Devices and Materials. A literature survey issued quarterly. Annual subscription: $20.00. Send subscription orders and remittances for the preceding bibliographic services to the U.S. Department of Commerce, National Technical Information Service, Springfield, Va. 22151.

Electromagnetic Metrology Current Awareness Service (Abstracts of Selected Articles on Measurement Techniques and Standards of Electromagnetic Quantities from D-C to Millimeter-Wave Frequencies). Issued monthly. Annual subscription: $100.00 (Special rates for multi-subscriptions). Send subscription order and remittance to the Electromagnetic Metrology Information Center, Electromagnetics Division, National Bureau of Standards, Boulder, Colo. 80302.

Order NBS publications (except Bibliographic Subscription Services) from: Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C. 20402.

NONPERIODICALS

Applied Mathematics Series. Mathematical tables, manuals, and studies.

Building Science Series. Research results, test methods, and performance criteria of building materials, components, systems, and structures.

Handbooks. Recommended codes of engineering and industrial practice (including safety codes) developed in cooperation with interested industries, professional organizations, and regulatory bodies.

Special Publications. Proceedings of NBS conferences, bibliographies, annual reports, wall charts, pamphlets, etc.

Monographs. Major contributions to the technical literature on various subjects related to the Bureau's scientific and technical activities.

National Standard Reference Data Series. NSRDS provides quantitative data on the physical and chemical properties of materials, compiled from the world's literature and critically evaluated.

Product Standards. Provide requirements for sizes, types, quality, and methods for testing various industrial products. These standards are developed cooperatively with interested Government and industry groups and provide the basis for common understanding of product characteristics for both buyers and sellers. Their use is voluntary.

Technical Notes. This series consists of communications and reports (covering both other-agency and NBS-sponsored work) of limited or transitory interest.

Federal Information Processing Standards Publications. This series is the official publication within the Federal Government for information on standards adopted and promulgated under the Public Law 89-306, and Bureau of the Budget Circular A-86 entitled, Standardization of Data Elements and Codes in Data Systems.

Consumer Information Series. Practical information, based on NBS research and experience, covering areas of interest to the consumer. Easily understandable language and illustrations provide useful background knowledge for shopping in today's technological marketplace.
