FOREWORD

I am pleased to present a compilation of statistical information covering the activities of the Victoria Police Force over 1986/87. This year the traditional "Statistical Review of Crime" has been expanded to provide a wider array of information including statistics on Traffic, Children's Court Prosecutions, personnel deployment and complaints made against police members.

In previous years the Force's Annual Report has also incorporated a range of statistical information. This year, it has been decided to produce a single document containing a comprehensive set of statistics which will present the Force as a corporate organization.

It is expected that this foundation document will set a pattern that will be improved on in future years.

(S.I. Miller)
CHIEF COMMISSIONER

INTRODUCTION

The Statistical Review of Crime gives details of offences reported to the Victoria Police during the financial year, and of the people proceeded against for those offences. In interpreting information in the Review, the reader should bear in mind that it is based on official police reports, and thus covers only offences and offenders known to the police. Many offences are not reported to the police, and this unreported crime may not have the same characteristics as reported crime; similarly, criminals who are apprehended may not be typical of offenders in general. A survey conducted in 1983 by the Australian Bureau of Statistics ("Crime Victims Survey, Australia 1983, Preliminary", A.B.S. Canberra 1985) found reporting rates of 26% for sexual assault, 34% for assault; 38% for theft; 43% for robbery; 69% for burglary and 96% for motor vehicle theft. Reporting rates for Victorian victims (available for fewer offence types because of sampling constraints) were slightly higher than the Australian averages quoted above: 40% for assault; 44% for theft and 73% for burglary. These rates refer to personal and household crimes only, and are based on an Australia-wide sample survey, so they are not necessarily applicable directly to the crimes reported in the Statistical Review. However, they give some indication of the need for care in using statistics of reported crime. In addition, when these statistics are compared with other published figures, the definitions and explanations in this Introduction should be studied carefully.

INFORMATION IN THE STATISTICAL REVIEW

The basic information presented in the Statistical Review is a detailed set of statistics of reported offences, covering pages 50 to 65 in this edition. In this section, the left hand pages show the number of offences reported and cleared for the current year and the preceding year, the increase or decrease for the year, and the number cleared as "no offence". The right hand pages show the number of offenders classified by sex, age, previous record and birth place.

Many of the other sections of the Statistical Review are based on these detailed statistics; they are included to illustrate and focus attention on specific topics, such as clearance rates and characteristics of offenders, rather than to add new information. However, three sections draw on other data, and require some explanation:-

- (i) A set of graphs is included to show the changes in the rates of selected offences reported to police over the years since 1960. These graphs are based on Statistical Review crime figures where they are available (1960 - 1965 and 1968 onwards), and on Annual Report figures for other years. The detailed crime statistics for the earlier years have been grouped into categories reflecting, as far as possible, the present Statistical Review classifications. However, many changes have been made in counting methods, classification rules and internal recording procedures over the period covered by the graphs, and it should not be assumed that the rates for earlier years are precisely comparable with those of recent times.

- (ii) A table has been compiled showing the estimated rates of Major Crime Index and selected other offences in each Police District. This table is based largely on the monthly returns submitted by Criminal Investigations Branch Divisions of the crime reports filed in each Division; information from Statistics Section and Computer Systems Division files has also been used. As this internal data is not directly based on the reports received at the Statistics Section, it has been used only to establish the relative offence rates in the different Districts. The overall offence rates are based on the Statistical Review totals. Maps of the Metropolitan and Country Police Districts are included.
- (iii) A section is included on the value of property stolen or damaged in offences of several types. Although the available resources of the Statistics Section do not permit this information to be extracted routinely from all crime reports, samples have been taken of reports for the more common offences, and these have been used to obtain most of the distributions and estimates in this section. The charts and estimates for motor vehicle theft and for arson are based on records held by the Stolen Motor Vehicle Squad and the Arson Squad.

MAJOR CRIME INDEX

Eight groups of offences recorded in the Review have been selected for inclusion in a Major Crime Index. They are:-

1. Homicide - murder, attempted murder and manslaughter (excluding manslaughter arising out of a traffic accident).
2. Serious Assaults - all wounding except attempted murder and all assaults in which injuries amounting to "actual bodily harm", at the least, are inflicted.
3. Robbery - offences, committed or attempted, in which force or threat of force is used against a person with the intention of stealing.
4. Rape - rape and attempted rape.
5. Burglary - offences, committed or attempted, where premises are entered unlawfully with the intention of stealing therein.
6. Theft - offences, committed or attempted, against persons or property with intent to steal but without force or threat of force being used. Does NOT include motor vehicles or offences involving deception. It does include warnings issued under the Shop Stealing Warning Program.

7. Motor Vehicle Theft - stealing or attempting to steal a motor vehicle.
8. Fraud, etc. - offences, committed or attempted, involving uttering and counterfeiting.

COUNTING OF OFFENCES

The figures given in the Review are based on offences disclosed or which appear to be disclosed, by the initial investigation into an offence reported or discovered and for which crime reports are circulated. They also include people warned under the Shopstealing Warning Program for offences of theft. This procedure was implemented on a Statewide basis on the 1st July, 1985. The details and results of court proceedings are not considered (they are often not available when the Review is compiled) and so no allowance can be made for alterations for legal reasons in the charges on which an alleged offender is presented, or for acquittals or dismissals.

Lesser offences directly related to a major offence, and representing supplementary charges arising out of the same incident, are not recorded. For instance, if, as a result of a single attack on one person, a man is charged with three offences - assault occasioning actual bodily harm, assault by kicking and common assault, then only the first offence will be recorded. However, if the three assaults are committed at different places or times, or on different people, all three offences will be recorded.

OFFENCES CLEARED

An offence is regarded as "cleared" if as a result of investigation:-

- (a) It is found that no offence was committed; or
- (b) A person is charged with committing the offence or officially warned by a Police Officer in lieu of being placed before the Court; or
- (c) It is found that a person charged with other offences was responsible for committing it; or
- (d) The offender is discovered but for legal reasons (e.g. child under the age of 8) is not charged.

If an offence is reported in one year and cleared in a later year, the offence and the clearance will be counted in different editions of the Review. Thus, it occasionally happens that the number of offences of a particular category cleared in a given year exceeds the number reported in that year.

PROCEEDED AGAINST

The people "proceeded against" for a particular offence are those against whom proceedings are taken initially for that offence, whatever offences are eventually attributed to them. For example, suppose that a man is arrested for burglary and after breaking into a house and stealing property and a search causes further charges of being unlawfully in possession of a pistol and being in possession of explosives to be laid. When questioned the man admits to having broken into eight shops and three other houses and having stolen things from them, and a check shows that these admissions are correct. The Review would then show a total of 14 offences reported, 14 offences cleared and one person proceeded against for the offence of burglary with which he was first charged.

Since children under eight are legally presumed to be incapable of committing an offence, they do not appear in the statistics of people proceeded against, even if reported offences are found to be committed by them. Accordingly, in the "Analysis by Age" and "Analysis by Sex" charts, we have compared the age and sex distributions of groups of people proceeded against with the corresponding distributions for the population aged eight and over, rather than the population as a whole. The population figures used elsewhere in the Review cover people of all ages.

PREVIOUSLY KNOWN

People proceeded against are classified as "Previously Known" if they are already recorded as offenders at the Information Bureau. The abbreviation "P.K." is used in the Review for "Previously Known".

FOREIGN MIGRANTS

"Foreign Migrants" (often abbreviated in the Review to "F.M.") are migrants from countries other than Canada, Ireland, New Zealand and the United Kingdom.

POPULATION FIGURES

The population figures used in calculating crime rates are Australian Bureau of Statistics estimates for 30th of June in each year; prior to 1971 they are census totals and intercensal estimates, while from 1971 onwards they are from the Estimated Resident Population series. For the financial year beginning 1984, the population estimates were based on the 31st December of the applicable year.

LEGISLATIVE CHANGES

During the period under review, a number of legislative changes were introduced.

In March, 1986, the Crimes (amendment) Act 1985, No. 10233 came into operation. Sections 11-43 of the Crimes Act 1958, were repealed and replaced by Sections 15-31 which deal with assaults and associated offences against the person.

The legislative changes have been incorporated into the classifications recorded on assaults at page 50.

The New Offences against the person have been incorporated under the heading "Other Offences: Against the Person" recorded at page 58.

RELATED PUBLICATIONS

A comprehensive bulletin on "Court Proceedings Initiated by Police" has been published by the Victorian Office of the Australian Bureau of Statistics, while separate statistics on proceedings in the higher courts (the County and Supreme Courts) are published annually by the Law Department.

Details of Victoria's welfare and correctional services is contained in the Annual Reports of the Department of Community Welfare Services; the Office of Corrections and the Adult and Youth Parole Boards.

The Victorian Yearbook, published annually by the Victorian Office of the Australian Bureau of Statistics, includes a section on justice and the administration of law which summarizes information from these and other sources.

VALUE OF PROPERTY STOLEN AND DAMAGED

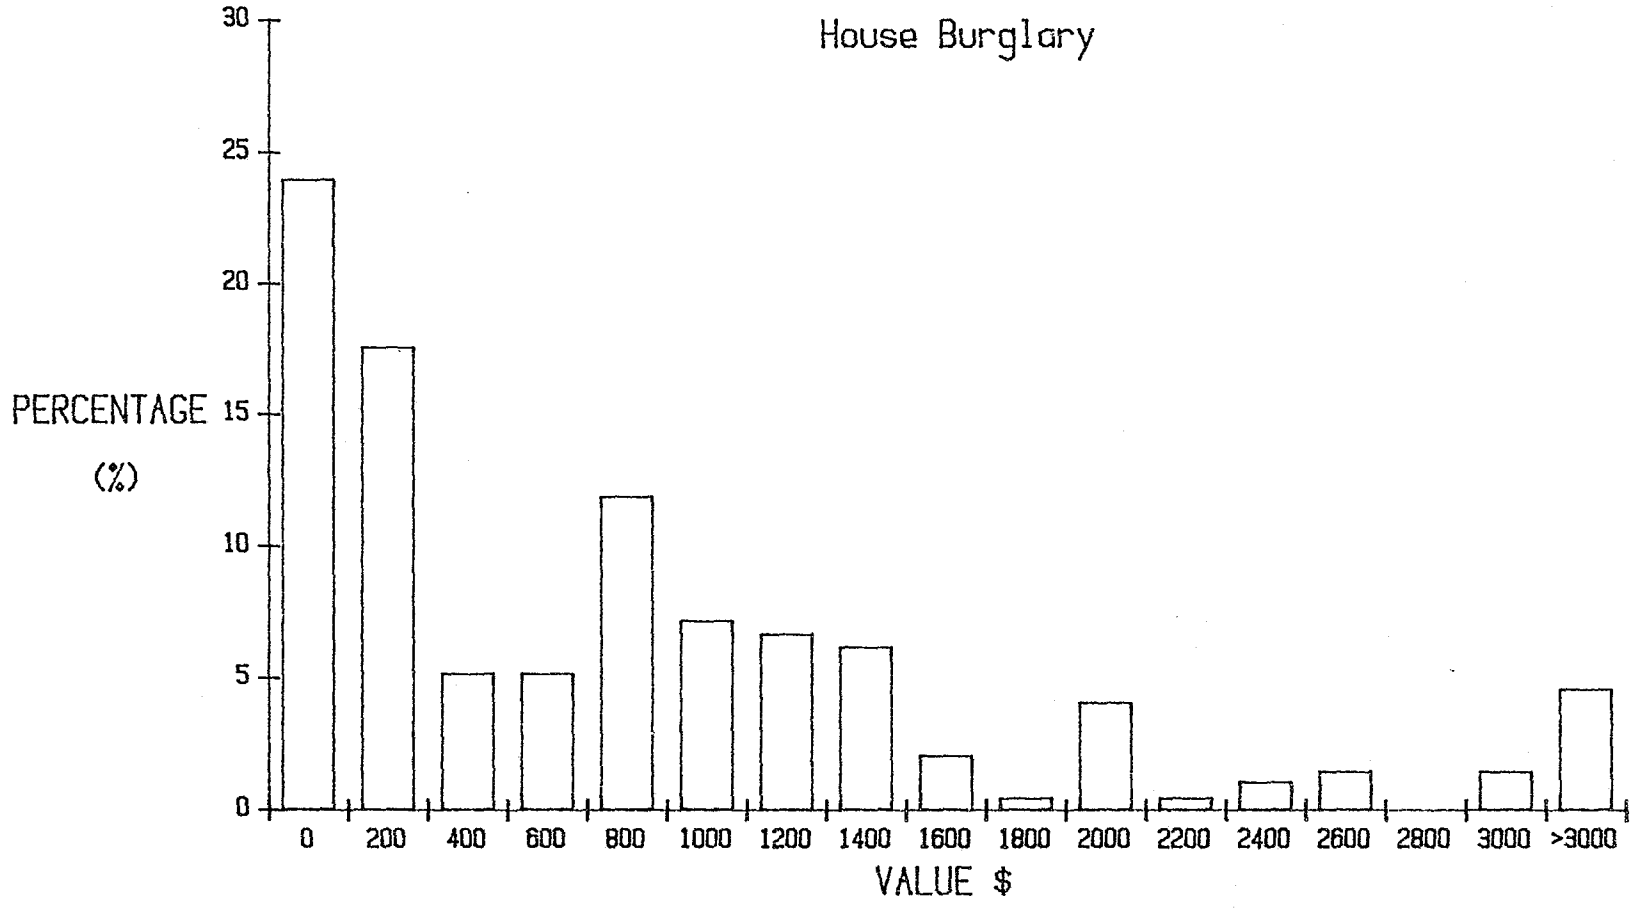

As explained in the introduction, samples of crime reports received at the statistics section have been used to estimate the distribution of the value of property stolen and damaged in some of the more common offences

The total number of occurrences of each offence type was obtained on a monthly basis. Because of the large number of crimes, a sample was taken for each offence type, in order to arrive at the estimates. For each offence, the approximate median and average values are given, together with an estimate of the total for the State, based on the number of offences recorded in the Statistical Review.

The values shown on crime reports are usually based only on an initial assessment of the property stolen or damaged, and later corrections to the values may not be reported. In addition, estimates based on samples may be affected by sampling errors, particularly in the higher value ranges where small number of cases can have a disproportionate effect on the total and average values.

Burglary	- Houses: Median $800; Average $1106.74 State total about $52.3 million.
	- Other: Median $360; Average $1409.41 State total about $54.8 million.
Theft	- Bicycles. Median $200; Average $222.23 State total about $2.7 million.
	- From Motor Vehicles: Median $172.5; Average $456.4. State total about $18.9 million.
	- Shoplifting: Median $70.3; Average - $251.01. State total about $4.9 million (Does not include warnings under the shopstealing warning program).
	- Other; Median $245; Average $987.13 State total about $41.3 million.
Motor Vehicle Theft	- Median $2,350; Average $5388.19 State total about $167.7 million.
Fraud	- Median $200; Average $1361.36 State total about $65.3 million.
Arson	- Median $900; Average $6325. State total about $12.5 million.
Wilful Damage	- Median $150; Average $231.31 State total about $6.4 million.

DEFINITIONS

- METRO: Area which is within 36 km radius from the business centre of Melbourne.
- COUNTRY: Any other area within Victoria except Metro.
- T.O.G. (DIVISION): Jurisdiction Area of Metropolitan Traffic Operation Groups.
- T.O.G. (REGION): Jurisdiction Area of Country Traffic Operation Groups.
- ROAD TOLL: Where a person dies within 30 days of being injured in a motor vehicle collision on a highway, such death is directly attributed to injuries sustained in the collision.
- COLLISION: An event where a vehicle comes into impact with another vehicle or a fixed or moving object.

PERSONS KILLED IN ROAD TRAFFIC COLLISIONS

The gradual decline in the number of persons killed in road traffic collisions in Victoria during 17 years, period 1970 to 1986 is more apparent when examined in terms of movements in the size of the population and the number of motor vehicles registered (Diagram 1 & 2)

There was a further reduction in the road toll in this fiscal (1986/1987) year with 637 deaths reported compared to 697 deaths for 1985/1986 a decrease of 60 (8.6%) and compared to 676 deaths for 1984/1985, a decrease of 39 (5.8%). It is the lowest road toll since 1958 when 553 persons died on Victorian roads (Table 1).

Type & sex/age of road users killed

Of the 637 persons killed in 1986/1987, 43.0 per-cent (274) were drivers (8.8% Female, 34.2% Male) compared to 39.2 per-cent in 1985/1986. Passengers were the second largest type of road user killed (24.6 per cent) followed by pedestrian (18.4 percent), which is the reverse of the 1985/1986 order. Table 2 and Diagram 3 shows the types of road user killed in Victoria during 1986/1987.

WHERE & WHEN FATALITIES OCCURRED

Of the total 637 road deaths, 120 (18.8%) occurred on Saturday, compared with an average for each day of the week of 91, the second highest number of fatal accidents occurred on Friday (112) and the lowest number of 64 occurred on Tuesday (see table 1).

For every day of the week, the period 4 pm to 6 pm showed the highest incidence of accidents. Of the total 637 road deaths 353 (55.4%) occurred in the metropolitan Traffic Operation Groups (Divisions) area and 284 (44.6%) in the country Traffic Operation Groups(Regions). (Table 3 & Diagrams 4,5)

COLLISION STATISTICS

There has been a further reduction in the road toll this year with 637 deaths reported, compared to 697 deaths for 1985/1986, a decrease of 60 (8.6%). It is the lowest road toll for 29 years when 553 persons died on Victorian roads in 1958.

Of the 637 persons killed, 43.0% (274) were drivers (8.6% Female 34.4% Male) compared to 39.2% in 1985/1986. Passengers were the second largest type of road user killed (24.6%), followed by Pedestrians (18.4%), which is the reverse of the 1985/1986 order. Table 5 shows the type of road user killed in Victoria during 1986/1987.

Road Traffic Offences

During the last financial year (1986/1987) the Victoria Police members detected 532860 traffic offences throughout the state of Victoria. There is an increase of 84448(16.8%) compared to the 1985/1986 figure (448412), and compared to 1984/1985 figure there is an increase of 5.6%. It is the highest number of booking that has ever been recorded.

The data was provided by the members of Traffic Operation Groups and Police Districts (A to Z) and compiled by the Statistics Section of the Traffic Department.

The total number of offences detected by the members of Traffic Operation Groups is 350140 including 2417 Non - traffic offences. This is 65.7% of the total number of offences and the rest (182720) or 34.3% detected by operational members attached to the various Police Districts (A-Z).

The total number of offences detected throughout the Melbourne metropolitan area was 364382, which is 68.4% of the total number of booking detected throughout Victoria.

In 1986/1987 there was a significant change in the "Drive Under Influence of Drug" offences detected with an increase of 124.7% , However there was a decrease of 2.4% in "Exceed 0.05% Blood Alcohol" offences which is a significant result when taken into account with the fact that 428,000 persons were subjected to breath tests in Victoria last year. The previous highest number of persons tested was 235,000 in 1985/1986. The following table shows the number of booking detected by each individual group with respect percentage.
