General Information

In March 1986, the National Institute of Corrections (NIC) began a national Correctional Training Network through its Academy and Information Center in Boulder, Colorado. The Network was developed to facilitate the sharing of correctional staff training materials among federal, state, and local agencies. Based at the NIC Information Center, the Network is currently acquiring the following types of training materials developed by correctional agencies throughout the country:

- Instruction guides and lesson plans;
- Student manuals;
- Accompanying materials such as discussion guides or tests; and
- Audiovisual materials used in staff training programs.

Training materials contributed by state and local agencies are reviewed by a panel of National Academy of Corrections trainers. This catalog reflects the panel's selections through September 1988.

In addition to the training materials described in this catalog, the NIC Information Center collection includes other training-related information such as needs assessments, job/task analyses, and publications addressing such issues as legal problems relevant to training.

How to Use the Catalog

The catalog consists of a computer-generated listing of Network holdings and is designed for a loose-leaf notebook, to facilitate adding lists of new holdings on a quarterly basis. These quarterly updates will be disseminated to all catalog recipients; annually, a new edition of the catalog will be widely disseminated to practitioners involved in correctional staff training.

All items are listed alphabetically by title. They are then cross-referenced in the subject index provided at the end of the catalog.

Within the title section, the following information is presented for each citation:

Six-digit accession number	CTN location
Title
Source or producing agency
SP: Sponsoring agency
PY: Publication year
CN: Contract or grant number
Brief description of the contents of the title, including types and known running times of any audiovisuals, expected target audience to be trained, and total length of training.
DE: Major topics covered.

How to Borrow Items Listed in This Catalog

Items listed in the catalog are primarily available on a 30-day loan basis. To order materials, call (303) 939-8877 or write on agency letterhead to:

Correctional Training Network
NIC Information Center
1790 30th Street, Suite 130
Boulder, CO 80301.

Whether writing or calling, please reference the title and the six-digit accession number appearing in the upper left hand corner of the citation for the item you are requesting. You are also welcome to request other information or discuss specific training issues when you call.

To ensure that materials are available to all who need them, we ask that you limit the number of items requested each time to two. Please note that some titles are made up of many topical volumes, from which you should select your choices.

Priority in lending materials in the Network collection will be given to requests made by or on behalf of public agencies.

Duplicating the Materials

For purposes of non-commercial (classroom) use, you are permitted to duplicate materials developed by NIC or through NIC sponsorship.

Most other materials listed were produced by state or local corrections agencies and are not covered by copyright. However, you are responsible for adhering to copyright laws for any materials protected by copyright. No materials covered by copyright may be duplicated or otherwise reproduced without the express written permission of the copyright holder.

Contributing Materials

Your agency can help to develop the Network collection. Please provide two copies of training materials developed by, or under the sponsorship of, your organization. Materials on all topics are welcome.

Contributed training materials will be reviewed by a panel comprised of staff of the National Academy of Corrections and outside readers. Your contributions can potentially strengthen the Correctional Training Network collection.
