INTRODUCTION

This report is a statistical summary of sex offense cases submitted to the Connecticut State Police Sex Crimes Analysis Unit during the 1988 calendar year.

A total of 455 cases were reported to the Unit, primarily from state and local police departments, rape crisis centers, and private treatment agencies. The cases are processed, placed in a computer file and used as data for this report and as intelligence information for police investigators involved in active sex crimes investigations.

Of the 842 reported forcible and attempted forcible rapes reported to police in 1988, 160 incidents or 19.0% of those reported were submitted to the Sex Crimes Unit for statistical and investigatory purposes.

Current practices for making an estimate of the number of forcible rapes in Connecticut yields somewhere between 8000-8500 such incidents occurring during 1988. It should be clear that analysis of 160 reported incidents cannot furnish accurate data which would provide a comprehensive picture of what is occurring regarding this crime in Connecticut. The purpose of this data is to infer trends regarding what is known of these incidents.

To restate our reporting practices, only data of a summary nature is released to reporters. Names of offenders are referred to police investigators only when those offenders have been convicted of a criminal offense in Connecticut. Names of victims, witnesses or juveniles are not released to anyone. If a case pertains to an active investigation, the requesting party is referred to the submitting police department. Case reports from rape crisis centers and other non-police agencies are used for statistical purposes only.

Copies of this report are furnished free to anyone who requests it. Please direct requests to the Connecticut State Police Sex Crimes Analysis Unit, 294 Colony Street, Meriden, CT. 06450, or by telephone to (203) 238-6575.

Connecticut Sexual Assault Crisis Services, Inc.

Fact Sheet

The Connecticut Sexual Assault Crisis Services, Inc. (CONNSACS) is a statewide coalition of individual sexual assault crisis programs which works to end sexual violence through victim assistance, community education, and legislative action.

The membership is comprised of the thirteen sexual assault crisis services located throughout the state. Each of these community-based centers provides free, confidential direct services, for past and present victims of sexual assault and their families. All sexual assault crisis services provide:

- * 24 hour hot-line services with immediate access to trained, certified counselors.
- * Crisis intervention and short-term counseling for the victim and family members.
- * Accompaniment and advocacy through the medical and police systems.
- * Preparation, advocacy and accompaniment throughout the court process.
- * Information and referral for other needs and additional counseling.
- * Support groups for rape and incest victims and also for secondary victims.
- * Bilingual staff where appropriate.
- * Male counselors to work with male victims and secondary victims.
- * Emergency transportation.
- * Professional inservices community education and child sexual abuse prevention trainings.

During our last fiscal period (7/01/87 - 6/30/88), CONNSACS:

- * Provided 26,000 units of services to over 3,300 sexual assault victims and their families.
- * Responded to 13,000 requests for information and referral.
- * Conducted 1,900 community education and professional inservices to over 45,000 individuals - including police and hospital personnel.
- * Provided child sexual abuse prevention training to almost 800 school personnel.
