In cases where the department is completing a presentence report with a recommendation for incarceration, the intake officer should make a brief evaluation of the defendant's suitability for the program. If the defendant appears to be an appropriate candidate for the program, the intake officer should refer the case to the Home Detention Officer to determine the defendant's eligibility and suitability.

INVESTIGATION AND SCREENING: (continued)

If an intake officer refers a defendant to the Home Detention Officer for screening, the investigating officer should stay advised of the referral. Upon completion of the screening process, the Home Detention Officer will inform the intake officer of the defendant's eligibility. The applicant's eligibility and suitability should be reported in the "Sentencing Considerations" section of the court report.

All applicants will be evaluated in the most expedient time and manner in accordance to the department's current workload.

ELIGIBILITY AND SUITABILITY:

The Home Detention Officer will interview and evaluate the applicant based upon the subsequent criteria. This evaluation process will be completed after the entire application is completed by the candidate. In addition to the following criteria, the applicant will be assessed on the basis of responsibility, ability to follow rules and directions, and sincerity toward fulfilling the purposes of the program. Although departmental guidelines are established to assist in determining an applicant's eligibility and suitability for the program, no single guideline will necessarily exclude him/her from consideration. Each case will be decided on its merits with emphasis based on the applicant's risk to the community and need for the program.

The Home Detention Officer will utilize the following general guidelines in the determination of a candidate's eligibility for the program. An applicant:

- 1. Must not be evaluated as a high risk offender.
- 2. Must be free of misconduct in Jail which would be indicative of behavior that is incompatible with the program.
- 3. Must be free of both "holds" from other jurisdictions and outstanding "warrants of arrest."
- 4. Must have a minimum of ten days confinement after time of entry.
- 5. Must desire and volunteer to participate in the program and be willing to comply with the terms and conditions.
- 6. Must be mentally and physically capable of caring for himself/herself or the ability to have another individual provide needed care.

- 7. Must not be transient.
- 8. Must have a verifiable local residence.
- 9. Must have appropriate electrical and telephone equipment in the residence.
- 10. Must be on an order of supervised probation from the Superior or Justice Courts.

Additionally, the Home Detention Officer must determine whether the program is appropriate for the subject in accordance with the candidates present family, health, employment, and financial status. When evaluating a subject's present "life situation," there may be cases in which the Home Detention program is not in the best interest of the candidate, the family, and the court. The evaluation of the candidate's "life situation" might indicate that he/she could not successfully complete the program and that regular incarceration or another alternative program might be more appropriate and conducive to success.

The determination of a subject's eligibility for the Home Detention Program should follow the department's general guidelines as previously outlined. The predominant factors that the probation officer must consider in the process of determining a subject's eligibility for the program is the candidates degree of risk to the community, to self, or to the family.

Potential candidates that come within the definition of "High Risk" offenders will be carefully screened and in most cases will be found ineligible for the program. For the purposes of determining eligibility, the Home Detention Officer will utilize the following positive and negative factors for evaluation:

Positive Factors:

- 1. Employment and current job for over six months.
- 2. Job has close supervision.
- 3. Has two or more dependents.
- Is a first offender or will be serving first incarceration.
- 5. Must pay restitution or fine.
- 6. Has made efforts to improve self since commission of crime

ELIGIBILITY AND SUITABILITY: (continued)

- 7. Prior successful work/education furlough.
- 8. Prior successful probationer or parolee.

Negative Factors:

- 1. Pending charges.
- 2. Holds placed by other jurisdictions.
- 3. Violence resulting in injury in current offense.
- 4. Extensive criminal history.
- 5. Current offense involves escape, assault upon an officer, use of any weapon, sex offenses, drug sales or trafficking.
- 6. History of mental problems, suicidal, or violent behavior.
- Poor prior work/education or work/furlough performance.
- 8. Poor custody record.
- 9. Poor performance on probation or parole.
- 10. Pattern of failures to appear for court and failures to pay fine.
- 11. Job provides opportunity to commit crime.
- 12. Failure to comply with required training, counseling, or education as directed by a court or probation officer.
- 13. Limited or no supervision on the job by employer.
- 14. Poor/unstable employment history.
- 15. Provides false information to staff.
- 16. Fails to address responsibility for involvement in current offense.
- 17. Current incarceration is for violation of probation.

In the process of screening applicants for eligibility for the program, there may be certain "High Risk" offenders that appear to be an exception due to certain circumstances. In such cases, the Home Detention Officer after completion of the interview, will evaluate the case with his/her supervisor to determine eligibility and suitability.

RIGHT TO APPEAL:

If a candidate's application for the program is rejected, the Home Detention Officer will inform the candidate of the reasons for the rejection and of the right to appeal the decision. Within the time frame of five (5) working days, the applicant may appeal in writing directly to the Chief Probation Officer. The Chief Probation Officer shall review all materials available, including the applicant's basis for appeal. The applicant shall have the right to personally appear before the Chief Probation Officer to present any material in support of the appeal. A decision will be rendered in writing within five (5) working days from receipt of the written appeal by the Chief Probation Officer. The decision will be mailed to the applicant's last known address. The decision of the Chief Probation Officer is final and not subject to further administrative review.

Participants removed from the program due to disciplinary reasons have the right to utilize the above described appeal process.

PAYMENT OF PROGRAM FEES:

Upon acceptance in the Home Detention Program, the participant will deliver a money order to the Home Detention Officer for payment of at least the first week of the program. The Home Detention Officer will issue a receipt, credit the payment on the control system, and deposit the payment with the county in a timely manner.

Upon the participant's initial payment, the Home Detention Officer will advise the inmate when the next payment is due and that he/she is to be prepared to make that payment.

All program fees at the standard rate or at a reduced rate must be paid one week in advance and are due each Friday. A participant may make payment for more than one week in advance if it is beneficial to his/her financial situation.

Participants in the Home Detention Program will pay program fees in accordance to their financial ability. If an applicant states that he/she cannot afford to pay the full administrative fee, the Home Detention Officer will complete a financial investigation and determine the level of payment.

ACCEPTANCE INTO THE PROGRAM:

Upon acceptance into the program the Home Detention Officer will complete a thorough orientation with the inmate regarding the expectations of the program. The officer will again review the "Home Detention Terms and Conditions" to ensure that the participant understands and has a thorough knowledge of the rules and regulations. The Probation Officer will inform and discuss with the program participant the conduct and attitude that will be expected.

If the participant is employed, the Home Detention Officer will make contact with his/her employer to ensure that the employer has a thorough knowledge of the rules and regulations of the program. Additionally, if the candidate is participating in counseling, community service, or interacting with any other community agency, the probation officer will inform the agency of the participant's responsibilities if it appears necessary.

Upon completion of all necessary processes and paperwork, the probation officer will accompany the participant to the Detention Center for booking or make the necessary arrangements with the personnel of the Detention Center. In cases where an inmate has been serving his/her commitment in the Jail or Detention Center and has been found acceptable for the program, the Home Detention Officer will notify in advance the Jail or Detention Center personnel of the inmate's acceptance in the program. The Home Detention Officer will utilize the "Conversion of Time" form for notification of release and attach any other pertinent information. At the designated time of release, the Home Detention Officer will personally take custody of the inmate and escort him/her to the Probation Department to install the ankle transmitter.

CONTROL AND SUPERVISION:

The Home Detention Officer will provide a level of control and supervision which will ensure the safety of the community and the participant.

The level of supervision will be classified as High Control/High Service which will include but not be limited to the following supervision procedures:

- 1. Strict enforcement of all court orders and program condition.
- 2. Frequent personal (in the residence), telephone and collateral contacts. Surveillance when necessary.
- Frequent drug and/or alcohol testing.
- 4. Random search and seizure.
- 5. Enforcement of counseling and medical conditions.

CONTROL AND SUPERVISION: (Continued)

A case plan will be established for each program participant by the Probation Officer and approved by the Supervising Probation Officer. The case plan will be based on the orders of the court and the risk/needs assessment of the case. The case plan will establish the nature and frequency of controls, search and seizure, and testing by the Probation Officer as well as case objectives. Contacts by the Probation Officer shall be made at the times of the day and night and days of the week that are appropriate to the case. The nature and frequency of the supervision contacts and procedures shall be reasonable and flexible. Individual case plans will be consistently reviewed and modified when appropriate. The Probation Officer will inform the sentencing court of any pertinent information regarding the supervision of program participants and seek modification of court orders when appropriate.

All contacts with program participants and pertinent information are to be documented legibly in the individual's case folder or officer's field book in a timely manner.

When a participant completes his/her period of Home Detention, the Probation Officer will complete a "Termination Report" immediately and prepare the case to be transferred or closed.

If the participant is to continue under probation supervision with this department, the Home Detention Officer will complete all necessary paperwork, review the case with his/her supervisor, and start the case folder through the normal case transfer process. If the participant will not continue under probation supervision with this department, the Home Detention Officer will complete all necessary paperwork, review the case with his/her supervisor, and close out the case. All closed cases that are not continued under probation supervision will be retained for five years.

EOUIPMENT APPLICATION:

When a participant has been accepted into the program, it will be the responsibility of the Home Detention Officer or Work Furlough Officer to attach the transmitter to the ankle of the inmate. Additionally, it will be the responsibility of the designated Probation Officer to accompany the inmate to his/her residence and install the field monitoring device. After installation, the Probation Officer will test the equipment to ensure that it is in proper working order. All necessary information regarding the inmate and his/her permanent schedule must be given to the central computer at the time of installation of the monitoring equipment.

SECURITY:

Inmates in the program will be confined to their residence at all times except for activities approved in advance by the Home Detention Officer. Approved activities include employment, medical appointments, counseling, and limited shopping. The Home Detention Officer may approve other activities that appear necessary or appropriate on an individual basis. At the time of approval, the Probation Officer must notify the central computer of the date and time of the authorized leave. Inmates must provide proof of attendance of any approved activity when requested by the Probation Officer. It will be the responsibility of the Home Detention Officer to keep the central computer advised of all inmates permanent schedules and daily changes. The Home Detention Officer will evaluate all notifications and reports from the central computer and keep the Supervising Probation Officer of the unit advised of the adjustment of all inmates on the program. Inmates on the program will be supervised in accordance with the guidelines in the section entitled "Control and Supervision." In any case in which an inmate is placed on Home Detention without an electronic monitor, the Home Detention Officer will monitor the participant with a level of supervision commensurate to the classification and needs of the case. Contact with the inmate will be both in person and by telephone.

The security needs of all inmates on the program will be constantly reviewed by the Home Detention Officer and the Supervising Probation Officer of the unit and documented in the case plan.

VIOLATIONS AND RETURN TO CUSTODY:

A program participant shall be immediately arrested and returned to Jail for any violation of the law, probation conditions, or terms and conditions of the program which could endanger the public safety or enhance the possibility of the defendant failing to appear for scheduled court hearings.

Technical violations (i.e., curfew violations, unanswered telephone calls, equipment tampering, or other non-compliance) of the program conditions will be investigated and evaluated by the Home Detention Officer. The consequences of technical violations can range from an increased level of security to immediate removal from the program. A series of minor violations will result in the arrest and return of the inmate to custody.

The Home Detention Officer will evaluate all violations or situations to determine if immediate response is necessary. If it is decided that immediate response is appropriate, the officer will further determine if the situation might necessitate or lead to the arrest and return to custody of the participant. If the violation or situation has the potential for an arrest, the Home Detention Officer should utilize "back up" personnel and decide whether it is appropriate to use program staff or law enforcement. If a program participant is arrested, he/she is to be handcuffed appropriately. The responding officer should take an installation kit and appropriate equipment in case the problem is determined to be equipment related or for the removal of equipment at the time of the arrest.

If an inmate is returned to Jail custody, the arresting officer will immediately notify the central computer, complete a special incident report, and evaluate the incident or violation with the unit supervisor to consider if further action should be taken.

In the case of an inmate escape from the Home Detention Program, the Probation Officer must:

- 1. Notify the central computer.
- 2. Notify the Jail and unit supervisor.
- 3. Notify all law enforcement agencies to arrest the defendant for violation of probation.
- 4. Complete a Special Incident Report.
- File an Affidavit of Violation of Probation with the sentencing court and obtain a warrant for arrest.
- 6. Take inventory of all electronic equipment and check for damage. Return the equipment to the department.
- 7. Advise the inmate's family or residents of the household of the seriousness of the situation.

Whenever possible, the Home Detention Officer will meet in advance with the Supervising Probation Officer of the unit regarding any violation or potential inmate arrest to determine an appropriate course of action. In the absence of the unit supervisor, serious violations and situations of concern should be discussed with the Chief Probation Officer prior to taking action.

Any home detention inmate that is disciplined or returned to Jail custody as a result of a program violation may file an appeal and request a hearing on the issues involved in the violation. The appeal will follow the process outlined in the "Right to Appeal" section of the manual. If a program participant is involved in a serious violation and returned to

Jail, the removal of good time and/or a violation of probation may be considered.

MEDICAL CARE AND INJURY:

When the program participant signs the terms and conditions of Home Detention, he/she agrees that the County does not have the responsibility to provide medical or dental care. Therefore, the inmate is responsible for his/her own medical/dental care as well as for the family. This responsibility includes the scheduling of appointments, transportation, payment of bills, and purchase of prescriptions. The participant must advise the Home Detention Officer of all medications prescribed by a physician and the use of any over-the-counter medications including the amount and when taken.

Additionally, the inmate agrees to call the Home Detention Officer immediately for instructions in the case of an injury or illness. When contacted, the Probation Officer will help determine the extent of the injury or illness and if it is of a "life threatening" nature. At that time the inmate will be granted permission to obtain medical care at an appropriate time or instructed to call emergency medical personnel immediately. In certain situations, the injury or illness could be "life threatening" to the extent that the inmate or a member of the residence will need to call emergency medical personnel prior to contacting the Probation Officer.

In many cases, determining the seriousness and appropriate course of action for a medical problem or injury is difficult and dangerous without the expertise of a medical professional. Therefore, the Probation Officer must utilize extreme caution when making any decisions regarding an injury to an inmate or the need for medical care.

The Home Detention Officer must complete a Special Incident Report describing any serious injury or illness of a program participant. A Special Incident report must be completed and forwarded to the Chief Probation Officer and the Supervising Probation Officer of the program by the first working day following the incident.

SPECIAL INCIDENT REPORTS:

A special incident report is to be completed by the Home-Detention Officer in the case of:

- 1. Accident.
- 2. Injury.
- 3. Illness.

SPECIAL INCIDENT REPORTS: (continued)

- 4. Escape.
- 5. A severe discipline problem.
- 6. The return of an inmate to Jail.
- 7. The arrest of an inmate on new charges.
- 8. A severe curfew or technical violation.
- 9. A severe equipment malfunction or problem.
- 10. Any extraordinary situation that should be documented and brought to the attention of administrative personnel.

A special incident report should be completed as soon as possible subsequent to the incident and completed with an original and two copies. The reports should be distributed as follows:

- 1. The original to the Supervising Probation Officer for review and placement in the Special Incident folder.
- 2. One copy forwarded to the Chief Probation Officer for review.
- 3. One copy placed in the inmate's Home Detention folder.

TERMINATION FROM THE PROGRAM:

An inmate may be terminated from the program due to the following reasons:

- Completion of Sentence a participant will be terminated from the program when he/she has completed the prescribed sentence in a satisfactory manner.
- 2. Modification of Sentence A participant may be terminated from the program as a result of a modification of his/her sentence by the court. If an inmate's sentence is modified, the Home Detention Officer must obtain a copy of the modification order prior to terminating the inmate.
- 3. Disciplinary Termination A participant may be terminated from the program for failure to comply with the rules and regulations or involvement in new criminal charges. If an inmate is terminated from the program for disciplinary reasons, he/she will be given written notification which will include information regarding the right to appeal.

When an inmate is removed from the program and returned to Jail for disciplinary reasons, the Home Detention Officer will follow the guidelines previously outlined in the "Violations and Return to Custody" section of this manual.

When an inmate successfully completes the program, the Home Detention Officer will follow the directions in the "Removal of Equipment" section of this manual, notify the central computer of the termination, and coordinate the participant's release from the Jail.

REMOVAL OF EQUIPMENT:

When an inmate has been terminated from the program, it will be the responsibility of the Home Detention Officer or the Work Furlough Officer to remove the transmitter from the ankle of the participant and remove the field monitoring device from the residence. The officer will take inventory of all electronic equipment, check for damage or malfunction, and return the equipment to the Probation Department.

EVALUATION:

When an inmate is terminated from the program, the Home Detention Officer will interview the participant to obtain information regarding his/her experience on the program. Appropriate information provided by the participant may be utilized by the Home Detention Officer to evaluate and improve the program.

ELIGIBILITY CRITERIA

The accompanying instrument presents the Ventura County, California, Work Furlough Program Eligibility Criteria being adopted October 1, 1980, which supersedes the past narrative form criteria (also included for the purpose of comparison).

The present Eligibility Criteria was developed by Program staff in an effort to objectify and further legitimize the former criteria through a scoring instrument, which numerically assesses not only risk, but all other items traditionally considered important in the screening of local Program applicants. The Eligibility criteria therefore is not purely a risk-assessing instrument in the strictest sense; but, rather it is an administrative tool for use in making Work Furlough Program eligibility screening decisions. The adoption and use of this instrument not only should result in generally more clear, consistent, and objective screening decisions, but, secondarily, may become an eventual source for the making of other types of Program decisions and also the collection of Program data.

Examination of the past and present Eligibility Criteria will show that they very closely resemble each other, in that the same types of crimes are considered most serious or risk involving and that certain other aspects also are included in both such as the emphasis placed upon employment and dependents. The similarity is intended, as over the years, the Ventura County Work Furlough Program has experienced considerable success with these standards. The present numerically-scored Eligibility Criteria was developed to duplicate as faithfully as possible the past narrative form criteria. All areas of the former criteria have been incorporated conscientiously into the present scoring instrument. Other items included in the present instrument are verifiable information given by the Program's application materials (also attached) and the final two items (Items 8 and 9), which are identified and decided by the Program itself.

The development and logic contained in the present Eligibility criteria can best be seen by analyzing the instrument item-by-item. The analysis is most meaningful when ordered in the following manner:

8. Other Crimes:

a.	Fel.Pop.,forg.&NSF chks.	(11,10,9)
  - Ъ.	Other Fel. or VOP of any Fel.	(9,8,7)
c.	Misd.prop.forg.&NSF chks	(4)
d.	. Other Misd. or VOP of any Misd	(2)
e.	Misd.traff.or VOP of Misd.traff	(1)

Item 8, "Other Crimes," represents data of a legal nature (Items 6 and 7 also concern legal data). In this particular item, there is a logical progression with an equal and sufficiently-broad differential, two points, between each progressively more serious instant offense other crime. Violations of probation are included necessarily in order that the instrument has the capability of scoring all possible types of criminal matters. The lined division between levels 6. b and 6. c, separates those convictions which are felonies from those which are misdemeanors. The mid scores in the felony levels, 6. a and 6. b, are base scores with the higher and lower scores on either side of these base scores to be applied when aggravation or mitigation exists. Misdemeanor crimes, which by definition are less serious or already mitigated crimes, are not subject to this determination.

7.4	Esca	ape & FTA:	•
	a.	Escape Fel. or Misd.	(15,14,13)	-

Referring to legal item 7, instant offense "High Risk Crimes," observe that the higher level c, of the two misd. high risk crime levels, level c and d are weighted equally to Fel. prop., forg. & NSF checks (Other Crimes 8. a), i.e., 10 points. This equal assignment of points was derived from both experience and logic. For example, a felony burglary or auto theft conviction certainly is more serious (although not necessarily more predictive of risk in a statistical or recidivistic sense) than possession of marijuana, resisting arrest, or indecent exposure, the latter crimes all being scored 8 points. However, these felony property crimes (8. a) must not be scored higher than the higher, level c, of the two MIsd. high risk crime levels, i.e., 10 points, because if these crimes were scored higher,

(13,12,11)

then Fel. prop., forg. & NSF checks would have to be considered in the felony high risk crime scoring range and, thus, fel. high risk crimes themselves. The staff experience and logic utilized in the development of this instrument dictate that the higher of the two Misd. high risk crime levels and Fel. prop., forg. & NSF checks be scored equally. It follows, then, that the lower, level d, for the two Misd. high risk crime levels also is weighted appropriately at 8 points equal to Other Fel. or VOP of any Fel. (Other Crimes 8. b).

As one can see, it is an integral aspect of this scoring instrument that certain misdemeanor crimes are recognized as being high risk in nature, while at the same time the instrument adheres to the accepted Penal Code distinction that felonies, by definition, are serious crimes. Accordingly, the instrument's utilization simultaneously of both risk and Penal Code distinction results in items 7. c and 7. d being weighted equally with items 8. a and 8. b.

Examination of the program's past Eligibility Criteria shows that certain felony crimes, e.g., sales and/or possession for sale of drugs, were exclusionary in absence of a court waiver for entry into the Work Furlough Program. The retainment of this aspect of the Eligibility Criteria has been approached by weighing these types of felony high risk crimes still higher, i.e., a 12-point base score of 7. b items and a 14-point base score of 5. a items. With these being the base scores in absence of aggravation or mitigation for Fel. high risk crimes and with the maximum Program Suitability Rating (see item 9) being 4 points, absolute control (to deny) over the eligibility of applicant who have committed these crimes is approached (although by scoring only not assured; this problem is addressed by the ability of the Program to apply certain published "exclusionary reason(s)" explained in the concluding sections of this material). Thus, 7. a and 7. b offenders will have to score extremely low in all other items of the instrument (and, not have exclusionary reason(s) applied) in order to be approved for Program participation.

Observe also that all instant offense felony crimes and the crime of Escape whether felony or misdemeanor can be aggravated or mitigated to higher or lower point scores in recognition of determinant sentencing aspects of the law and also, the necessity for the instrument to include the possibility for applicants convicted of felony crimes, especially when mitigated, to be approved for Program participation.

6. Prior Criminal Record (3 yrs., 3+ to 7 yrs):

a	Ea. high risk Fel.	(6.3)	 •
	Ea. high risk Misd.	(4,2)			=
c.	Ea. other Fel. or VOP		 •	:
	of any Fel.	(4,2)
d.	Ea. other Misd. or VOP		 . •
	of any Misd.	(2,1)
e.	Ea. Misd. traff. or VOP				,
	of any Misd. traffic	(1,3)

The assignment of point scores for the levels contained in the "Prior Criminal Record" item was largely a result of experimentation and a systematic approach. As with the instrument as a whole, this item has been tested and proved to function effectively.

To demonstrate, the "average" applicant will score five or six total points in items 1, 2 3 and 4 (see these items). If, for example, this applicant is a drunk driver (one point in item 8, Other Crimes), with a moderate to recently-heavy prior criminal record for three past misdemeanor traffic convictions, two violations of these where there was a high risk crime, then this hypothetical applicant already may have accumulated a total of eighteen to nineteen points, depending upon the contemporaneousness of these prior offenses. Past Program Participation (item 8) and Program Suitability Rating (item 9) then would determine this relatively "average" to "borderline" applicant's eligibility. Furthermore, one can see that the more serious an applicant's instant offense, the less adverse scores in all other items, including Prior Criminal Record the applicant must obtain in order to be approved for Program participation. An applicant convicted of an instant offense felony high risk crime would have to receive extremely low scores, including having a very minimal or possibly "clean" Prior Criminal Record in order to be approved.

Observe the following, systematic development of the Prior Criminal Record item:

Instant Offenses	Prior	Criminal	Record	(3	yrs., 3	+ to	7 yrs.)
7. b	(12)/	Halved 6. a			Halved (6,3)
7. d	(8)/	6. b	1	1	(4,2)	, · ·
8. b	(8)/	6. c	1	. 1	(4,2)	/
8. d	(2)/	6. d	1	. 1	(2,1)	1
i. e	(1)/	6. e	1	1	(1,.5)	$I^{\circ}$

Notice the "halving" aspect of the development of the Prior Criminal Record item between certain types of instant offense crimes and prior offenses of the same type, and within the Prior Criminal Record item itself according to time elapsed. Although it has not been demonstrated statistically and possibly cannot be that a prior offense occurring as an instant offense, the above approach to the Prior Criminal Record item does involve considerable analytical development and has been shown to produce screening results consistent with those being made without use of the instrument.

1. Age

a. 18 to 20 yrs. (2) b. 21 to 29 yrs. (0) c. 30 + yrs. (-1)

2. Dependents
a. No dependents (1) b. Deps outside home only (0) c. Dependents in home (-1)
These are personal data items which over the years have been observed to bear a relationship to an individual's apparent ability to succeed in the Work Furlough Program. However, these items are not weighted heavily.
3. Type of Employment
a. Chronically unempl. or unk. (10) b. Situationally unemp. (6) c. Student (0) d. Loosely structured job (4 or 2) e. Some structure (-1) f. Highly structured job (-2)
4. Time Present Job or School
a. Under 6 mos. unemp. or unk. (2) b. 6 mos. to 1 year (1) c. 1 year to 2 years (-1) d. 2 - 3 years (-2) e. More than 3 years (-3)
These are employment data items. Item 3 is weighted heavier because of the emphasis by the local Program placed upon being employed and accountability or superviseability of that employment. Individuals in the Work Furlough Program who have less-structured work or school environments have more chance to violate Program rules and regulations while in the community. A related argument can be applied with shorter periods of time presently employed or attending school.
5. Past Program Participation (7 years)
a. Past removal  b. Multiple repeater (3X or more)  c. No past participation or repeater (1X or 2X)  (12)  (6)  (0)
9. Program Suitability Rating
a. Strongly negative (4) b. Negative (2) c. Neutral (0) d. Positive (-2) e. Strongly positive (-4) Re
These are Program data items. Item 8 is intended to penalize from a scoring standpoint the applicant who has been a "multiple repeater" of the Program and to prohibit entry into the Program of the applicant who has been removed from it for disciplinary reasons in the past.

Item 9, "Program Suitability Rating," is the overall judgement of Program probation officer (screening) staff concerning the applicant's suitability or appropriateness for Program participation. The PSR is not weighted heavily in order to preserve the basic objectivity of the instrument. This judgement and the resultant score for this item may be based upon any and all considerations concerning the applicant and his or her background. Items already scored by the instrument (item 1 through 8, inclusive) will be considered and other more subjectives items not addressed in a direct way by the instrument, such as substance abuse, violence potential, and attitude, also will be considered. The PSR (Program Suitability Rating) is final and ordinarily not subject to review.

Finally, in any instrument or classification system, such as the present Eligibility Criteria, there will be a relatively small portion of cases that do not fit or lend themselves to acceptable scoring. Some applicants who possibly should be approved for Program participation will be denied by the instrument (Program Eligibility Score of 19+ points). And, some applicants who possibly should be denied Program participation will be approved by the instrument (Program Eligibility Score of 18.5 points). This phenomenon or "subjective override" is dealt with by the present Eligibility Criteria in two separate ways so as to negate each of the types of override indicated.

The first type of override, i.e., applicants who possibly should be approved, but are denied when scored by the Eligibility Criteria, is remedied by the sentencing Court having the authority to waive the Eligibility Criteria. The Court, as its discretion, may waive the Eligibility Criteria when it appears that the defendant applicant may be or has been denied Program participation, but who in Court's judgement should have the possibility of entering the Program notwithstanding such Eligibility criteria. The Program then has the option, where in absence of the Court waiver there may have appeared to be or was none, of accepting or continuing to reject the applicant for Work Furlough Program participation.

The latter type of override, i.e., applicants who possibly should be denied, but are approved if scored by the Eligibility Criteria, is addressed by the exclusionary reasons published at the bottom of the present eligibility Criteria. The Work Furlough Program thereby is reserving the right to refuse admission to any applicant who may pose an extreme risk or problem from a Program standpoint. The application of these exclusionary reason(s) is the absolute right and authority of the Work Furlough Program administrator. It is recognized also that the sentencing Court, by law, may deny any defendant Work Furlough participation.

NEVADA COUNTY PROBATION DEPARTMENT HOME DETENTION PROGRAM INMATE INFORMATION

You have been placed on Home Detention "Electronic Monitoring." This will help you to understand what YOU must do.

- HOW DOES IT WORK? You will wear a small black box on your ankle. It sends a signal to the grey box so it will know you are home. The grey box is plugged into the wall for power. It is also plugged into the phone line so it can call a computer downtown. As long as you are home, the grey box tells the computer that everything is OK.
- WHAT IF I LEAVE FOR AWHILE? The grey box will call the host compter and your Probation Officerwill get a report that says what time you left and what time you came back.
- WHAT IF I TRY TO TAKE THE LITTLE BLACK BOX OFF MY LEG? The small black box will signal the grey box. Then the grey box will call downtown and your Parole Officer will know that you tried to take it off.
- WHY CAN'T I JUST UNPLUG IT FOR AWHILE? If the grey box is unplugged from the phone line and then plugged in again, it calls downtown and reports everything that has happened while it was unplugged, including the time the phone line was disconnected and then plugged in again. It also has a battery so it still knows if you are home even when it has been unplugged from the wall.
- THAT ARE THE RED LIGHTS FOR? The first one should always be on. It shows that it is plugged into the wall. The second light should always be off. If it ever comes on, call your Parole Officer. The third one comes on when the grey box is using the phone line. The last light stays on when you are home and goes off after you leave.
- CAN I STILL USE MY PHONE? You can use your phone only when the grey box is not using the phone. Before you make a call, look at the grey box. If the PHONE BUSY light is on, you must wait awhile. Sometimes the grey box will try to call out while you are talking to a friend. You will hear loud clicking sounds in your phone. Tell your friend that you will call back later. Hang up and wait about 10 minutes. Be sure to look at the grey box again before you try to call. If the PHONE BUSY light is off, you can then call your friend again. Also remember, since the computer occasionally calls the grey box, answer your phone only when it rings more than once.

CAN I TAKE A SHOWER OR BATH? - Yes, the black box is completely waterproof and safe. It will not shock you or hurt you.

DO I HAVE TO WEAR THIS THING ALL THE TIME? - Yes, ALL the time.
