I. FELONY CONVICTIONS — NUMBER

The last few lines of Table A compare the number of convictions for felonies in 1986 through 1989 with the estimated number in 1990.

Felony drug law violations appear to be 5 percent over 1989. Other crimes against the person and against property that are frequently drug-related, including robbery, burglary, grand theft and auto theft, show greater percentage increases.

(1): For six-month periods through 1981, includes only second degree murder and voluntary manslaughter. First degree murder data were not available and thus could not be tabulated. First degree murder (and death penalties) are included in the 1984 and subsequent data.

(2): A high percentage of rape cases formerly received "other" dispositions. Most of those involved incarceration, either as a mentally disordered sex offender or as a result of commitment to the Youth Authority. Probation was prohibited by Stats. 1979, ch. 944, Pen. Code, § 1203.065. Mentally disordered sex offender ("MDSO") commitments were prohibited for crimes committed after December 31, 1981 (Stats. 1981, ch. 928). Some MDSO commitments continue to come in on crimes committed before 1982.

(3): Amount over $200 through 1982, $400 thereafter or unspecified.

Release date — September 1991

II. FELONY CONVICTIONS — SUMMARY OF DISPOSITIONS

Table A compares the current rate of prison commitments with the commitment rates over the past few years, and at the beginning of determinate sentencing.

The most significant change since 1985 is the increased prison commitment rate for felony drug law violations (from 25 to almost 40 percent for all drug law violations). There has been a noticeable but smaller increase in the commitment rate for assault with a deadly weapon (from 45 to 50 percent).

The prison commitment rate does not fully reflect the use of incarceration in California. Almost all defendants granted probation in superior court are required to serve a jail term as a condition of probation. Table B indicates the total incarceration rate, considering both prison and jail, but excluding other dispositions such as Youth Authority commitments.

III. FELONY CONVICTIONS — BY APPELLATE DISTRICT

Table C shows the rates of prison commitments by appellate district, summarizing some of the statistics in Tables 2 through 5.

That comparison indicates that the differences noted in previous Quarterlies continue to exist in the prison commitment rates in different areas of the state. For example, superior courts in the Second Appellate District appear to have a consistently higher prison commitment rate for burglary (2nd) and other property crimes than superior courts in the First Appellate District; superior courts in the First Appellate District send a lower percentage of those guilty of possession of narcotics to prison than superior courts in the balance of the state.

Tables 2 through 5 give disposition information, in the same format as statewide Table 1, for the following regions:

Table 2 — Superior Courts in the First and Sixth Appellate Districts combined

Table 3 — Superior Courts in the Second Appellate District

Table 4 — Superior Courts in the Fourth Appellate District

IV. DETERMINATE SENTENCING STATISTICS

SENTENCE LENGTH

Statistics on the length of determinate prison sentences appear in Table 6. These are summarized for selected crimes, over time, in Table D.

Table D indicates that none of the high volume crimes (e.g., theft, burglary, robbery) showed a significant change in average sentence length from quarter to quarter, over the past several years. A possible exception is assault with a deadly weapon, which shows an increase in two successive quarters.

In the case of voluntary manslaughter, the average sentence in 1984 shows the impact of the increase, effective January 1 of that year, in authorized sentence (to 3, 6, or 11 years); but by 1986, the quarter-to-quarter variation appears to reflect only the random variation to be expected for a lower volume crime.

Statutes effective in 1979 and 1980 significantly increased the possible sentence for rape. Those changes appear to have had their full effect by 1984, the beginning of the period covered by Table D. There continues to be considerable quarter-to-quarter variation in average sentence, as would be expected for a lower volume crime (500-600 convictions per year) for which an individual sentence may be as low as 3 years, in a case without complications, to somewhere in the vicinity of 100 years, for a case with multiple rapes and other violent sex crimes, and such complicating factors as weapons use and prior convictions.

In the more complete tabulations of sentence length, Table 6, it should be noted that the "minimum" sentence listed under "Range of Sentence Imposed" is one-third of the middle authorized term for several of the crimes listed. This is caused by a reporting error: the courts sometimes report only the time added by a new consecutive sentence, instead of the new "aggregate term" computed per Penal Code section 1170.1(a). This reporting error does not mean that there is an error in the actual sentence imposed. In the maximum sentence column, "99.0" may represent a sentence greater than 99 years, as the computer is programmed to treat 99 years as the maximum allowable determinate term.

V. IMPACT OF DRUG CASES ON TRIAL VOLUME

The September 1990 quarterly statistics continue to show that the high volume drug cases do not impose a disproportionate trial workload on the courts. Only 2.7 percent of major drug law violation convictions resulted from trials.

Of other large volume crimes, this compares to burglary (2nd degree), where 2.1 percent of convictions resulted from trials.

The statistics suggest that the trial rate depends on whether a defendant faces a very high sentence if convicted, and whether there is a possibility of probation. Rape, which carries a heavy sentence and for which probation is prohibited, typifies the crimes with higher trial rates, as do murder (2nd degree) and robbery, which often involve a firearm rendering the defendant ineligible for probation, and burglary (1st degree), which also has a limitation on probation. Some of the murder (2nd) convictions probably represent cases prosecuted as murder (1st degree), making a guilty plea uniquely unlikely.

Table E summarizes the mode of conviction for several typical crimes.

VI. DATA NOTES

Statistical tables in the Quarterly are derived from case reports received from superior courts. Despite the efforts of data processing and editing personnel, a few cases could not be tabulated because they had a code or section number that could not be interpreted as a felony offense or were so inconsistent internally that an error had to be assumed. No other reports are excluded. A very few reports lacked county identifiers or information on whether the conviction was by trial or plea; these cases are included in aggregate totals, but are necessarily excluded from breakdowns by appellate district or by type of conviction. Consequently Tables 2 through 5 (by appellate district) will not add to Table 1 (state total), and the totals for particular crimes in Tables 7 and 8 (by manner of conviction) may not equal the Table 1 totals for the same crime.

In a few instances seemingly erroneous dispositions were reported. Most of these anomalies were cleared up by consulting the original document; it might, for example, show that the crime was an attempt, or was committed prior to a change in the law. Even when the anomaly cannot be explained, the crime is tabulated as it was reported by the court.
