Honorable Lawton Chiles
Governor of Florida
Honorable Members of the Florida Legislature

Dear Governor and Members of the Legislature:

In accordance with Chapter 20.315(15), Florida Statutes, the Department of Corrections respectfully submits its Annual Report for Fiscal Year 1991-92, which covers the progress and accomplishments made by the department during the year.

The theme of this year's report is "Organizing for the 21st Century." The report includes recommendations for improving the delivery of correctional services based on the department's Agency Strategic Plan. The report also highlights innovative ideas and enhancements such as Broward Correctional Institution's Day Care Center, a new Custody Classification System, an effective Student Internship Program, and enhanced relationships with law enforcement and the judiciary. The accomplishments described in the report reflect the department's "major corporation" approach to management. They are the direct product of the imagination and ideas of staff and their conscientious dedication and hard work.

Should you have any questions regarding the material in the Annual Report, we will be happy to respond.

Sincerely,

Harry K. Singletary, Jr.
Secretary

Secretary's Message

This annual report covers the progress and accomplishments made by the Florida Department of Corrections during fiscal year 1991-1992. We feel that the Department of Corrections is one of the most productive and best managed departments in state government. We believe we are the best kept secret in government.

For years the department has produced, saved, and performed in an exemplary fashion. We are delighted to report that 1991-1992 was no exception. Although our budget was reduced by $47 million in fiscal year 91-92, the department will revert more than $8 million to the State General Revenue Fund. This accomplishment was based on a sound management plan which involved innovative use of staff and fiscal resources.

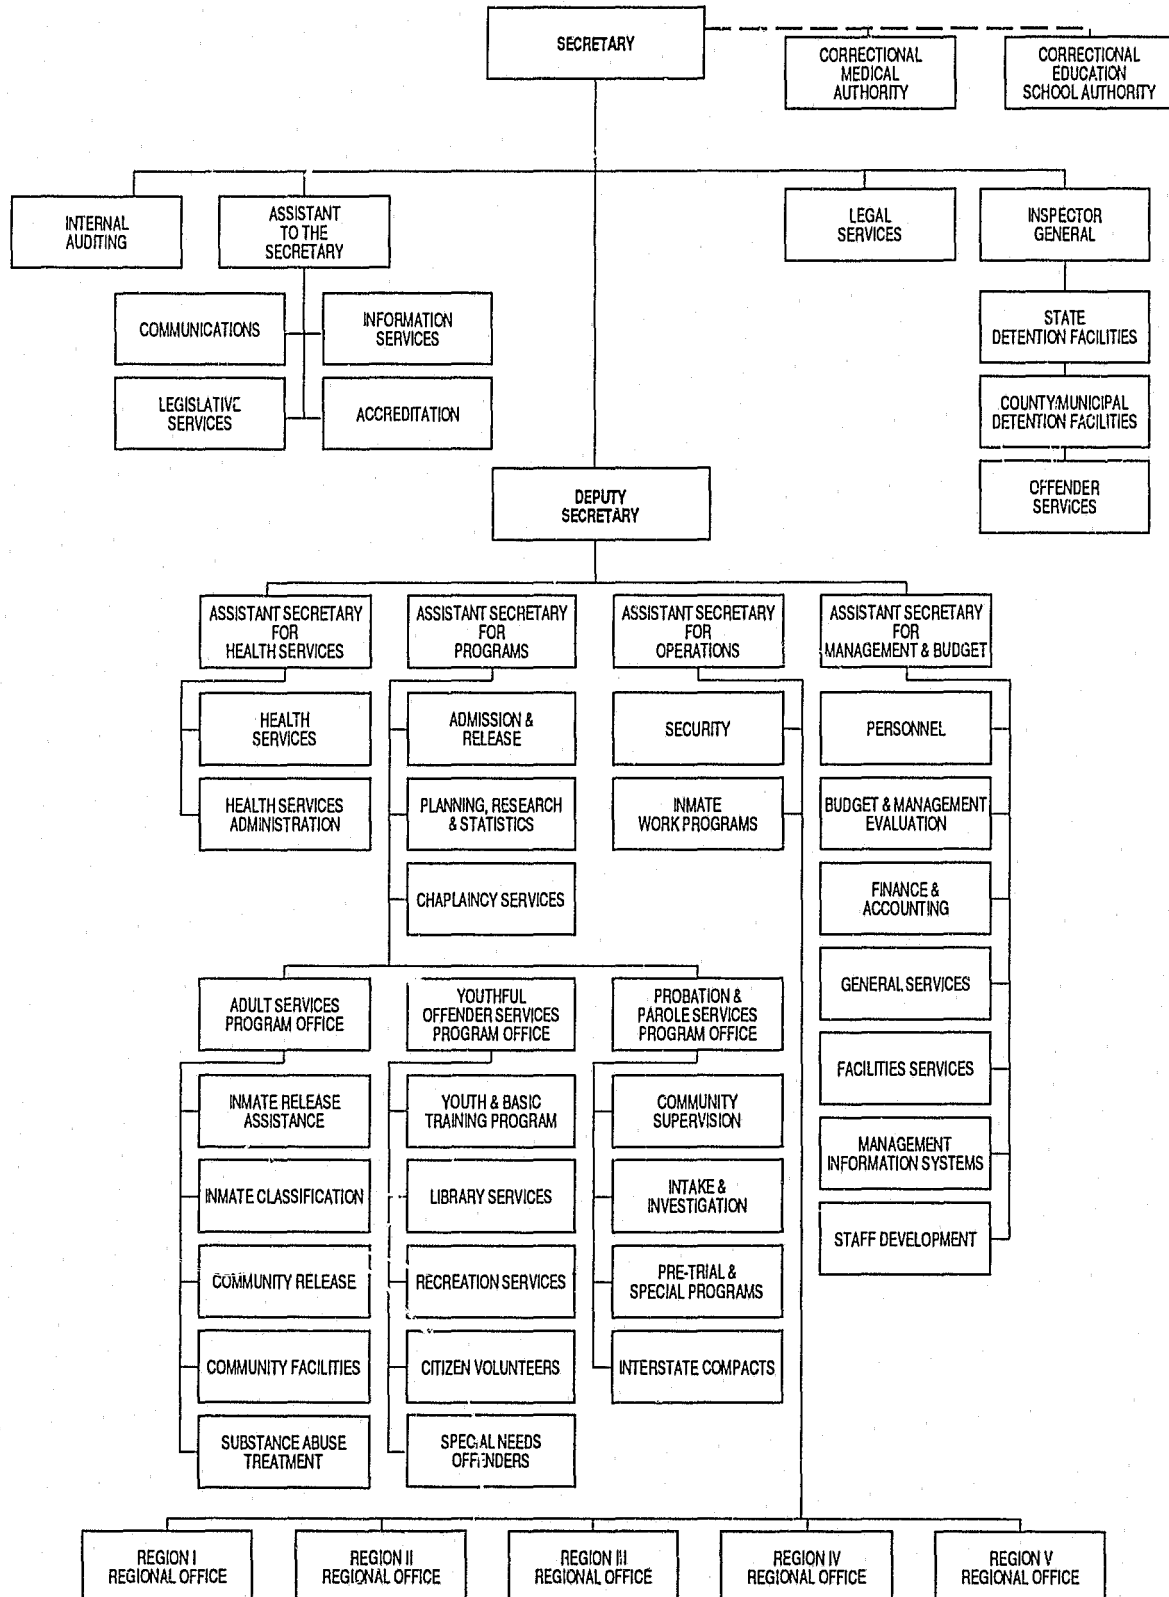

From the staff perspective the department is the equivalent of a large billion dollar corporation and we approach it as a business of that magnitude. This approach has led to increased efficiency, innovations, and cost savings. Three examples of the impact of this new thinking and direction are:

- 1) The department views its Food Service operations in the same fashion that a restaurant chain would its business operations. The department served more than 52,000,000 meals over the past year, and we are attempting to manage the unit cost.
- 2) The department views its Health Services operations in the same fashion as an HMO, a private hospital corporation, and a public health agency. The department must adopt and adapt cost containment measures similar to the private sector.
- 3) The department views probation and parole services as a revenue collector and generator for the State. The revenue collection function is being automated to ensure payments of court ordered obligations and costs of supervision, which will free professionals for more direct service contributions.

Thanks to these and other innovative measures, the department has continued to make distinguished progress. These accomplishments have been the direct product of staff input, ideas, suggestions, and hard work. Two important department goals are to be fiscally accountable and able to articulate how resources have been applied to meet its public safety mission.

We at the Florida Department of Corrections are not only interested in the goal of accountability, but are also committed to the goal of effectively performing our public safety mission.

DEPARTMENT ORGANIZATION CHART

Management & Functions

Secretary

Harry K. Singletary, Jr. is chief executive officer (CEO) of the Department of Corrections. He was appointed to this position by Governor Lawton Chiles in April 1991. He was initially employed by the Florida Department of Corrections in 1979, when he accepted the position of Regional Director for Region V. His prior career included eleven years of service in the juvenile corrections system in Illinois, which culminated in his promotion to Superintendent of the Illinois Youth Center at St. Charles. As Secretary of the Florida Department of Corrections, Mr. Singletary has the authority to plan, direct, coordinate and effect the powers, duties and responsibilities of the Department in operating the state correctional system. He exercises his responsibilities by identifying priority issues, providing guidance and implementing directives through the Deputy Secretary and Assistant Secretaries.

Deputy Secretary

Bill Thurber assists the Secretary in supervising the activities of top management staff in the Department, in addition to acting on his behalf in the Secretary's absence. He was appointed to the position of Deputy Secretary in May 1991. During his 16 year career in the Department, Mr. Thurber has held positions as Assistant Secretary, Office of Management and Budget where he was responsible for the Department's budget, general services, architectural and engineering services, data processing, finance and administrative services, and personnel management; Industries Administrator, and Regional Administrative Services Director in Region II.

Assistant Secretary for Programs

Wilson C. Bell was appointed Assistant Secretary for Programs in June 1986. He began his career with the Department in 1968 as an Instructor and Academic Consultant at Florida State Prison. Since then he has held positions as Education Supervisor I, Education Supervisor II, Assistant Superintendent at FCI, Superintendent at Lawtey C.I. and Lantana C.I., Director of Region IV and Director of Adult Services.

Supervision of Program Offices: Assesses program needs, develops policies, monitors and controls program quality and provides technical assistance in the areas of Adult Services, Youthful Offender, Probation and Parole Services, Interstate Compact and Chaplaincy Services.

Admission and Release: Receives, documents and establishes the official record of all persons sentenced to the Department of Corrections; coordinates the physical movement of inmates between institutions and community facilities and returning parole violators from out-of-state.

Planning, Research and Statistics: Develops goals, objectives and performance measures; evaluates programs of the Department; forecasts prison populations and probation and parole supervision caseloads; produces the Department's Strategic Plan and Annual Report; provides recurring monthly reports regarding admissions, releases and status populations for incarcerated and supervised offenders.

Assistant Secretary for Health Services

Dr. Charles Mathews was appointed Assistant Secretary for Health Services in November 1989. Prior to coming to the Department, Dr. Mathews served as the Medical Director of Sarasota Memorial Hospital and Medical Director of Respiratory Therapy at Sarasota Memorial Hospital. He was active on the medical staff at Sarasota Memorial Hospital from 1972 to 1989.

Supervision of Professional Delivery of Health Care Services: Directly responsible for the provision of inmate health care services at hospital, regional and institutional levels. Health care services include numerous disciplines, including dental, mental health, nursing, administrative and medical services. Maintains liaison with recognized health care providers and other agencies, such as the Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services; as well as with other national and state professionals and authorities in correctional health services.

Health Services Policies: Establishes health care standards, policies and directives, and formulates related health services legislative proposals.

Health Services Planning: Develops and implements health care plans and programs in accordance with State Comprehensive Plan goals; monitors and evaluates progress and status of health services delivery.

Medical Issues: Medical advisor to the Secretary of the Department of Corrections and staff members on health services issues.

Assistant Secretary for Management and Budget

Ron Kronenberger was appointed Assistant Secretary for the Office of Management and Budget in May 1991. He began his career with the Department in 1976 as the Budget Officer in Region II. He was appointed to the position of Administrative Services Director in Region II in 1983 and became Deputy Director for the Office of Management and Budget in 1987. Mr. Kronenberger was also selected Central Office Employee of the year in 1991.

Personnel: Represents and coordinates activities involving collective bargaining, recruiting, classification and pay programs departmentwide.

Budget and Management Evaluation: Coordinates statewide legislative and operating budget requests, plans and supervises fund allocations and prepares financial plans.

Finance and Accounting: Plans for and maintains records and reports to reflect the financial position of the Department.

General Services - Plans and coordinates general service programs including food service, purchasing, contracts, leasing and life safety programs.

Management Information Services - Designs, implements and maintains automated information programs to assist in management of key aspects of the Department.

Facilities Services: Manages fixed capital outlay appropriations, repairs and renovations, construction of new prison beds, fire safety and environmental issues.

Staff Development: Coordinates and supervises all staff training programs conducted within the Department.

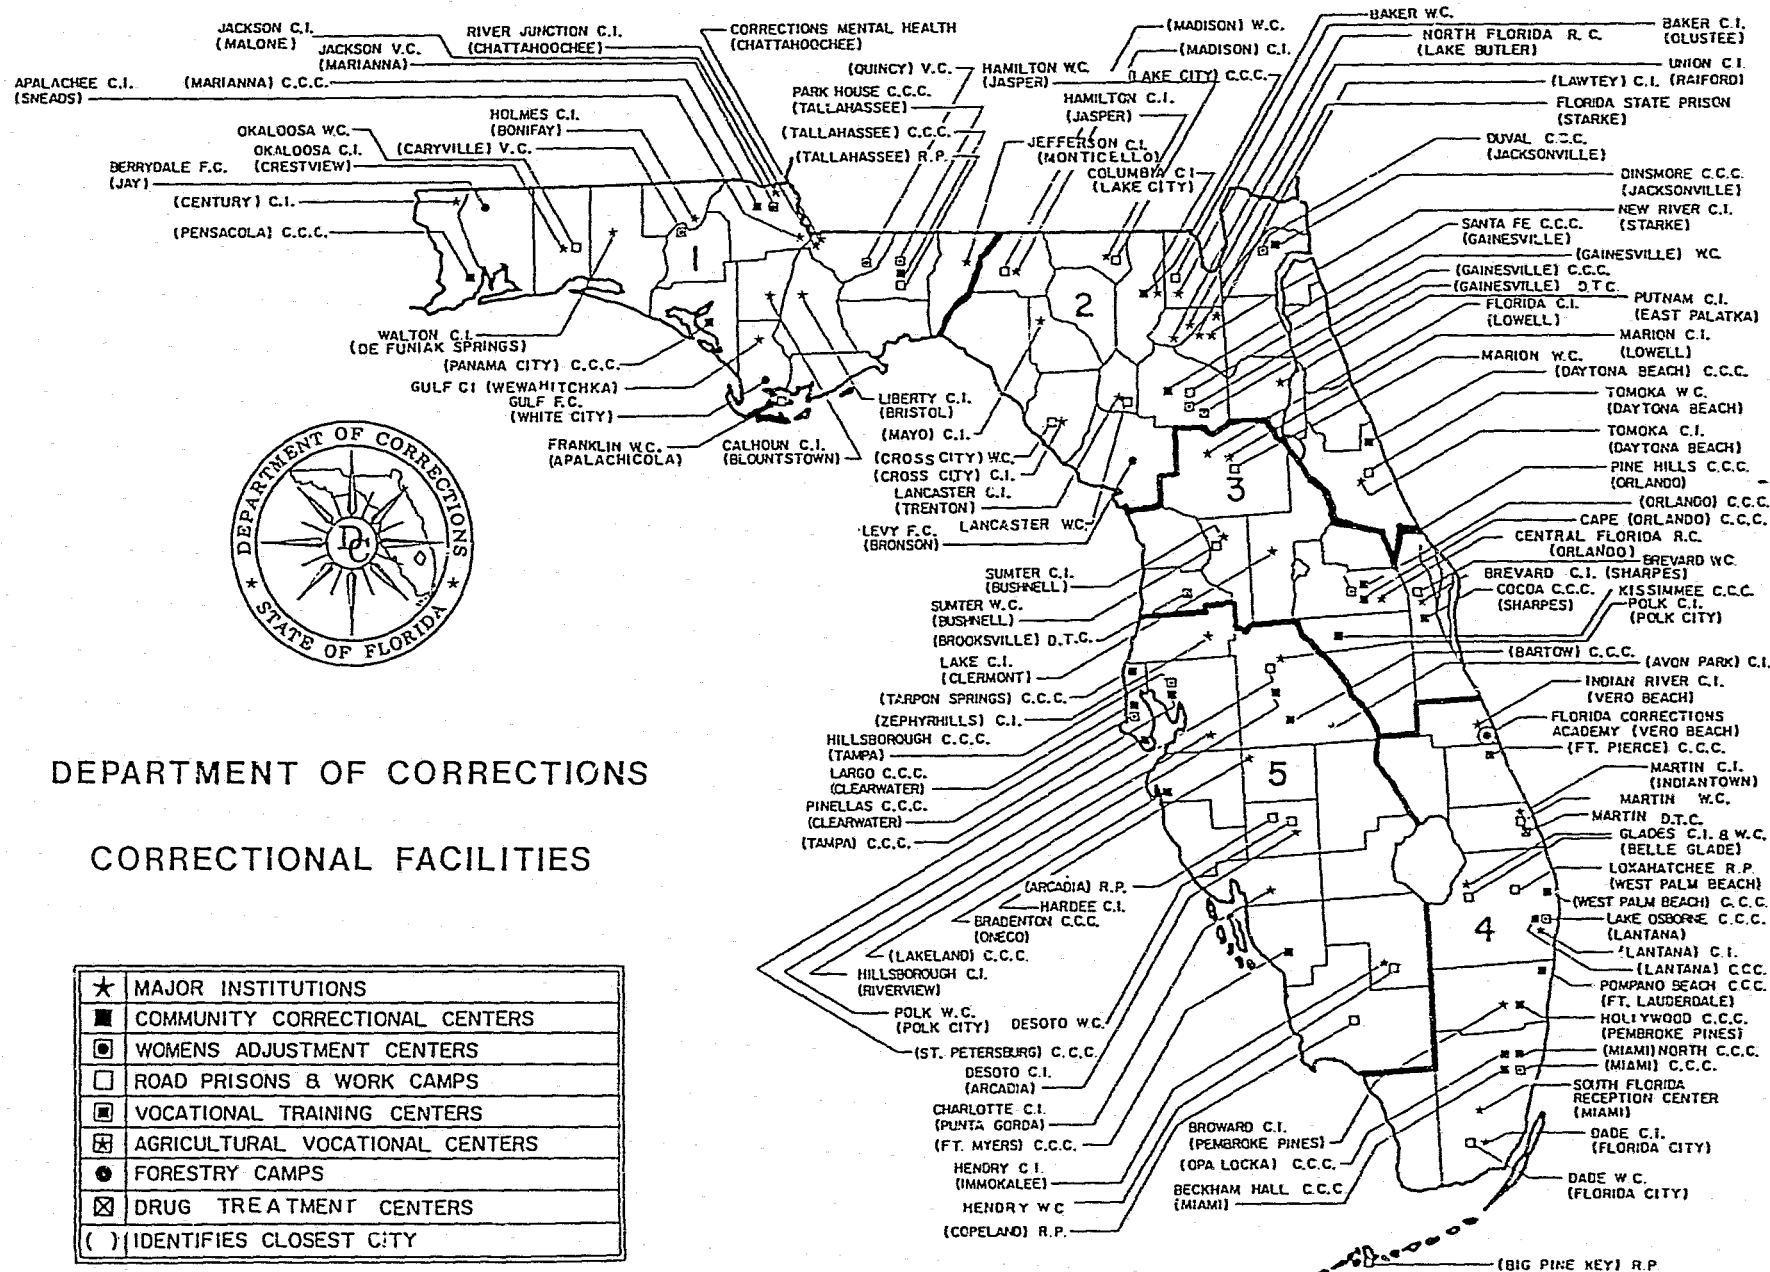

Assistant Secretary for Operations

Ron Jones was appointed Assistant Secretary for Operations in May 1991. He has been with the Department since 1972 following an 11 year career with the Nebraska Department of Corrections. During his career with the Department, Mr. Jones has held positions of Superintendent, Bureau Chief of Community Facilities, Director of Adult Services and Deputy Assistant Secretary for Operations.

Operational Supervision: Responsible for direct supervision of the five Regional Directors and the delivery of all departmental programs and services in the Regions through major institutions, community facilities and probation and parole services.

Security Coordination: Monitors and evaluates security programs at all facilities; advises Superintendents in the event of riots, disturbances, or potentially dangerous situations; monitors care and control of all movable security equipment; reviews security plans of all proposed institutions.

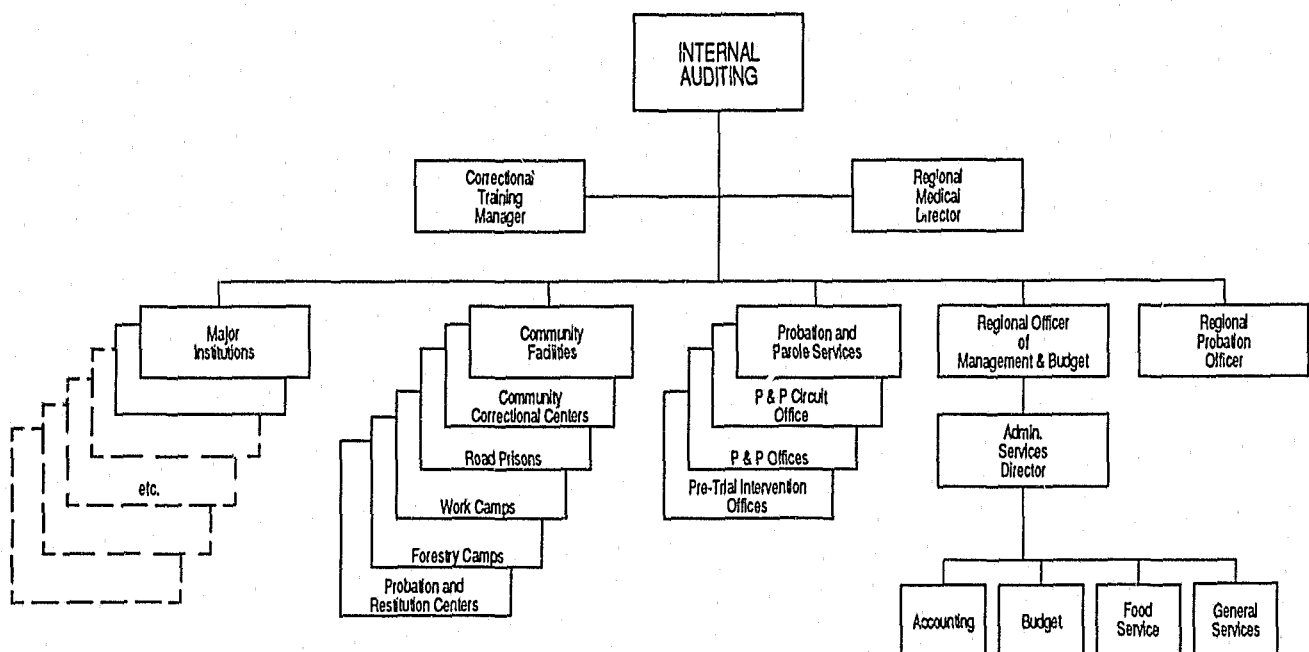

Inmate Work Coordination: Responsible for monitoring, reviewing and providing assistance to institutions and facilities which are involved in inmate work programs with the Department of Transportation, counties, cities, other state agencies and non-profit organizations.

Regional Organization

Correctional institutions, community facilities and probation and parole offices are administered through five geographic regions. Each region is headed by a regional director who supervises the activities of the superintendent of each major institution, the superintendent of community facilities and the regional probation and parole administrator. The regional director is responsible for financial administration and personnel management within his region and for ensuring that department policies are carried out and standards are met. Regional organizations and functions are shown below.

TYPICAL ORGANIZATION

Regional Functions

Each regional office coordinates activities and solves problems at major institutions in accordance with standard Department diagnosis, evaluation, referral, classification and case management procedures.

The activities of all community correctional centers, road prisons, vocational training centers, work camps, forestry camps, and probation and restitution centers are also directed by the regional office in accordance with Central Office policies and directives.

The offices coordinate and direct all probation and parole services and activities in accordance with policy guidelines and program directives from the Central Office, to include supervision, investigation, intake and diversionary programs.

Each office performs personnel management activities, including maintenance of personnel files and related records for personnel of community facilities, probation and parole offices and the regional office. In addition, regional offices maintain property accounting records, document all property transactions and maintain property management and control. The regional offices also prepare and submit regional budgets, monitor operating accounts and expenditures and supervise regional fund allocations and releases.

Recommendations

As required by ss.20.315(16), F.S., the Department of Corrections has developed recommendations for improving the delivery of correctional services in the State. The recommendations address views and requirements that have become apparent in the areas of policy needs, facilities necessary to remain ahead of inmate population growth and personnel requirements to ensure optimal effectiveness of departmental staff. Based on the accomplishments in FY 1991-92, assessments of requirements for further progress toward established departmental priority issues and objectives as set forth in the Department's Strategic Plan, it is recommended that action be taken and/or resources provided to accomplish the following:

- * Restructure the Florida sentencing system to target dangerous offenders for longer sentences.
- * Reduce the escape rate to no more than 4 per 1,000 by June 1996 for major institutions.
- * Obtain Legislative approval of resources necessary to house violent offenders for at least 70% of their sentence length.
- * Increase Community-based supervision of violent offenders upon release from prison.
- * Fully implement the Community Corrections Partnership Act and a Crime Prevention/Diversions Program.
- * Construct secure and non secure drug treatment facilities for less severe offenders.
- * Develop a comprehensive plan to increase community participation in reducing criminality.
- * Educate the public concerning the cost effective use of community based supervision programs which are grounded in good risk assessment procedures.
- * Support the full implementation of the Department's strategic planning initiative and the on-going Department initiative in total quality management and strategic organization alignment.
- * Support statewide strategic planning for Information Resource Technology.
- * Expand the Department's evaluation and planning capability.
- * Support parity in compensation and benefits between law enforcement officers and correctional officers.
- * Enhance benefits for correctional staff who work with inmates classified as high security risks.
- * Increase support to enhance staff development/training opportunities department-wide.
- * Revise a relief factor to acquire additional correctional officers to provide adequate relief to accommodate days off, annual/sick leave, and training for 5-day and 7-day posts.
- * Increase effectiveness of probation as a primary community-based sanction through use of risk and needs assessments and specialized caseloads.
- * Approve less-than-lethal, yet effective, use-of-force alternatives for officers transporting inmates or supervising them in hospitals and other locations.
- * Continue development and implementation of drug abuse treatment programs for probationers, parolees and offenders on community control.
- * Expand Tier I substance abuse treatment programs for correctional institutions and community correctional centers where appropriate and improve curriculum.

- * Increase availability of coordinated, inter-agency relapse prevention programs and aftercare services and development of the concept of linkage between treatment programs and community resources.
- * Expand the Probation Restitution Center concept to incorporate social service, drug treatment and basic education delivery systems into each center.
- * Implement random drug use testing of inmates system-wide.
- * Increase efficiency of classification and reception of inmates, identifying special needs and emphasizing proper placement in the system.
- * Enhance correctional health services for inmates as set forth in the Correctional Health Services Plan, with emphasis on those who are elderly or who are physically or mentally impaired.
- * Develop and implement a pilot sexual disorders clinic to provide intensive treatment for inmates who suffer from various sexual disorders.
- * Continue equal accessibility to correctional programs for female inmates.
- * Enhance health services for female inmates, to provide for their special needs.
- * Assist Correctional Education School Authority (CESA) to conduct 150 hours of mandatory literacy training for inmates with two years or more remaining on their sentences and a test score of less than 9.0 grade level.
- * Assist CESA to train inmates who are within five years of release in one or more vocational skills.
- * Enhance job search assistance to offenders through expansion of Department of Labor and Employment Security (DLES) staff dedicated to this purpose.
- * Support continuous expansion of a multi-profession student internship program at central headquarters and all other levels.
- * Support the resumption and continuation of an expanded part-time student employment program at all levels.
- * Support the expansion of worksite Child Care Centers at correctional institutions.
- * Continue the mandatory sexual harassment training program for all employees.
- * Develop a discipline data base and tracking system.
- * Support the continuation of an enhanced AA/EEO Plan Implementation and Training Program.
- * Support the full equitable implementation of the Minority Business Enterprise (MBE) program, especially in the purchasing and contracting of African Americans, Hispanic Americans, other minorities and women.
- * Continue to meet the requirements of the USA Case.
- * Expand the training programs on "Women Facing the Future," valuing workforce diversity; managing diversity in the workforce, etc.
- * Continue to explore ways to enhance and expand the training opportunities offered at the Correctional Training Academies.
- * Continue to work vigorously to fully comply with Americans With Disabilities Act requirements; focusing on Titles I and II.
- * Continue to work cooperatively to support PRIDE as the corporation carries out its missions to provide on-the-job training programs where inmates achieve marketable skills, learn a work ethic, and are placed in good paying jobs upon release.
- * Continue to support PRIDE's industry expansion into other correctional institutions, especially during these difficult economic times.

Activities

Minority Purchasing

The Department of Corrections is one of the most active Departments in state government in implementing the Small and Minority Business Assistance Act enacted in 1985. The Department received the State Award for exceeding its goal of $2,131,384 in purchases from minority businesses by 214.12% or $4,563,810, for 1991.

The Department encourages all vendors to participate in bid solicitations and has established a Minority Business Enterprise Utilization Plan. The following are major elements of the plan:

- A strategy was developed to increase the participation of Certified Minority Business Enterprise (CMBE) in the Department's procurement system by securing percentages of each institution's procurement dollars in contracts to CMBE's.
- The Department will maintain an up-to-date minority vendor list for the purchase of commodities and services.
- The Department's awareness of CMBE's is broadened through coordination with other entities such as the Minority Business Development Centers and the Small and Minority Business/Advocacy Office.
- The Department's goal is to improve and develop skills among staff that will provide increasing opportunities for minority businesses to actively participate in this program. Personnel involved in the purchase of goods and services are provided information on minority businesses that may wish to bid on goods and services. The success of this program is dependant on the climate created by all purchasing personnel.

Court Ordered Payment System

The Department, through the dual efforts of Management Information Services and Probation and Parole Services, has implemented a new Court Ordered Payment System. This automated system tracks all the monies owed by an offender, including cost of supervision, victim restitution, court costs, and other payments ordered by the court. The system maintains a prioritized payment schedule and a record of payments. Each month, payments are disbursed to the victims, the clerk of court, and other payees.

The responsibility of operating and maintaining the system is split between the individual Probation and Parole Offices and the "fee collection" administrative units in the five Regional Offices. The input of original intake data, the input of changes to the offender data base, and the receipting and depositing of court ordered payments is the responsibility of Probation and Parole Office staff. Regional Office staff are charged with validating bank deposit transactions, initiating the disbursement of funds to victims and other designated payees, and maintaining the official accounting records for Court Ordered Payment activity.

The system offers many advantages over a manual system, including:

1. A fully automated collection process, eliminating the need for handwritten receipts.
2. Full automation of the disbursement process utilizing a system generated check.
3. A complete record of all receipts and disbursements, eliminating the need for manual payment history in offender files and providing a record of both COS and restitution collections.

- A "multiple offender" disbursement check. For example, if the Department collects court-ordered payments from twelve offenders due to a single victim, only one check is then disbursed to that victim.

Computerized receipt provides a record of both COS and restitution collections.

- Consistency and control in accounting for funds and provision of analytical data indicating percentages of funds being collected.

Much time and money has been saved as a result of the computerization of cost of supervision receipts. Formerly, these receipts were done manually.

- A means to accurately assess and collect the 4 percent administrative processing fee provided for in Section 945.31, Florida Statutes. This fee is then deposited into the Court-Ordered Payment Trust Fund.

Enhanced Relationships with Law Enforcement and Judiciary

The Department is "reaching out" and providing outside agencies with on-line access to the Offender Based Information System (OBIS). OBIS has recently been offered to various State Attorney's offices, police departments, and the Immigration and Naturalization Service. This sharing of information is important to the operation of the other agencies by providing up-to-date corrections information in a timely manner.

A computer network has been established with the Department of Highway Safety and Motor Vehicles which grants access to critical motor vehicle and driver license information to Probation and Parole staff for use in presentence and other investigations. The network link to the Department of Law Enforcement's Florida Crime Information Center and the FBI's National Crime Information Center (FCIC/NCIC) has improved accessibility and reduced response time. The Department will be increasing the access to this information from current levels (from approximately seventy offices) to virtually all 150 Probation and Parole offices once the FDLE moratorium on new connections is lifted. This access is also very important in presentence and other investigations. Additionally, FCIC/NCIC access is also heavily used at the institution reception centers, by Admission and Release, and by the Inspector General's office.

The Department also provides information in the form of hardcopy reports to several different agencies. The Immigration and Naturalization Service is supplied with a series of reports on inmates, including information about projected release dates and detainers placed upon the release of those inmates. The Department supplies the Department of Law Enforcement with monthly release reports and receives reports from them concerning selected employee background checks.

Adult Services Program Office Implements New Custody Classification System

In 1991 the Adult Services Program Office implemented a new Objective Inmate Custody Classification System which combines the latest in computer technology with a national model for custody classification developed by the National Institute of Corrections (NIC).

The new system is an enhanced version of the NIC's objective custody classification model whereby Correctional Probation Officers develop an individualized custody score on each inmate reflecting the inmate's sentence, criminal history and institutional adjustment. The scoring factors were determined through statistical evaluation, comparison of the Florida model with federal and other state agencies throughout the nation, and extensive pilot testing and field research.

When scoring the custody instrument, classification staff assess specific factors that establish indicators of an inmate's future behavior. These indicators reflect the inmate's arrest history, sentence structure, length of time to be served, seriousness of the inmate's past and current offenses, and the inmate's adjustment since arrest. A numerical score is developed during this assessment procedure and the computer system identifies a recommended custody level that is subject to final review and approval by Department staff.

Phase I of the new system was initiated on July 21, 1991 after culmination of a six month review and evaluation process that included development of computer simulations and a field pilot application followed by state-wide training of classification staff.

Phase II of the system was implemented on June 9, 1992 with enhancements developed during the initial evaluation process. Included in Phase II is an enhancement of the automated process whereby the Department's computer database automatically assesses specific risk factors for consideration in the final determination of an inmate's custody. Additionally, certain inmates identified by the computer database as high risk due to recent commitment are automatically limited from custody reduction status without an additional level of review and approval at the Department's Central Office. Through the innovative use of computer technology and the skilled application by classification field staff, inmate custody decisions are now more consistently applied and better reflect the appropriate custody level for an inmate.

Affirmative Action/ Equal Employment Opportunity

The Department is committed to the development and maintenance of a quality work force that is balanced to reflect personnel diversity in the work place. One vehicle to assure that the Department is open to all citizens who are interested in employment is through an effective Affirmative Action and Equal Employment Opportunity (AA/EEO) policy and plan to accomplish these goals. The FY 1991-92 comprehensive departmental Affirmative Action Plan has been commended by the Department of Administration for its quality and far-reaching implications. The current Affirmative Action Plan includes realistic, obtainable, and measurable goals by each of the Department's five regions. It provides clear direction and guidance on how the Department wishes to compare its balanced work force in terms of race, gender, and ethnicity; and it holds key Senior Managers responsible and accountable for fulfilling the requirements of the plan. The Deputy Secretary acts as the AA/EEO Officer for the Department, and serves as Chairman of the AA/EEO Advisory Committee. This Committee is comprised of representatives from each region of the state and is balanced in terms of race, ethnicity, and gender. The committee monitors the implementation and continued adherence to the Affirmative Action policy in each region.

Department of Corrections Puts New Life Into Its Student Internship Program

The Department took the initiative in expanding and formalizing its Student Internship Program this fiscal year. Through negotiations with Student Internship Coordinators at Florida A&M University and Florida

State University, the Department has placed over ten graduate and undergraduate students into newly established Student Internship positions throughout Central Office and at selected locations in the field. Without exception, each student intern has benefited from the experiences they gained in working in a professional correctional/public service environment and the state (Department of Corrections) has benefitted from the contributions of new/fresh ideas brought to the workplace by these young, bright minds. The program will be further expanded Departmentwide during Fiscal Year 1992-93. The Department's new Student Internship Program is comprehensive in scope. Previously the focus was on criminal justice/criminology students who performed their student internship requirements primarily with Probation and Parole field staff. Under new direction, the completely revised program seeks to attract college students at the undergraduate and graduate levels in a variety of professional disciplines that span the breadth and depth of the Department's functional areas. The Department of Corrections is viewed as a big business/corporation in its attempt to attract bright, creative, motivated and well trained student interns. The newly directed Student Internship Program, when fully designed and implemented, will reflect an across-the-board recruitment of a wide array of student interns for all major professional disciplines of the Department at the Central Office, at Regional Offices and at Institutions, Probation/Parole Offices and at Community Programs/Facilities. Recruitment opportunities and productivity will be greatly enhanced through this initiative.

Shun Wymon, majoring in Public Administration at FSU; Stephanie Ellis, majoring in Criminal Justice at FAMU; and Michael Adamson, majoring in Business and Economics at FAMU.

Department of Corrections Part-time Student Employees

Thanks to the rare opportunities made available by the Governor's Fiscal Year 1991-92 Productivity Enhancement Program, the Department embarked upon an expanded employment program for needy students. There were several significant areas in the Department's central headquarters where additional help was needed, in some cases due to the hiring freeze for permanent staff.

During the fiscal year, the Department hired 39 students as Other Personnel Services (OPS) workers. Each student was employed to work an average of 20 hours per week. In most cases, that work schedule was manageable along with a full time study load. The work schedule seemed to reinforce and compliment the student's academic pursuits.

Mike Luther, who works in Central Office Personnel, is one of several employees who are also students. Luther completed his Master's degree from FSU in 1992.

Students worked with a great deal of effectiveness and efficiency in the Youthful Offender Program Office, Planning, Research and Statistics, Staff Development, Personnel, Office of Management and Budget, Facilities Services, Finance and Accounting, Operations, the Executive Office of the Secretary, Admission and Release (Offender Records) and Health Care Quality Management. The most notable accomplishment was in Offender Records where these students made the decisive difference in the complete elimination of more than 149,000 backlogged document sets, and in their work with inactive storage files. Additionally, they performed highly critical professional accounting functions, and computer applications, filing and retrieval of records and other badly needed administrative support functions. The students worked to earn badly needed funds to help defray their educational expenses and, at the same time, learned to work effectively in a highly structured, professional environment. The Department, on the other hand, received a high level of productivity from these students, at a fraction of the cost of salaried employees.

For both the student part-time employee and the Department, this represented a productive situation that offers great possibilities for continuation and expansion in the future.

Broward Day Care – A Child's Jubilee

The Department took a bold and positive step on September 3, 1991 with the opening of its first work place child care center. This represents a true "Labor of Love" initiative by the then Superintendent, Marta Villacorta, and staff at Broward Correctional Institution. Located within the staff housing area at Broward C.I., one of the female prisons in Florida, the Child Care Program is housed in a specially built double-wide trailer. The trailer can accommodate up to 30 infants and preschool toddlers.

Known as Broward Day Care: A Child's Jubilee, the fully licensed center is Florida's first and only worksite day-care facility for children of state prison employees. The Department has been working toward opening a day care center at Broward C.I. since 1987. This center is the first of a series of work place child care centers being planned for remote prison locations in Florida. Employees whose children are enrolled in the Child Care Program are excited and pleased with having the Department operated center located conveniently at their place of work. This recently constructed facility features a three person staff, two classrooms, office, kitchen, children's restroom, staff restroom, and an attractively landscaped backyard playground, complete with bicycle paths, swings, lawn toys and a playhouse. A major goal of establishing worksite child care centers is for the Department to better serve its employees. It is a comfort to the parents knowing the children are close and can be conveniently checked on if needed.

The employees who bring their children to the center can be secure in knowing that their children are cared for and taught by qualified people who not only understand child care but also recognize the demands of the Corrections profession.

One of the major reasons the State Legislature appropriated funds for the day care center at Broward C.I. was to help curb a high turnover rate among its employees.

Department of Corrections Appreciating Racial, Cultural and Gender Diversity

The Bureau of Staff Development has implemented three training programs to address diversity in the work place. The first program, "Appreciating Racial, Cultural and Gender Diversity," has been provided for more than 600 employees. The Bureau is also conducting a unique training program specifically for women serving as correctional officers in the Department. The program, entitled "Women Facing the Future," is intended to enhance the ability of women to supervise and work with male inmates and male employees. More than 300 employees have participated. The Bureau also provides instruction for administrators, managers and supervisors on how to manage the Department's current and future work force by conducting a program specially for them entitled "Managing a Racial, Cultural and Gender Diverse Work Force." This program has been conducted for more than 150 employees to date. The Department's goal is to train all employees in racial, cultural and gender diversity by 1995.

Prison Construction

The Department brought on line 2,967 new beds during FY 1991-92, increasing its bed capacity to 48,881 on June 30, 1992. In addition, the Department was in the process of constructing 3,108 new beds whose opening was postponed due to the budget cutbacks in FY 1991-

92. This was the first time in modern history that Florida constructed new beds but was unable to open them due to lack of operating funds. The 1992 Special Session of the Legislature provided funds to open these beds in FY 1992-93.

Chaplaincy Services

The Chaplaincy Service was pro-active during this year in providing opportunities for offenders to pursue their beliefs and practices. Numerous activities were conducted/coordinated/supervised to assist offenders in increasing their awareness and making responsible choices. These activities included the following:

Worship Opportunities	935,411
Pastoral Visits	167,508
Counseling Sessions	79,494
Briefings	51,085
Baptisms/Dedications	27,918
Weddings	164
Citizen Volunteers Trained	2,899

Strategic Planning

Introduction and implementation of Strategic Planning and Total Quality Management are intended to streamline the Department's manpower needs and management techniques while providing consistent direction for decision making and guidance for resource requirements into the next decade.

In September 1991, the Department began the strategic planning process aided by the Florida Center for Public Management. The program involves several varied initiatives. Among them are:

- A voluntary survey of the entire work force to assess perceptions of the Department's mission, job satisfaction, and degree of customer focus. Eighty-five percent of the 19,624 employees surveyed responded.
- Interviews of legislators, judicial authorities, and other public officials to clearly define the Department's mission as perceived by external customers who most closely interact with the Department.
- Internal senior level interviews and focus groups composed of a cross-section of Departmental rank and file personnel have been developed. They are intended to add their knowledge to previously developed administrative managers' recommendations.
- The development of an action plan which will insure a means of measuring mutually agreed upon goals.

Total Quality Management will empower the rank and file in the Department to participate in improving daily business. A top to bottom overhaul of the Department is in progress. Training sessions for all levels of staff are being developed. These sessions will teach staff to work as teams, share knowledge, systematically collect data, analyze and solve problems, work toward continuous improvement, and focus on group/team improvement rather than individual competitiveness.

Productivity measurements have been introduced into the Department; where managers, supervisors and rank and file have standards by which to judge their efficiency. The intent is to mold an agency that works as an effective whole, knows its mutually agreed upon mission, values and vision of the future and optimizes the scarce resources of the state.

Strategic Planning successes, by definition, cannot be measured in the short term. Measures of success early on relate to actions consistent with the long range goals and objectives of the Department. Some goals have already been set. For example, by June 1996, the Department expects to maintain an escape rate of no more than 4 per 1,000 inmates from the currently funded major institutions, reduce by 20 percent the per capita number of felony crimes committed within correctional facilities, effect a 10 percent reduction in the per capita number of felony commitments within 5 years of release, and in concert with the legislative and judicial branches, ensure that dangerous offenders (convicted of murder or sex crimes) serve at least 70 percent of their sentences in prison. Operations will be tested for consistency with these goals.

A significant element of a sound Strategic Plan is establishing an accurate set of baseline data. The collection of data is in progress. Escape rates, number of felony crimes committed within correctional facilities, and percent of sentenced time served by dangerous offenders are known. Baseline data for increasing staff productivity is currently being analyzed. On February 10, 1992, the Department received the initial aggregate response to the voluntary work force survey. Significant responses, where strong sentiments are expressed, are being analyzed. External perceptions of the Department as determined by the interview process are also being completed. The Department can be described as well underway toward developing a work force which is empowered to pursue the goals and objectives of an enlightened public safety system ready for the twenty-first century.

New Information Initiatives to Educate the Public

In an attempt to fulfill the office's expanded function of providing more comprehensive information, the Office of Information Services actively took part in a number of projects. Most notable among them has been the ongoing internship program providing opportunities to college students to acquaint them with opportunities available within the Department of Corrections.

Bob Macmaster of Information Services working on the Information Manual.

In addition, the office also published an information manual and compiled a slide show to familiarize agency personnel, law enforcement staff, the Legislature and the public with the challenges facing the agency and what is being done to address them. The information manual serves as a handy guide to the Department's programs and services. From day care to boot camps, litigation to legislation, safety to education, all services are outlined. Statistics are presented and the Department is explained in an easy-to-read, informative manual. The slide shows serve a similar function by informing and educating both staff and community audiences that seek information about the Department.

The slide program takes viewers into prison cells, cafeterias, libraries, classrooms, hallways, gymnasiums wood shops, and clinics to give a bird's eye view from the inside of our system.

Inspector General Reorganizes

The Office of the Inspector General (IG) reorganized and decentralized its function, putting in place Regional Offices of the Inspector General. This move streamlined the work effort and enhanced communication with Department field staff and law enforcement agencies. In a coordinated effort with the Office of Operations, the IG's office developed and established an incident/event reporting system utilizing electronic mail. This timely notification of situations of importance allows the Secretary, Deputy Secretary, Assistant Secretary of Operations and other key staff to stay current on important developments in the Department on a daily basis.

Inspector General David Smith

The IG's Office initiated efforts with the Bureau of Management Information Systems (MIS), and other key departmental staff to develop and implement a complex computerized statewide management information system that allows for identification of immediate action needed (investigation, etc.) and where. Also, valuable electronic storage of information to assist in short, middle, and long range planning aimed at problem/situation prevention and resolution.

The offices of the Inspector General, Operations and Internal Audit developed a new regionally focused approach to prison inspections and the management review process. The Office of the Inspector General met with the offices of Health Services and Public Information to establish procedures whereby information would be provided in a coordinated and timely manner.

The Office of the Inspector General has been actively working to enhance the Department's standing with other law enforcement agencies and the judiciary. The incident reporting system has enabled the Department to communicate with other law enforcement agencies in a more timely manner. The Inspector General and staff met with the Executive Director of the Florida Department of Law Enforcement to establish a strong formal cooperative agreement between the two Departments. Staff training has been initiated to improve the quality and quantity of work being accomplished by Correctional Officer Inspectors. A specialized training program entitled "Investigation in a Correctional Environment" was provided by the Institute of Police Technology and Management as a part of this training.

The Department's Inmate Grievance Procedure was certified by the United States Department of Justice and appropriate changes were instituted. A training plan was developed which focused on enhancing the Department's effectiveness in handling grievances. There should be a corresponding positive impact on issues being carried forward by inmates into the courts. The IG's Office has expanded cooperative services with the Bureau of Legal Services to coordinate public information/record requests. This keeps Legal Services informed of issues coming to the attention of the IG's Office, thus allowing identification of potential litigation issues.

The Bureau of Investigations and Inspections for County and Municipal Detention Facilities initiated a review and update of Chapter 33-8 Florida Administrative Code, in concert with representatives from county and municipal detention facilities statewide. A Jail Standards Committee was established within the Department representing a wide spectrum of parties impacted by the standards and interested in maintaining jails in compliance with standards.

The Bureau of Investigations and Inspections for County and Municipal Detention Facilities also is completing work in conjunction with the Bureau of Planning and Research on an instrument to capture data required by legislation that amended Florida Statue 951.23, and to establish a data base within which to collect, retain, and manage the data.

The IG's Office and staff participated in drafting rules governing Probation and Parole field staff carrying firearms. The IG's Office expanded investigative functions to include incidents arising out of Probation and Parole services of the Department.

Accreditation

Recognizing the need for evaluation, the Florida Department of Corrections is again actively engaged in the accreditation process through the scrutiny of the Commission on Accreditation for Corrections, sponsored by the American Correctional Association (ACA).

The process of accreditation in Florida will involve all major institutions, community facilities and probation and parole field services, with an anticipated achievement of a fully accredited status by the end of 1995. The accreditation process offers a mechanism by which to upgrade the Department systematically. In addition, it provides a method for independently verifying good correctional practices through audits, inspections, documents, and periodic reports required by the Commission on Accreditation for Corrections. It gives the Department the opportunity to evaluate facility operations against a nationally recognized set of standards, remedy deficiencies, and upgrade the quality of correctional programs and services.

The recognized benefits from the process include improved management; a defense against lawsuits through documentation and the demonstration of a "good faith" effort to improve conditions of confinement; increased accountability and enhanced public credibility for administrative and line staff; a safer and more humane environment for personnel and offenders; and the establishment of measurable criteria for upgrading programs, personnel, and physical plants on a continuing basis.

Madison C.I. Lt. Martha Humphries keeps track of Accreditation requirements.

Not only will accreditation indicate a facility complies with a nationally recognized set of standards, it is expected the process will generate valuable data and provide a sound basis for departmental planning during future fiscal years.

Community Corrections Partnership Act

The Community Corrections Partnership Act was an attempt on the part of the Florida Legislature to address several major issues confronting Florida's Criminal Justice System. The first issue is the relationship between prison capacity and the nature of offenders entering the system, which is already incapable of providing integrity to court-imposed sentences. The second issue is related to the development of necessary community-based sanctions which are appropriate to specifically targeted populations. The third issue is the development of integrated approaches involving local and state governments in the designation of specific programs designed to address the criminal justice needs associated with certain offender populations.

The Act developed a process by which county governments could submit proposals for state funding for specified programs. These programs would be in conjunction with the determination of specific intermediate sanctions which could be used by circuit court judges for offenders who would have otherwise been sentenced to state custody. The Act provided for assistance in funding the construction and operation of county work camps. The Act further fostered the development of non-secure and secure drug treatment facilities in addition to the expansion of the already existing Probation and Restitution Center concept.

It was the legislative intent that the development of the appropriate community-based intermediate sanctions would assist in the diversion of non-violent offenders from state prison commitment, thereby allowing the utilization of state prison beds for the more violent and habitual offenders. The result of this effort would be the increase in average time served. This long-term process in restoring sentence integrity requires a fully balanced approach, which necessarily involves local governments working in concert with the Department toward the establishment of credible sanctions. The first year effort toward implementing the Partnership Act saw the specific proposals regarding pre-trial intervention, administrative probation, non-secure treatment facilities and secure treatment facilities being advanced. The first county work camp was awarded, along with the first assistance funds. In each of these instances, the Department worked with local government in a cooperative arrangement.

Probation and Parole Community Supervision Enhancements

The Department aggressively pursued a complete and thorough examination of Probation and Parole Services emphasizing staff safety and measures needed to enhance efficiency. A comprehensive task force report was prepared and submitted to the Secretary, who approved many specific issues. Among the issues were matters relating to office security, safety training, recognition of high-risk offenders and a change in the policy for arming probation officers. In each of these areas the Department moved toward implementation of recommendations from the task force committee within available resources.

Regional Administrator Joseph E. Papy congratulating Lisa White, recently promoted to Correctional Probation Specialist in Northwest Tampa Probation and Parole office. Ms. White will be handling "High Profile" cases in her new assignment.

Additional enhancements for community supervision related to the establishment of a specialized job classification designed for officers who possess great skill in dealing with high-risk offenders. The nature of the supervised population has changed dramatically with a critical need being the case management of sex offenders, violent offenders and offenders with habitual prior criminal histories. In order to utilize to the fullest extent possible the human skills available in Probation and Parole services, the Correctional Probation Specialist job classification was established to focus the energies of that group on these particularly difficult cases.

Special Services Provided By The Youthful Offender Office

The Youthful Offender Program Office has taken a proactive approach to the identification and programming of the special needs offender within the Department of Corrections. This includes not only inmates with mental and physical disabilities, but also special status populations currently within the Department and future admissions.

The Department tries to provide a positive impact upon the offenders, not just a period of incarceration. Programs of a positive influence that the Department has implemented are:

- * Boot Camp: This program allows Youthful Offenders to function in a highly disciplined environment and to achieve a positive self image.

- * Recreation: The Recreation Programs make it possible for inmates to participate in organized activities, exercise on a regular basis, and better utilize any free time.
- * Library Services: The libraries give inmates a chance to develop interests in reading, cultural activities, and writing.
- * Elder Programs: The State of Florida is experiencing a steady increase in admissions of inmates over the age of 55. The Department is developing specific programs designed to meet the changing needs of an increasing elderly population.

- * Volunteers: Citizen volunteers are valuable resources to the Department because they sacrifice their time on behalf of inmates. These individuals have the skills and abilities to assist the Department in attaining its goals. A proactive approach by the Department in seeking out these volunteers is an ongoing campaign. Common sense and reduced financial resources to fund needed programs and services make the use of volunteers a necessity for corrections in the 21st Century.

- * Female Issues: The Corrections Equality Act of 1991 ensures that female inmates will have the same access to programs as those provided for males. Female inmates are given the same opportunities for exercise, recreation, and visitation privileges as those provided for male inmates. Women inmates are also afforded comparable opportunities to participate in work release programs and to be eligible for early release as those provided for male inmates.

The 21st Century will see a continuation of incarceration and recidivism unless the Department can act to break the cycle. The programs provided and the dedication of employees and volunteers can have that positive effect.

Operations Organizing for the Future

In view of the phenomenal growth of the Department, along with a shrinking tax base, it has become imperative that maximum "mileage" be obtained from the resources provided and that the management of the Department be innovative and responsible with taxpayer funds. As a result, the office of Operations has embarked on a more intensive assessment process for all applicants to the top level management positions of the Department. Concern is focused on each applicant's overall philosophy toward not only corrections, but management techniques, so that they might be able to draw the best out of the work force, utilizing limited resources.

Applicants are screened through an assessment instrument and the responses evaluated independently by each Regional Director. This evaluation then determines which candidates are scheduled for personal interviews, again before all Regional Directors. Additionally, each person is aware that, should they be selected for a top level management position, the desire of the applicant, the talents of existing staff and the overall needs of the Department will all be considered. This may mean the person selected must relocate. In the past, the applicants applied for a specific location and this did not always allow for the meshing of needs, talents and characteristics. This approach is expected to put the Department in a position of better ensuring the proper person is placed in the proper role.

As a reflection of the magnitude of the substance abuse problem in society the Department is enhancing its efforts in this regard. In addition to increased emphasis on program activity for this specialized area, greater resources in the detection and prevention of drug introduction to correctional facilities are being used. These added resources involve a position to coordinate a drug interdiction program through use of drug testing equipment, trained detection dogs, and coordination with community resources.

A correctional officer from Madison C.I. creates an inmate I.D. card.

The Department continues to expand the computerization of its inmate ID card system whereby each inmate is given a photo ID card with a bar code that can be electronically "read." As this becomes more universally installed, these cards will make it possible to more closely monitor daily operations in which accountability is involved. This includes special meals, canteen purchases, attendance at scheduled activities, medicine pickup, restrictions on entry to certain sections of the institution, and many other such uses.

The Department is fully committed to equal employment opportunities regardless of the gender of the employee in relation to the incarcerated. Any past practices that may have been interpreted as a hindrance in this regard are also being reviewed. Staff training is being conducted to ensure that the talents available within our staff are fully utilized and that each employee is able to contribute their full abilities to the Department's efforts.

Legal Services

Critical to the Department's preparation for the 21st Century is the rule promulgation effort currently underway to assure that all policies, procedures and practices that meet the definition of a rule under s.s. 120.51(16), F.S., are in rule form.

In 1991, the Legislature passed s.s. 120.535, F.S., which required that each agency statement defined as a rule shall be adopted by the rulemaking procedure provided by s.s. 120.54, F.S., as soon as feasible. Rulemaking is no longer a matter of agency discretion.

General Counsel Lou Vargas

As the Department brings itself into compliance with s.s. 120.534, F.S. a simultaneous effort must be made to assure that staff relies upon and understands the importance of the rules. This effort will encompass all areas affecting the Department including: Community Corrections Partnership Act, Personnel, Classification, Probation and Parole Community Supervision, etc. Progress has already been made in this area, as rules regarding the Community Corrections Partnership Act have been drafted, and a review process is ongoing to create new rule chapters on all personnel issues such as discrimination and performance evaluation.

Utilization of Staff and Financial Resources

The Department of Corrections is the third largest general revenue funded agency in state government, with an annual operating budget of almost $1 billion. This is the equivalent of a large corporation and the Department's philosophy is to treat it as such.

With this in mind, the Department has actively pursued introducing automation, new technology, and improved management approaches wherever possible. Automation has allowed the Department to keep up with the tremendous growth of the past ten years, as well as do the job better and more efficiently. A good example is the computer assisted reception process which reduced the need for new positions and eliminated the need for a new reception center, a significant cost savings in itself.

Other areas include:

- Negotiated Contracts for Inmate Pay Phones

As a result of deregulation of the telephone industry, the Department has competitively bid for the provision of inmate telephones at no additional cost. By closely monitoring the performance of the phone companies, the Department was able to negotiate a contract that provides a better than previous financial return. Additionally, these contracts include the payment of commissions to the Inmate Welfare Trust Fund on collect long distance calls. This has also been accomplished in those areas not previously covered by the local exchange companies. Revenues generated are dedicated to the benefit of inmates to provide recreation facilities, chapels, part-time staff to increase hours of libraries, a drug treatment program operating in a Probation and Restitution Center, and new education services.

- Liquid Laundry Products System

Installation of electronic dispensers on all laundry machines with a capacity of 50 pounds or more has reduced the average cost per pound washed from 2.2 cents per pound to 1 cent per pound. The cost of the electronic dispenser and installation was $850 per machine. After the initial cost recovery, the Department should realize a savings in excess of $650,000 annually.

- Cashless Canteen

The Department's Cashless Canteen System provides increased accountability and internal controls in the operation of inmate canteens; removes cash from the compound and its inherent problems; and eliminates staff time associated with dispersing cash to inmates. As a result of this, the Department was able to delete 14 fiscal positions from institution business offices during the 1991-92 "rightsizing" effort.

- Prototype Designs

By using the same design for each prototype facility, the Department is able to minimize architectural and engineering costs and pay nominal reuse fees. Also, reuse of plans and bid packages save time associated with planning permitting and reduces development costs by adapting a prototype plan to a specific site. Reuse of prototype plans also streamlines the process of acquiring construction materials. Additionally, having similar buildings throughout our system, aids facility familiarity for staff transferring between institutions.

- Modifications to Master Menus - Food Product Development

The following products have been developed jointly between the Department and Union Food Products, a subsidiary of Prison Rehabilitative Industries & Diversified Enterprises, Inc. (PRIDE), for the purpose of making the Master Menu more cost effective:

- a) Ground Beef Products with soy is $0.19 per pound cheaper.
- b) Smoked Ham: By utilizing boneless smoked ham, the Department is now saving $0.81 per pound compared to bone-in ham.
- c) Breakfast Sausage Pork Patty with soy is $0.19 per pound cheaper.
- d) Pork Smoked Links: The product produced by PRIDE is $0.20 per pound less than the former link sausage.

- e) Pork Chops: Pork chops at $1.86 per pound have been replaced by a ground pork product called pork choppettes at $1.13 per pound, a savings of $0.73 per pound.
- f) Roast Beef: Boneless roast beef has been replaced by cooked boneless roast beef. The cooked product provides 100% yield; the former product provided about a 60% yield. This results in a savings of $1.07 per pound.

- Reductions in Overtime

Overall Department utilization of overtime has been decreased from the FY 1990-91 level of $9.7 million to this year's level of $6.2 million, for an overall reduction of $3.5 million. The most significant reduction is in major institutions, which has reduced overtime expenditures by $2.8 million. Significant changes in roster management; establishment of a critical complement; use of flextime; careful scheduling of outside health appointments for inmates; use of a relay system to transport inmates; utilization of interactive video discs for training; etc., have contributed to this reduction.

- Tennis Shoes and Inmate Blankets

The Department has switched to issuing tennis shoes to inmates during the reception process instead of leather brogans, which saves $10 per inmate. This represents thousands of dollars on an annual basis. Only those inmates who receive an outside work assignment receive leather brogans.

The Department conducted an intensive evaluation of all clothing and bedding products produced by PRIDE. Among several improvements recommended was a change in the type of blankets issued to inmates. The previous blanket was made of a wool material which separated after a few washings. The new blanket is made of cotton and also eliminates the need to purchase additional blankets to satisfy medical orders.

- Contracts

The Department implemented a new bid evaluation process. The Department's evaluation teams now have more flexibility in awarding contracts to the low bidders even though they may have minor irregularities in their bids. In the past, the Department sometimes had to reject the lowest bidder even when it was apparent they could provide the services and goods needed because they made a minor deviation from the bid terms that did not affect performance. Such a rigid, unrealistic approach is not required by law.

The new policy has allowed us to:

- a) Contract with a paving company at a savings of $350,000;
- b) Award a lease to a vendor who had some irregularities, but was $150,000 less than the next lowest bidder; and

- c) Waive an irregularity and save the state more than $56,000 on a drug testing contract.

This is only a short list of the savings we have accomplished since implementing the new system. The savings in the past two years are over $1 million.

- Load Management

The Department has implemented load management projects at three major institutions in conjunction with two electric utilities to reduce the Department's cost for electricity, and plans to expand the program to five additional institutions. In exchange for agreeing to allow the electric utility company to curtail electrical service to an institution for short durations of time during times of peak demand (no more than six hours at any one time), the utility has offered the Department a reduction in the cost of electricity at that institution. This savings is estimated to be approximately $35,000 per year per institution.

Organizing Health Services for The 21st Century

The Office of Health Services (OHS) has a 5-year Strategic Plan and planning process to guide development of budget requirements and work plans for the delivery of quality, cost effective, comprehensive health services to inmates. This plan is updated yearly to determine progress in meeting goals and objectives and to recommend changes for future years.

The Strategic Plan includes 19 goals to maintain effective health services for present and future requirements. The plan also assists in establishing the health standards to meet Department Accreditation.

The Health Care Program provided by the Department is a primary example of a staff model Health Maintenance Organization.

During 1991-1992, the Department provided health care services to 42,588 new intakes and an average yearly population of 46,540. The average length of hospital stay per 1000 population was down from 290.6 days in FY 90-91 to 270.54 days in FY 91-92.

The Department's Health Program has achieved most of the advantages of "Managed Health Care" through direct contracting for services of hospitals with per diem rates and statewide contracts for specialty services such as laboratory tests and electrocardiograms.

Typical cost savings include the Department per diem rate with selected hospitals as compared to the Florida average daily hospital rate and comparative costs for several procedures.

Through skills gained in PRIDE's inmate training program, this former inmate (left) was able to gain employment as a night co-manager of the dairy herd at Hidden Hammock Farms in Central Florida.

PRIDE: Public/Private Partnership At Work Building Futures

PRIDE (Prison Rehabilitative Industries & Diversified Enterprises, Inc.) was chartered by the Florida Legislature in 1981 as a non-profit corporation to self-fund and manage the state prison industries in partnership with the Governor, the Legislature, the Department of Corrections, public agencies and private industry as well as business, civic and social organizations.

PRIDE provides approximately 2,400 work stations located within 21 correctional institutions. As PRIDE's major partner, the Department of Corrections supplies and screens qualified inmates who apply at the 55 PRIDE industries (including five administrative support groups) established in 21 correctional institutions. The Department provides orientation sessions for new members of PRIDE's civilian staff and offers assistance as PRIDE continues to expand the TIES (Training, Industry, Education, Support) program. This teamwork results in stronger linkages between education and on-the-job training, increasing the potential for successful post release job placement.

Other partners who support PRIDE's efforts to achieve its objectives for on-the-job training, education and job placement are the Department of Labor Florida Job Service, Department of Education, the University of Florida and the Correctional Education School Authority, as well as other accredited schools and agencies.

Through this vital public/private partnership, inmates work and train in the production of several thousand product items such as furniture, printing, agriculture, textile and garment, general manufacturing such as food processing and services such as computer aided drafting. Inmates have a chance to learn marketable job skills that bring a sense of self-worth and monetary reward, in addition to providing contributions to victim restitution, court ordered fees and incarceration costs.

The foresight of this network of cooperation and concern can build a future not only for PRIDE inmate workers but also for the State of Florida.

Honored Employees

Employee of the Year

Chaplain Eldon Cornett of Union C.I. started his Department of Corrections career as a teacher at DeSoto C.I. in 1975. Chaplain Cornett's duties run the gamut from performing marriages to presiding at funerals for deceased inmates. In addition to ministering to 1,400 inmates at Union C.I., he has coordinated the National Prison Invasion Program for the state; helped organize and now directs the statewide "Walk with a Brother" program; and has gained a national reputation for his innovative leadership of Union C.I.'s Volunteer Program. He is currently directing a film on volunteer orientation to be used statewide, and created the Kairos prison ministry program that involves hundreds of community volunteers resulting in worldwide recognition. All of this has been accomplished with a staff of three.

Chaplain Cornett is a public servant who takes the term literally -- one whose mission and obligation is to serve his public -- inmates, staff, and community alike.

Correctional Probation Officer of the Year

Priscilla A. Carter, a 12-year veteran of the Department of Corrections, is a Correctional Probation Supervisor III in the Orlando Circuit Office. As such, she supervises the largest satellite office in the 9th Circuit.

Her supervisors and peers nominated her with the following accolades:

She is known to be fair, honest, patient and understanding, with a strong work ethic and commitment to DC. She exemplifies the characteristics of a good supervisor and believes that you lead by example. She has improved the overall productivity of the office, thereby improving morale and working conditions for all employees for whom she is responsible. In addition to her professional responsibilities, Carter is an active church member, Brownie scout troop leader, and active with the Masonic Lodge. Whether measured by loyalty, work accomplished, enthusiasm for the job, or ability to supervise others, her contribution is unsurpassed in Region III.

Correctional Officer of the Year

Gordon D. Faulkner of Sumter C.I. was an Air Traffic Controller for most of his 22-year Army career before joining the Department of Corrections in 1975. He has worked for the Department for 16 years, including every shift, dormitories, towers, yard, confinement, control room, visiting park and administrative.

During the time he worked in the control room, he helped to reorganize many facets of the control room to make it a more efficient operation. He has been assigned as the headquarters security officer since 1985. In that capacity, he has been instrumental in re-writing post orders, institutional operating procedures, and emergency plans; organizing the position into a systematic, highly technical computerized operation.

He is active in March of Dimes, his church, the American Legion, VFW, Fraternal Order of the Eagles, and International Order of Odd Fellows. He is known far and wide for his special benefit Sock Hops and his leadership as Sumter C.I.'s Employee's Club President.

Central Office Employee of the Year

John C. Becker, Assistant Administrator in Work Release, was selected Central Office Employee of the Year. He has been with the Department for 12 years, starting as a Correctional Officer at Zephyrhills C.I. in 1978.

In 1992, Mr. Becker assisted in taking over the responsibility of placing inmates into Reality House. Within a period of two weeks, Becker had Reality House at 100% capacity with a waiting list of over 20 inmates. Also in 1992, Mr. Becker's office took over the responsibility of placement into and out of the Community Tier III Substance Abuse Program. Because of his hard work and administrative abilities, more inmates are receiving substance abuse treatment now than ever before in the history of the substance abuse program. Also, Becker has been greatly involved in developing the Community Work Release Goal System, Permanent Party Placement System, and reducing the escape rate from the work release program.

CESA Volunteer of the Year

Edna M. Wagner, Vista Coordinator, has been selected as Correctional Education School Authority (CESA) Volunteer of the Year.

Ms. Wagner created the Citizen Volunteer Tutoring program at Hillsborough C.I. in 1989, and it has become an integral part of that institution's overall education program. The program provides citizen volunteer tutors who are recruited from the local communities and inmate tutors who are trained to help other inmates. This program fulfills a need that cannot be met by our conventional structured classrooms. Due to budget constraints, this program provided a service which cannot be funded through CESA.

Through speaking to local social clubs and churches, Ms. Wagner has recruited many former teachers and other professional people who have volunteered their expertise. She schedules meetings between the inmates and the tutors, and has been very successful at preparing the tutors to operate safely and effectively in a prison environment. To top it off, she has managed to maintain a high level of morale and enthusiasm among the tutors and inmates, which is a constant challenge.

Under Ms. Wagner's leadership, the citizen volunteer tutors have taught students who are dyslexic and felt they could not learn. Some who were unable to read at all or who were reading at a fifth grade level are preparing for the GED exam.

Department Volunteer of the Year

Hazel Richmond, a volunteer at Lake C.I. since 1988, was chosen 1992 Volunteer of the Year for the Department of Corrections.

Ms. Richmond has been instrumental in overseeing the institution's extensive library tutoring program. She has maintained this nearly full time for four years and is considered staff by the education personnel there. Her assistance includes providing training and administrative leadership for numerous community volunteers.

Ms. Richmond is well known and admired for her innovative and "will do" attitude. Currently, for instance, she is pursuing resources and instructors for art classes as well as being continually responsive to the training needs at Lake C.I. She exhibits acceptance of operating procedures and requires this of the tutors that she recruits. For certain, she is consistent in her commitment.

According to Superintendent Don Dean, Lake C.I. would not have a literacy program without the efforts of Ms. Richmond. "She brings to our volunteer program depth, a quality responsive to genuine need, community support and a high degree of professionalism," he said.

Correctional Statistics

In the pages that follow, statistical information is provided on offenders in the custody of, or supervised by, the Florida Department of Corrections. This information is organized into two sections: Inmate Statistics and Statistics on Offenders Under Community Supervision. Each section is then divided into three distinct populations: admissions during fiscal year 1991-92, the status population as of June 30, 1992, and releases during FY 1991-92.

The statistics reflect salient features of offenders, in particular, their demographic characteristics as well as aspects of their personal and criminal histories. It should also be noted that some data are the result of self-reporting and are subject to validity problems.

Statistical information from previous reports is available upon request from the Bureau of Planning, Research & Statistics, 2601 Blair Stone Road, Tallahassee, Florida 32399-2500; telephone (904) 488-8430 (SunCom 278-8430).

This annual report departs from previous reports in the way in which it deals with missing data. In past reports, missing data were proportionately redistributed in the tables, making estimates of some of the reported numbers. This report documents the unavailable data while computing percentages on the valid cases only.

Inmate Admissions

This section details the characteristics of inmates sentenced to Florida's prisons during FY 1991-92 (July 1, 1991 to June 30, 1992). The final annual admissions count of 34,524 is based on accumulated monthly figures generated at the end of the month. The total admissions of 33,982 used for statistical analysis in this section are based on data generated at the end of the fiscal year. The difference in these two figures reflects the constant updating and verifying of the inmate data base. The chart below reflects the dramatic increase in prison admissions over the past decade and the fact that there has been a decline over the past year.

Death Row Population

The state of Florida was given the authority to execute inmates by the 1923 Legislature, and the following year Frank Johnson was the first inmate ever executed by the state. Male inmates under sentence of death are housed at Florida State Prison in Starke, and female inmates reside at Broward C.I. in Pembroke Pines. The sole method of execution in Florida is the electric chair. The executioner is an anonymous, private citizen who is paid $150 per execution.

This section details the death row population over the last 10 years, the most frequent counties of conviction and the nature of additions and removals from death row.

Inmate Releases

This section includes statistics on the number of inmate releases by specific type of release during FY 1991-92. Additionally, the number of transfers between institutions is reported.

Releases are grouped into two broad categories: "Releases" and "Temporary Releases." Releases are those whose term of incarceration has been completed. Temporary releases are those who have not completed their term of sentence and will return to an institution.
