Law Enforcement Code of Ethics

As a Law Enforcement Officer, my fundamental duty is to serve mankind; to safeguard lives and property; to protect the innocent against deception, the weak against oppression or intimidation, and the peaceful against violence or disorder; and to respect the Constitutional rights of all men to liberty, equality and justice.

I will keep my private life unsullied as an example to all; maintain courageous calm in the face of danger, scorn, or ridicule; develop self-restraint; and be constantly mindful of the welfare of others. Honest in thought and deed in both my personal and official life, I will be exemplary in obeying the laws of the land and the regulations of my department. Whatever I see or hear of a confidential nature or that is confided to me in my official capacity will be kept ever secret unless revelation is necessary in the performance of my duty.

I will never act officiously or permit personal feelings, prejudices, animosities or friendships to influence my decisions. With no compromise for crime and with relentless prosecution of criminals, I will enforce the law courteously and appropriately without fear or favor, malice or ill will, never employing unnecessary force or violence and never accepting gratuities.

I recognize the badge of my office as a symbol of public faith, and I accept it as a public trust to be held so long as I am true to the ethics of the police service. I will constantly strive to achieve these objectives and ideals, dedicating myself before God to my chosen profession . . . law enforcement.

POLICE DEPARTMENT

Honorable Mayor and City Council

City of El Paso, Texas

Dear Council members:

I hereby respectfully submit the Police Department's Annual Report and Statistical Summary for 1977.

I am proud to report the overall crime index for El Paso in 1977 showed a significant decrease over the years 1975 and 1976. Crimes against persons decreased 5.9% as compared with 1976, and crimes against property was reduced 2.7%. Overall crime for El Paso declined 2.8%; the lowest point in the last three years. The increase in manpower, equipment, and progressive community related programs have undoubtedly played a large part in the overall reduction of crime in El Paso.

With the continued growth of the city, the El Paso Police Department will strive for a greater reduction of crime, and the best police service available anywhere in the country.

Sincerely,

William E. Rodriguez

VICE AND INTELLIGENCE DIVISION

CAPTAIN GERALD PRICHARD

The Intelligence Section was recently combined with the Vice Division, and the combined division is headed by a captain who reports directly to the Chief of Police. The Vice Division deals with violations of gambling and prostitution laws. Vice also inspects the city bars for liquor law violations.

The Intelligence Section maintains up-to-date files on any and all subversive criminal activity within the city, or any criminal activity which could be detrimental to the safety of lives and property.

The Internal Affairs Section, a component of the Vice and Intelligence Division, reports directly to the Chief of Police. The Internal Affairs Section investigates citizen complaints and other administrative complaints received within the police department. Internal Affairs may also investigate other municipal complaints at the request of the mayor.

ADMINISTRATIVE AIDE

An atmosphere of trust, cooperation and mutual respect of the working needs of the media and the police are vital and necessary goals of this department.

In an effort to nurture such a relationship between the media and our department, and to facilitate the common objective of serving the community, the Chief of Police has designated his Administrative Aide as Public Information Officer for the department.

Responsibilities of this new position include:

1. Preparation of news releases for radio, TV, and the press.
2. Conducting press conferences and interviews.
3. Preparation of departmental guidelines for the dissemination of news.
4. Certain public speaking engagements.
5. Handling of police-media conflicts.

MR. GREG PINE

LEGAL ADVISOR

Mr. Gregory B. Pine became the El Paso Police Department's Legal Advisor in March of 1977. Mr. Pine's job is to provide legal assistance in administrative and operational matters of the police department; provide continuing legal training at all levels within the department; and maintain legal liaison with other law enforcement agencies.

PLANNING AND RESEARCH DIVISION

Planning and Research Division may be considered the heart of administration. All police administrators are constantly called upon to make decisions. The wisdom of those decisions will depend, in large measure, upon the information and advice available to them. If decisions are made without proper analysis of facts, or without regard for standard practices developed as a result of research, the chances are that they will be poor, or at the best, mediocre decisions. The Planning and Research Division is organized for a systematic and intelligent process by which important policies, procedures, and/or techniques are identified, studied and resolved.

Planning and Research was assigned 72 projects during the year, and completed 61 of the projects with 11 pending. Over 275 various questionnaires from Police Departments around the nation were answered in 1977.

BUDGET & FINANCE DIVISION

A division of the Administrative Bureau, Budget and Finance is responsible for the Police Department's fiscal budget and expenditures. The Payroll Section, which comes under the Budget and Finance Division handles the payroll disbursements for all police department employees. Both Budget & Finance Division and the Payroll Section report directly to the Administrative Bureau Commander.

TRAINING DIVISION

A detachment of the Administrative Bureau, the Training Division is in charge of training new police recruits, as well as conducting in service training for seasoned police officers. The Training Division also conducts firearms training and firearms qualifications for all officers the year round.

Headed by a Captain, this division performs one of the most important functions within the Police Department; providing the Police Department and the City with the best officers available.

PERSONNEL

1 Captain, 1 Lieutenant, 1 Sergeant, 1 P.S.S.O., 2 Patrolmen, 1 Clerk Typist II, 1 Firing Range Attendant

INSPECTIONS DIVISION

The Inspections Division had its beginning this year, and was set up as a staff function operating under the direction of the Chief. Inspections conduct general, special and spot inspections to assure complete compliance with objectives, policies and procedures, departmental orders, and rules and regulations of the El Paso Police Department.

TRAFFIC DIVISION

CAPT. ROGER MILLER

The Traffic Division is operated within the Uniform Operations Bureau of the El Paso Police Department and is principally concerned with the prevention and investigation of traffic accidents. There are approximately one-thousand four-hundred miles of dedicated roadway, eleven hundred of which are paved city streets, within the incorporated limits of the City of El Paso. The division's responsibility for traffic safety and enforcement encompasses all public streets and alleys that lie within the city boundaries.

Headed by a captain, the Traffic Division is responsible for the following sections:

The Accident Investigation Section - investigates the majority of traffic accidents within the city. Hit and run investigators also work under the A-I section.

The Auxiliary Section - three wheel motorcycles work in the downtown area and help alleviate traffic problems. Meter Maids and Traffic Controllers are also a part of the Auxiliary Section.

Accident Record Section - responsible for all traffic accident reports, the Accident Record Section makes copies of accident reports available to involved drivers and their insurance companies.

Breathalyzer Technician - maintains the alcoholic Breathalyzer Equipment and ensures that all breathalyzer operators are current on their certification.

Enforcement Section - this section includes all two-wheel motorcycles, freeway traffic units, radar units, safety education officers, and the traffic analyst.

SAFETY EDUCATION SECTION

The Safety Education section, a subsidiary of the Traffic Division, is composed of five officers. The primary duty of these officers is the safety of school children in and around the schools, as well as to and from schools. The Safety Education Detail serves three school districts in El Paso. The El Paso Independent School District, Ysleta Independent School District, and the El Paso Diocese of Catholic Schools. In addition, officers serve several day care centers and private schools. The officers work closely with the Traffic and Transportation Department and school district officials in determining the establishment of safety zones and the corresponding protective markings and signs.

At the beginning of the school year, the officers assist school officials with organizing and training of the School Safety Patrols. Approximately 3000 boys and girls participate in this program. Officers then indirectly supervise these programs throughout the school year. Safety Education Officers are also responsible for the training and supervision of fifteen civilians that are hired by the city as part-time crossing guards.

During the first of the school year, officers give a Stranger/Pedestrian Program to children in the 1st thru 3rd grades. Another scheduled program includes honoring the Patrol Person of the Year on television or radio. The child is then given a tour of the police station, and then he or she is taken to a Lions Club meeting where they are treated to lunch. A bicycle safety program is given to the upper grades (4 thru 6) toward the end of the school year. In the 1976-77 school year approximately 110 scheduled safety programs were given by each officer. In addition, each officer gave a large number of unscheduled programs. One such program is the Winnie the Pooh and Otto the Auto program. The presentation of this program has doubled since the 1976-77 school year. Officers are also required to make numerous public appearances before military, civic, and television audiences. In 1977 officers made approximately 150,500 personal contacts. The demand placed on this detail requires an interest in traffic safety and youth programs which extend beyond normal duty hours.

COMMUNITY SERVICES DIVISION

CAPT. RODNEY VUGTEVEEN

A division of The Uniform Operations Bureau, The Community Relations Division, Youth Services Division, and the Crime Prevention Sections were combined in 1977 to form the Community Services Division. Since all three divisions deal directly with the public and the community as a whole, it was felt that these three areas could easily be combined.

The following is a brief description of each section:

Community Relations - presently operating five storefront offices in the city, Community Relations maintains a close relationship between the surrounding community and the Police Department.

Youth Services - Youth Services handles the majority of juvenile problems and attempts to instill a positive relationship between the juvenile, the parents, and the Police Department.

Crime Prevention - There are three general areas that Crime Prevention is involved in; Public Awareness, Public Education and Public Participation. These areas include a Speakers Bureau, Public Information Programs, and many others. Included are security surveys for residential and commercial establishments. Operation Identification and Friends For A Safe Neighborhood meetings are another aspect of the overall program that has gained wide public support.

YOUTH SERVICES SECTION

SCHOOL RESOURCE OFFICER UNIT

The School Resource Officer (SRO) Program was recently implemented as a cooperative effort of the Police Department and the two Independent School Districts within El Paso. The goal is to assist the intermediate school age children in a better understanding of the law and its enforcement to deter them from the potential for crime and delinquency.

In October 1976, the Police Department and school administrators collectively set forth a controlled experiment whereby three (3) random intermediate schools were polled to determine the children's attitudes towards police, the law, and regulations in general. The three schools showed significant negativism. A police officer was then placed within two of the schools to assist, counsel and provide a source of information for the students. After a six month period, the students were again polled and it was found that the two schools with officers showed a positive attitudinal change while the control school indicated no change.

The school administrators, along with the Police Department, determined which intermediate schools would utilize the S.R.O. Program and September 1977, was the actual starting period.

In its first year, the program allowed for six officers. These officers were provided space within six schools into which they would report respectively to their school and work daily. The officers were also given a list of "feeder schools" in their assigned areas where periodic presentations and counseling were to be conducted. In addition, an area high school would be contacted to help older students in possible career development.

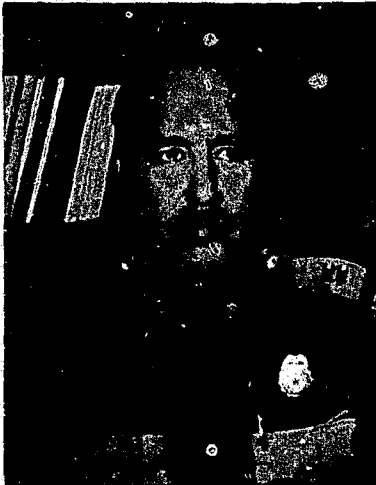

The officers incurred additional responsibility. They are to attend the Parent-Teacher Association (P.T.A.) meetings, sporting and social events, and other related activities enabling communication with the parents or guardians of these children. Some of the SRO's have initiated social clubs to encourage participation. They invite students into these clubs making it very clear that academics, athletics or previous social endeavors are not considered. This is to invite those children that do not possess specialized development and, who in the past, were not afforded this opportunity.

The SRO Program has been very successful during the first half of the 1977-1978 school year with school administrators, teachers and parents proclaiming excellent results. It has provided an impetus for expansion which will be given added support by funds allocated through a State Grant. The successes have reflected in better communication by youth. Increased interest in the community and the services that can be provided will continue to be the underlying theme of the Police Department in general, and the School Resource Officer, specifically.
