C. Court Monitoring Program for Elderly

* One top organization priority for 1979 is programming designed specifically to aid the elderly crime victim. We are currently in the process of organizing this effort with the help of local law enforcement and local office of RSVP and would be most interested in information on what other communities are doing to help deal with this serious problem.

Costs?

We have training materials with guidelines to working with all victims of crime at a cost of $10. We have films which we present to the Community Senior Citizens free of charge. We have also received free brochures from different departments that specialize in crime prevention in the home since the older citizens need to learn not to be so trusting with strangers, locks, etc. All of our services are free to the individuals.

The New York State Office for the Aging (NYSOFA) provides training to law enforcement officials in the special needs of the elderly as part of crime prevention instruction, and provides technical assistance to law enforcement personnel and Area Agencies on Aging in crime prevention and the elderly. Also NYSOFA develops crime prevention programs for the elderly and monitors criminal justice programs designed for the general public to ensure that the elderly are being well served. As a member of the New York State Crime Control Planning Board, Mrs. Lou Glasse, NYSOFA Director, has focused resources on the problem of victimization of older persons, a priority designated by the Governor and the Board in the 1979 Comprehensive Crime Control Plan. Currently NYSOFA is jointly administering a program with the NYS Office of Crime & Delinquency Prevention targeted in five areas of the State, to educate older persons in crime prevention techniques, and to install secure locks on the homes of low income seniors.

The School of T'ai Chi Chuan offers a 16 or 20 hour training program especially designed for the elderly
with non-strenuous physical movements and exercises.
(Also appropriate for convalescents as long as they can stand with support of cane/walker.) This work increases the individual's psychological as well as physical ability to avoid victimization and minimize injury.
