RANDALL M. DANA State Public Defender

The Honorable James A. Rhodes Honorable Members of the General Assembly Honorable Justices of the Supreme Court of Chio

In accordance with Section 120.03 of the Ohio Revised Code, it is the pleasure of this Commission to submit to you the Annual Report of the Ohio Public Defender Commission for fiscal year 1982. This Report concerns the operations of the Commission, the State Public Defender Office, county public defender offices, and assigned counsel systems.

During the past year the Commission continued to fulfill its statutory mandate of "providing, supervising, and coordinating legal representation" for indigent individuals accused of crimes in the state of Chio. Much progress was made in the face of the severe challenge posed to the entire indigent defense system by the re-enactment of the death penalty in Chio in October, 1981. As is discussed in this Report, the existence of the death penalty in Chio threatens to overwhelm budgets and workloads in every county. The Commission will closely monitor the impact of this new law over the coming year.

This past year marked the first full year for new State Public Defender Randall M. Dana, and two new members, Sally Bloomfield and Thomas Phillips, joined the Commission. The infusion of new personnel has maintained enthusiasm and supplied fresh ideas as the program has grown.

The Commission, through the ongoing county evaluation program, is persisting in identifying problem areas and developing solutions. Evaluations of indigent defense systems in five counties were performed during the past year, revealing problems with early representation, ineffective assistance of counsel, inadequate attorney compensation, and lack of compliance with Commission Rules and reimbursement standards.

The Commission would like to thank you for your assistance over the past six years as the Ohio program has taken shape. We look forward to many more years of cooperation in striving to reach our goal of ensuring every indigent defendant an effective, quality defense at the lowest possible cost.

Sincerely,

Everett Burton Chairman

Ohio Public Defender Commission

RANDALL M. DANA State Public Defender

It is with pleasure that I address you at the completion of the first year of my term as the Ohio Public Defender. The year has been one that has seen many accomplishments by this office as well as the county public defender systems. Early in the year we were able to return to and maintain the 50% funding level for the county reimbursement programs. Although the crisis in the state's budget forced a reduction of the staff of the state public defender office by nearly one-third, we still provided quality representation and assistance to county public defender offices and private appointed counsel in more cases than in any previous year. We were able to anticipate and prepare for the re-enactment of the death penalty by helping to organize and participate in a statewide system of defense lawyers who provide quality representation to those difficult, expensive, and time consuming cases.

Although many of the goals that we set before us have been attained, there is still much to be accomplished in the coming years. When I was appointed Ohio Public Defender, I pledged to provide the highest quality representation possible to all indigent persons charged with a crime in the most efficient and cost effective manner possible. To achieve this goal I must continue, with the cooperation of the Ohio Public Defender Commission and all branches of state and county government, to examine and to refine the manner in which indigent defense is provided in the state. We must continue to improve and increase, if possible, the services provided by the state office to counties who cannot afford to provide them. We must continue to assist attorneys in the preparation of trials and appeals using our own attorneys and investigators and the newly created brief bank. We also must continue to develop the funds and other resources needed to provide representation in death penalty cases.

I would encourage all persons who receive this 1982 Annual Report to contact me with your suggestions on how we might better provide our constitutionally mandated service and achieve our goals. Thank you.

RANDALL M. DANA Ohio Public Defender

BACKGROUND: THE OHIO INDIGENT DEFENSE SYSTEM

Prior to 1976, the state of Ohio did not have a coordinated, consistent, and uniform system for the provision of legal services to indigent individuals accused of crimes. Many counties were not appointing counsel in all cases required by the United States Supreme Court. Some counties had well organized legal aid and defender programs, while others used ad hoc assigned counsel systems with attorneys working for no or meager compensation. Following the U.S. Supreme Court decision in Argersinger v. Hamlin (1972), which mandated state provision of legal counsel to indigent persons accused of crimes which might result in imprisonment, states began to develop and implement state defender systems.

In 1975, after two unsuccessful attempts, the Ohio General Assembly enacted Amended Substitute H.B. 164. This Act (Chapter 120 of the Ohio Revised Code) created the Ohio Public Defender Commission and the State Public Defender Office and provided for a joint state-county program for the provision of legal services to indigent individuals. Ohio thus opted for a mixed system, rejecting full state control and local autonomy, in favor of a cooperative system with joint funding and provision of services shared between the state and the counties.

Appointments to the Ohio Public Defender Commission were made by the Governor and the Chief Justice of the Ohio Supreme Court in January, 1976, and the initial meeting of the Commission was held in April of that year. The first State Public Defender, J. Tullis Rogers, was appointed on October 5, 1976, and the initial staff members of the State Public Defender Office were hired in December, 1976.

1982 HIGHLIGHTS OF THE OHIO PUBLIC DEFENDER COMMISSION

The Ohio Public Defender Commission met for regular quarterly meetings during fiscal year 1982 on July 31 and November 7, 1981, and on March 13 and June 12, 1982. In addition, a special meeting was held on November 30, 1981.

The initial meeting set the tone for an eventful year. The Commission accepted the resignation of J. Tullis Rogers as State Public Defender, expressing sincere appreciation for his services, and then selected Randall M. Dana as Mr. Rogers' successor. During the course of the meeting that followed, the Commission discussed the impact of the imminent re-enactment of the death penalty in Ohio, reviewed the Commission policy on the refusal to allow state reimbursement for dependency, neglect, and abuse cases in Juvenile Courts, and received a report and a draft Ohio Evaluation Model from Mr. Howard Eisenberg, Executive Director of the National Legal Aid and Defender Association. The Commission established a Subcommittee to study the Model, and to report at the next meeting on suggested revisions.

The November 7, 1981 meeting provided an opportunity for the Commission to review the 1982-83 biennial budget for the State Public Defender Office prior to the delayed passage of the state budget bill by the Chio General Assembly. In addition, the Subcommittee on Evaluation submitted its Report, detailing changes made in the Chio Evaluation Model. After approval of the revisions, the Commission then formally accepted the Model for distribution to county public defenders, commissioners, and common pleas judges, and instructed Mr. Dana to begin evaluations utilizing the redrafted Model. Commissioners also considered a draft of H.B. 684, legislation prepared by the Office to correct several deficiencies in Chapter 120 of the Revised Code; developed a position on the elimination of the Criminal Costs Subsidy Account in the Office budget; and discussed further options for amending the Chio Rules of Criminal Procedure so as to require that judges utilize the Commission Rule on attorney qualifications prior to the appointment of counsel.

A special meeting of the Commission was held on November 30, 1981, at which State Public Defender Dana resigned his four-year fixed term appointment, and was reappointed to serve at the pleasure of the Commission. This was necessary to take advantage of a legislative change in section 120.04 of the Revised Code.

At the March 13, 1982 meeting, which was held in Cincinnati in order to honor outgoing Commissioner Timothy Garry, the Commission received and discussed the findings contained in the Evaluation Reports of Erie, Richland, Knox, and Sandusky Counties. The Commission also further considered their policy regarding distribution of Evaluation reports, and decided that each report was to be released to the County Commissioners, the Presiding Judge of Common Pleas Court, the Public Defender if one exists, and the County Bar Association in each county evaluated. State Public Defender Dana briefed the Commissioners on the status of the case of Linch v. Rogers, in which the Belmont County Commissioners sued for a declaratory judgment and an injunction against OPDC Rule 120-1-10 on attorney qualifications. The plaintiffs prevailed in the Belmont County Court of Common Pleas, and the case is being appealed by the Attorney General in the Seventh District Ohio Court of Appeals. Mr. Dana also provided reports on the status of the Office budget, initial work on a recoupment program for the marginally-indigent, and on the release of Ohio Attorney General Opinion 81-089, in which it was held that the State Public Defender is solely responsible for the day-to-day operations and management control of the State Public Defender Office.

At the final regular meeting of the year, on June 12, 1982, a Subcommittee of the full Commission was appointed to review the results of all county evaluations performed to date, and to recommend appropriate courses of action to rectify general or specific problems discovered. The Subcommittee chair was Sally Bloomfield, and other members named were Thomas Phillips and Lizabeth Moody. Also, the Commission directed State Public Defender Dana to pursue legislative and executive support for an indigent defense system involving (1) full state funding; (2) operating out of a special account/rotary rather than the state General Revenue Fund; (3) with authority for the Commission or State Public Defender to set a statewide fee schedule applicable in all counties; (4) with revenues derived from a special court cost levied upon felony and misdemeanor convictions. Finally, the Commission determined as a matter of policy that the State Public Defender in his 1984-85 biennial budget proposal should modify the manner in which the Criminal Costs Subsidy operates so as to not create an incentive for incarceration, or failing that, to transfer the account to another state agency, or simply abolish the account.

STATE PUBLIC DEFENDER OFFICE

Management

Randall M. Dana was appointed Chio Public Defender at the July 31, 1981, meeting of the Chio Public Defender Commission, with the appointment effective August 1, 1981. Fiscal year 1982 thus marked his first full year as Chio Public Defender.

There were a number of other management changes during the year in addition to the selection of a new Ohio Public Defender. In May, 1981, Elizabeth Manton was named Chief Counsel; as such she is the first staff member to hold that position since Randall Dana in October, 1980. In June, 1982, James V. Moroney was appointed First Assistant State Public Defender, with responsibility for all administrative matters and non-legal personnel. In November, 1981, Scott P. Kenney was named Chief Trial Counsel, a new position reporting to the Chief Counsel with responsibility for all trial-level cases. Finally, David Stebbins was hired in February, 1982, as Death Penalty Counsel, in charge of all in-house death penalty cases as well as holding the responsibility for monitoring all other such cases statewide.

The Table of Organization on the following page lists all filled positions in the State Public Defender Office. As of June 30, 1982, there were thirty-nine (39) filled positions in the Office; as of June 30, 1981, the Office had forty-two (42) filled positions. Staffing levels have steadily declined since fiscal year 1980, when a high of fifty-six (56) positions was reached. Staff reductions have resulted from a combination of executive and legislative budget cuts and changing management priorities. Modest staff increases are being sought in the upcoming 1984-85 budget proposal, primarily in the appellate and death penalty areas in the legal services division of the Office.

Budget

Fiscal year 1982 presented somewhat of a recovery from the disastrous level of funding received in the previous fiscal year. Despite a real decrease in Personal Services funding, resulting in the loss of three fulltime positions as of June 30, 1982, appropriations for Maintenance and the Indigent Defense Subsidy were raised substantially.

The additional Indigent Defense reimbursement funds permitted an increase in the effective rate of state reimbursement from 33.1% in 1981 to 42.2% in 1982. Because of a long delay in the enactment of the 1982-83 biennial state budget by the Ohio General Assembly, the traditional 50% rate of reimbursement was not restored until August, 1981, the fifth month of fiscal year 1982 reimbursement. For this reason, the effective rate of reimbursement for the entire year was 42.2%. A return to the 50% rate was the top budget goal of the State Public Defender Office during 1982-83 budget deliberations, and the achievement of that goal during 1982 was extremely satisfying.

* share

It was also significant that 1982 was the first fiscal year since the creation of the Ohio system in 1976 in which no Federal funds were received for any purpose by the State Public Defender Office.

Criminal Costs Subsidy funds showed no growth from 1981 to 1982 as a result of a concentration of budget cuts on that account.

A total of $560,697 was unalloted in 1982 as a result of a total of 5.5% in executive and legislative budget cuts from original 1982 appropriations in Am. Sub. H.B. 694. Of this reduction, $133,425 was taken in the Indigent Defense Subsidy and $266,850 in the Criminal Costs Subsidy. The remainder was applied to the operating budget.

- Fund 11 is the State's General Revenue Fund; expenditures from this Fund are supported by general tax dollars and fees raised by the state;
- Fund 10 is the State's Federal Special Revenue Fund; expenditures from this Fund are derived from Federal grants, which were received during fiscal year 1982 for the reimbursement computer program and for the investigative staff;

- 3. Fund 08 is the State Special Revenue Fund; amounts expended from this Fund during fiscal year included the payment of a legal intern under the Ohio State University Work-Study Program and the provision of legal services to immates at the Columbus Correctional Facility pursuant to the consent decree in Stewart v. Rhodes;
- 4. Expenditures from the Special Purpose Account represent state match required for Federal grants received by the Office during fiscal year 1982:
- 5. The Indigent Defense Subsidy Account contains funds for reimbursement of county expenditures on defense of indigent individuals in criminal cases, as provided by sections 120.18, 120.28, and 120.33 of the Revised Code.
- 6. The Criminal Cost Subsidy Account provides 100% reimbursement of a variety of court and certain law enforcement costs incurred by the counties; a county is entitled to reimbursement from this Account when a defendant is indigent, convicted of a felony, and sentenced to a state penal institution (for statutory authority on the program itself, see sections 2949.17 through 2949.19 of the Revised Code).

Legal Services

One of the primary functions of the State Public Defender Office is the direct provision of legal services to indigent individuals accused of crimes in Ohio. Section 120.05 of the Revised Code authorizes the State Public Defender to establish a central office, which was created in 1976 at 20 East Broad Street in Columbus. Section 120.06 of the Revised Code permits the State Public Defender and office staff to provide legal services in a variety of matters including representation of adults accused of serious offenses under section 120.06(A)(1), of juveniles in juvenile proceedings involving a potential loss of liberty under section 120.06(A)(2), of persons incarcerated in state penal institutions under section 120.06(A)(4).

As of June 30, 1982, the Legal Services staff of the Office included the State Public Defender, who does not carry a caseload on a regular basis, and nine (9) attorneys in the central office, plus one attorney who manages the Legal Advisors' Program at Columbus Correctional Facility. There are four investigators, and four legal interns assigned to the central office, with four more legal interns in the Legal Advisors' Program.

Table II presents the caseload of the Office for fiscal year 1981 and 1982 by type of proceeding; as is apparent, caseload grew 10.5% during 1982, almost exclusively in the parole revocation category. Since the 1982 caseload figures shown are cases closed from July 1, 1981, through June 30, 1982, Table II also includes cases pending as of July 1, 1982, in order to yield a more comprehensive picture of the Office workload.

Table III reveals the 1981 and 1982 caseloads of the Office, by source of case referral. Aside from parole revocation hearings assigned by request of the Adult Parole Authority, referrals from individual defendants remain the greatest source of cases for the Office.

The Legal Advisors' Program at the Columbus Correctional Facility marked its second full year of operation in 1982. The Legal Advisory Program was a direct result of a provision in the consent decree entered in the case of Stewart v. Rhodes. Stewart was a lawsuit filed over unconstitutional conditions at the Columbus Correctional Facility (formerly the Ohio Penitentiary). One provision in the consent decree mandated that the Department of Rehabilitation and Correction provide forty hours per week of access to legal advice and guidance to inmates at the Columbus Correctional Facility. After consultation with various parties, the Department decided to contract with the State Public Defender Office for the latter to deliver the mandated services. The Office assigned a staff attorney to manage the Program, and hired four legal interns to staff it. Workload by type of case assistance is indicated in Table IV.

The number of instances of case assistance rendered by the managing attorney and four interns almost tripled from 1981 to 1982, from 3,805 in 1981 to 11,266 in 1982. Thought is being given to expanding this type of program to other Ohio penal institutions in the future.

An additional investigator was added to the Legal Services staff in 1982, in response to the number of trial-level cases accepted by the Office and to the demand from assigned counsel for investigative assistance. Table V indicates the workload of the investigative staff for 1981 and 1982.

The number of full investigations per investigator dropped drastically in 1982 as a result of the complexity of cases handled. One case alone, the Rucker aggravated murder case in Wooster, required the fulltime services of two investigators for six weeks during 1982.

As Table V evidences, the number of polygraph examinations dropped significantly. This was due to a policy change brought on by the death of Examiner Gene Demopoulos on October 11, 1981, and the transfer of Examiner James Krakora to the Bureau of Criminal Investigation of the Attorney General's Office on May 8, 1982. Rather than replace either examiner, the decision was made to contract with private examiners for examinations at very low fees, and then refer all service requests to such private examiners, with the fees to be paid by the requesting defender office or assigned counsel. A drop in the number of polygraphs requested through the Office was therefore anticipated with the adoption of this policy.

Legislative Services

In May, 1982, Assistant State Public Defender Jill Stone was appointed Legislative Liaison for purposes of monitoring all activity in the Ohio General Assembly relative to criminal law and procedure. This marked the first significant dedication of Office personnel to representation of defense-oriented positions in the House and Senate Judiciary Committees. As of the preparation of this Report, Ms. Stone has mobilized concerted involvement of defense-oriented organizations in the amending of bills relating to increasing penalties for driving while intoxicated, to weakening current speedy trial requirements, and to creating a plea and verdict of guilty but mentally ill.

Am. Sub. H.B. 694, the 1982-83 biennial state budget bill effective November 15, 1981, affected several important modifications in the Ohio indigent defense program. For one, the position of Ohio Public Defender was made to serve at the pleasure of the Ohio Public Defender Commission, rather than a four-year fixed term appointment. Also, a ninety-day time limit for submission of assigned counsel certificates, and a sixty-day time limit for county public defender monthly operating statements, were placed among the reimbursement provisions of Chapter 120 of the Revised Code. Finally, a proration of funds mechanism for the Criminal Costs Subsidy was placed in Section 2949.21 of the Revised Code; this lowers the percentage of reimbursement when the appropration is insufficient to pay the statutory-specified rate. Section 2949.201 operates in the exact manner as Section 120.34 applies to the Indigent Defense Subsidy.

By the end of fiscal year 1982, Am. Sub. H.B. 684 had passed the Ohio House of Representatives and is awaiting approval by the Senate Judiciary Committee. This bill, drafted by the State Public Defender Office, is the first revision of Chapter 120 apart from biennial budget legislation since 1976. Am. Sub. H.B. 684 consolidates existing provisions on the type of cases in which a right to counsel under Chapter 120 exists. The bill also allows counties a contract option for a public defender office as opposed to the creation of another agency of county government. Counties will be able to contract with law schools, bar associations, legal clinics, or non-profit corporations for the delivery of defender services. In addition, the power of the Ohio Public Defender Commission to set standards regarding the qualifications of public defenders and assigned counsel is statutorily established in an explicit manner.

It is expected that Am. Sub. H.B. 684 will receive Ohio Senate approval in November, 1982, and should be effective in January, 1983.

COUNTY EVALUATIONS

The county evaluation program during 1982 became an integral component of the State Public Defender Office operations. The Ohio Public Defender Commission formally adopted the Ohio Evaluation Model, developed by Howard Eisenberg of the National Legal Aid and Defender Association, in order to standardize the evaluation process and to allow for inter-county comparisons of data and observations. Also, during 1982 the evaluation program was brought in-house, and the first evaluation without NLADA contract assistance was performed in May, 1982.

To date fifteen (15) Ohio counties have had evaluations of their indigent defense systems performed. During fiscal year 1982, eight county reports were submitted to the Commission, and substantial work on two other counties had been accomplished by June 30, 1982. Reports on Mahoning, Athens, Ross, and Washington Counties were received at the July 31, 1981, Commission meeting, while evaluations of Knox, Erie, Richland, and Sandusky were presented at the March 13, 1982, meeting. In addition, reports on Ashtabula and Montgomery Counties were close to completion as of the close of the fiscal year.

County evaluations are used by the Commission and the Office to gather information about the programs being operated by Ohio counties, and to identify and rectify problems. The reports have generally been useful to all participants in the systems that have been evaluated.

Because previous Commission Annual Reports have not reported on the results or findings of the evaluations, the following Table presents a list of counties evaluated, the date each report was submitted to the Commission, and a synopsis of the most significant findings or conclusions in each report.

COUNTY REIMBURSEMENT

The State Public Defender office operates three reimbursement programs out of two separate subsidy accounts:

The Criminal Costs Subsidy Account allows 100% reimbursement to counties for a variety of costs incurred in criminal cases in which the defendant is indigent, is convicted of a felony, and is sent to a state penitentiary or reformatory. "Cost bills" prepared by the clerks of the eighty-eight county Common Pleas Courts for such cases sent to the Ohio prisons for verification of prisoner transportation costs and then are transmitted to the State Public Defender Office. The Office audits the bills and vouchers them for payment of 100% of allowable costs to the counties involved.

Table VII indicates Criminal Costs Subsidy payments by county for fiscal years 1981 and 1982.

The law regarding the Criminal Costs program was amended in November, 1981, to require proration in the event of insufficient appropriations. It is apparent that the current 100% rate will not be maintained in fiscal year 1983.

The Indigent Defense Subsidy Account provides funds for up to 50% reimbursement of county expenditures for assigned counsel program and local public defender offices. Eighty-seven counties maintain assigned counsel programs, while thirty counties have public defender offices (twenty-seven single county offices and one joint county office with three counties participating).

With an assigned counsel program (Ohio Revised Code section 120.33), a court with jurisdiction over a case assigns an attorney from a panel or listing of available attorneys to provide representation to a defendant who has been found indigent. After legal services have been provided, the attorney prepares and submits one of the applicable forms to the Court for the approval of the judge who presided over that proceeding. The form is then submitted to the county auditor, who pays the attorney the requested fees and expenses as approved by the judge. The auditor then files a monthly report of all attorney certificates paid during that month with the State Public Defender Office. The certificates are audited and up to 50% (the exact percentage is determined by the availability of funds and the number of cases submitted for reimbursement) of all reported costs are then reimbursed to the county general fund.

Table VIII shows the state share of county expenditures for assigned counsel programs for fiscal year 1981 and 1982.

The thirty counties with public defender offices prepare monthly reports on office expenses. These reports are submitted to the county auditors for verification and then to the State Public Defender Office. The Office then audits the reports and reimburses up to 50% of all allowable costs.

Table IX shows the state share of county expenditures for public defender offices for fiscal years 1981 and 1982.

The overall rate of reimbursement for the Indigent Defense Subsidy in 1982 was 42.2%, up from 33.1% in 1981. The rate of reimbursement is now back to 50%, since August, 1981.

CCUNTY PROGRAMS

Chapter 120 of the Ohio Revised Code allows counties three options for the delivery of criminal defense services to indigent individuals: (1) the formation of a county public defender office pursuant to sections 120.13 through 120.18 of the Ohio Revised Code; (2) the establishment of a joint county public defender office among two or more counties under sections 120.23 through 120.28 of the Ohio Revised Code; and (3) the utilization of an assigned counsel system with a panel of participating private attorneys accepting cases for compensation determined by a fee schedule promulgated by the board of county commissioners in each county. The latter program is available by virtue of section 120.33 of the Ohio Revised Code.

In twenty-seven of eighty-eight Ohio counties, a combination of the above program options is utilized, with defender offices and assigned counsel systems sharing the indigent defense workload. Knox County has an exclusive public defender system (except for rare conflict of interest cases), while Lake County does assign a portion of cases to private attorneys, but does not submit expenditures associated with these cases for state reimbursement.

Fiscal year 1982 saw the first full year of operation for the Auglaize County Public Defender Office, and the formation of the Coshocton County Public Defender Office (effective July 1, 1982).

Table X indicates the names of the county public defender in each county which has selected that option, the term of each defender, and the address and phone number of each office.

Table XI reveals the composition of the staffs of the twenty-eight county public defender offices. Discounting for 1981 purposes the counties which did not file their 1982 Annual Reports, attorney staffs increased from 166 to 179 positions, or a percentage gain of 7.8%. This represented a slightly higher rate of increase from 1981 to 1982 than the 7.3% rate of staff growth from 1980 to 1981. Non-attorney staff positions remained comparable to previous years.

Table XII indicates county public defender office caseload by type of case. Again discounting for the offices (Erie, Geauga, Montgomery, and Wood) which reported in 1981, but not in 1982, and for Portage County which did not report in 1981, but did submit for 1982, there was an overall 14.7% increase in total caseload, and an overwhelming 50.7% rise is felony caseload. As aforementioned, this should be considered in light of the 7.8% growth in attorney staffs from 1981 to 1982.

Notes:

Table XIII, the final statistical table relating to county public defender offices, lists total expenditures by "personal services" (salaries and fringes) and "other operating" (rent, utilities, supplies, transcripts, etc.) categories for each office, and a cost-per-case for each office. Cost-per-case was calculated by dividing the Total Cost per office by Total Cases from Table XII.

It should be noted that cost-per-case should not be exclusively relied-upon for inter-office comparisons. The type of cases handled by a county public defender office will likely determine the cost-per-case measure, in that offices with high felony and appellate caseloads should evidence high costs-per-case while offices with a concentration in misdemeanor, juvenile, and felony arraignments will show low costs-per-case. Extensive evaluation beyond mere consideration of cost-per-case is warranted prior to drawing conclusions about the cost-efficiency of a county public defender office.

Total Cost for all offices in fiscal year 1982 grew 8.7% (again netting out counties which did not report in 1982 or 1981), but overall cost-per-case declined 5.3%, from $98.37 in 1981 to $93.24 in 1982.

Overall, in 1982 the metwork of county public defender offices functioned well. With attorney staffs growing at a 7.8% rate, total costs increased only 8.7%, cost-per-case actually decreased 5.3%, and felony caseload increased 50.7%. This level of performance should provide an incentive to many counties concerned about rising indigent defense costs to consider the creation of a single or joint county defender office to handle all or part of the caseload.

The final Table in this Report indicates the caseload and costs of assigned counsel systems in Ohio counties. Table XTV shows the number of cases and associated fees and expenses by felonies, misdemeanors, juvenile, and other (appeals, post conviction, parole and probation, habeas corpus, extradition, miscellaneous) categories. 1982 marks the first year that information at this level of detail is available from the State Public Defender Office computer system. Changes in reporting format and capacity were made late in fiscal year 1981. Overall assigned counsel caseload grew 2.2%, while cost-per-case grew from $213.29 to $228.96, a rise of 7.3%.

A LOOK TO THE FUTURE

Fy 1982 was a year marked by many achievements by the Ohio Public Defender Commission. Reimbursement of the county programs returned to the statutory maximum of 50% from a low of 33% the previous year. New public defender offices were established in Auglaize and Coshocton Counties and the existing county public defender offices continued to improve the quality of representation provided. However, there are still a great many problems that the Commission must deal with in the coming biennium. Some of these problems are outlined below.

Funding. Although the General Assembly voted the Commission the amount of money necessary to provide 50% reimbursement for FY 1982-83, there is a growing concern that the costs of providing indigent defense are increasing at a much too rapid rate. The FY 1984-85 biennial budget currently being prepared reflects a 50% increase in the cost of providing services. Although the General Assembly enacted a temporary law providing a $3.00 court cost that was designed to offset the funds requested in our current budget, it is unclear whether it will make this provision of the law permanent or consider increasing it to cover the anticipated fiscal requirements in the next budget. It will therefore be the responsibility of the Ohio Public Defender Commission to insure that the money that is appropriated for defense services is spent in the most effective possible manner. This may require looking at the public defender offices and assigned counsel systems in each county more closely to determine if services could be provided in a more efficient manner.

State Public Defender Office. The new State Public Defender has a different philosophy as to the role of a statewide office. Clearly it is prohibitively expensive for the attorneys on the staff of the State Public Defender to travel around Ohio trying cases that could be more efficiently and economically handled by local assigned counsel. It is anticipated that the only trial involvement of the State Public Defender Office in the future will be in death penalty cases or in very complex cases in which local counsel are unwilling to accept appointments. The State Public Defender Office will continue to provide representation to all persons incarcerated in Ohio penal institutions and will increase their appellate role especially in those cases where difficult legal issues are involved and there is an opportunity to change current law.

In the future, the Ohio Public Defender will be involved more and more in providing services to appointed counsel and county public defenders. These services will include investigative support, assistance by state public defenders in the preparation for trial, appeal in death penalty cases, and with the creation of the brief bank, assistance in preparing motions and appeals that would require many hours of research if done by each individual attorney.

Attorney Compensation. The issue of raising salaries for public defenders and their assistants will be reviewed in the next year. Legislation may be required to assure that they are compensated at a level at least equal to that of the county prosecutor and his assistants.

In several counties, each individual public defender carries a caseload that is greater than the prosecutors within that county simply because there are more prosecutors than public defenders. Further, the Commission intends to consider the issue of whether or not assigned counsel should be paid at a uniform rate throughout the state rather than at varying rates set by the county commissioners and the judiciary of each individual county. Data submitted to the State Public Defender reflect that two attorneys in adjacent counties providing the exact same representation are compensated at dramatically different rates. The maximum fee schedule adopted pursuant to section 120.04(B) (8) of the Revised Code has been effective in over 25% of Chio's counties. The remaining counties generally reimburse at a lower rate.

Improvement of Services at the County Level. Pursuant to Chapter 120 of the Revised Code, the Ohio Public Defender Commission and the State Public Defender have conducted evaluations in 15 of Ohio's 88 counties. In virtually every county system evaluated there were either major, or in some cases minor deficiencies in the areas of compliance with state statutes and rules, qualifications of attorneys accepting appointment pursuant to Ohio Public Defender Commission Rule 120-1-10, early representation, provision of investigation and forensic services, and the need for assistance from the State Public Defender in the provision of appellate and postconviction representation. The Ohio Public Defender Commission has begun work on a plan to improve these very important areas.

Determination of Indigency and Partial Payment by Client. Coupled with the need to examine the rates of compensation of attorneys and public defenders engaged in indigent defense representation is the problem of determination of indigency. With the rapidly expanding costs of the public defender system, members of the General Assembly must be disuaded from a belief that representation is currently being provided to indigent defendants who could afford to retain private counsel. Data does not yet exist either to support or refute whether this is an accurate impression or not. There appears to be a need, however, for county and joint county public defenders to be given more authority in determining who receives publicly compensated counsel. Additionally, the advisabilty and wisdom of adopting a system of partial payment and recoupment from clients who have some money to pay an attorney, but not enough to retain private counsel, requires examination. A more careful screening of clients and an analysis of partial payments and recoupment systems may well be an area in which public funds are conserved, thereby assuring that the efforts of local assigned counsel and public defenders directed towards those clients who are truly indigent.

Legislation and Continuing Legal Education. Until recently, the Ohio Public Defender Association, a non-profit federally funded organization of public defenders were active in monitoring legislative activity as well as in providing continuing legal education for public defenders. That organization no longer exists and its efforts must be assumed by the State Public Defender. Funds to provide for continuing legal education in all areas of criminal law for assigned counsel and public defenders will also have to be sought. Additionally, the current rash of mandatory sentencing and other "tough" criminal legislation is going to have the effect of increasing trials and therefore increasing costs in the public defender system. A coordinated effort organized by the Ohio Public Defender must be made during the coming year to counter this type of legislation and educate the public on the futility of enacting these types of laws.

Death Penalty. The General Assembly re-enacted a death penalty law last year to replace the statutes declared unconstitutional in the Lockett decision of 1978. The General Assembly considered all of the recent Supreme Court Decisions concerning the death penalty and passed a law that is complex and that demands long and involved trials. It has become apparent that the cost of representation under the new law will far exceed initial expectations. To date, there has been an average of five to six death penalty indictments a month across the state. The cost to the public defense system in Ohio will be staggering.

In order to avoid bankrupting the system, the State Public Defender Office has been developing a centralized office for the collection of information and expertise on the death penalty. In this manner assistance can be provided to attorneys who are appointed to death penalty cases and a higher level of representation at far less cost than would be possible without such a system can be provided. To this end, it is anticipated that the State Public Defender's Office will participate primarily in appellate and post-conviction work on death penalty cases. The Office will also provide assistance in the form of motions, briefs, research and strategy at the trial level to appointed attorneys who request assistance.

END
