STUDY DESCRIPTION

Ι

The National Justice Agency List, 1980: Federal and Indian Tribal Agencies Subfile is part of a master name and address file created and maintained by the Bureau of the Census for the Bureau of Justice Statistics. The file was first created in 1970 and the Bureau of the Census has continued to maintain and expand the file. The master file contains information for ten separate sectors, Prosecution and Civil Attorney Sector, Public Defender Sector, Law Enforcement Sector, Court Sector, Probation and Parole Sector, Juvenile Corrections Sector, Local Adult Corrections Sector, State Adult Corrections Sector, Other Justice Sector, and Federal and Indian Tribal Sector. The ICPSR has the separated master file into ten logical subfiles, corresponding to the ten sectors in the master file.

Every file has variables containing the names and addresses of agencies in that section and information relevant only to the agencies within the sector. For the Federal and Indian Tribal Agencies Subfile, the information includes the type of justice sector (i.e., Courts, Law enforcement, etc.), whether the agency is a Federal or Indian Tribal agency, and the employment size of the agency. If the agency is a correctional facility the data may also contain information on the number of inmates.

There are approximately 800 Federal and 200 Indian tribal justice agencies included in this subfile. The names and addresses of agencies at the district or regional levels of organization are included in addition to the headquarters offices located in Washington. Federal agencies are classified by major justice sector following the same quidelines used for State and local agencies. Listed in every State is at least one Federal law enforcement agency (U.S. Marshals Service), one prosecution/ civil attorney agency (U.S. Attorney's Office), one court (U.S. District Court) and one probation/parole agency (U.S. Probation Office.) Examples of the types of agencies listed in each Federal sector are given in the Appendix. Indian tribal justice agencies are listed in 15 States and are distributed throughout all justice sectors. The types of tribal agencies represented include tribal police departments or sheriff's offices, prosecutor's offices, probation and parole agencies, tribal courts, jails, and the Bureau of Indian Affairs area offices listed under "other justice".

DATA COLLECTION PROCEDURES

The original survey of criminal justice agencies was conducted in January of 1970 by the U.S. Bureau of the Census. Each county in the United States and each municipality and township with a 1960 population of 1,000 or more persons was surveyed to identify the names and addresses of the criminal justice agencies and institutions administered by local government. The survey was conducted by mail canvass for the governmental units mentioned above.

In-house research, which included reference to a variety of published government documents such as budget statements; organization manuals; and State, county, and municipal directories, was conducted to compile State-level government criminal justice agencies. Also, in addition to the mail survey, the Bureau of the Census used in-house research to collect information for 54 counties with a 1960 population of 500,000 or more and for 43 cities with a 1960 population of 300,000 or more.

The Bureau of the Census has continued to maintain and upgrade the master file. In 1971, data from the National Survey of Court Organization was added to the master file to expand and refine the listing of state and local court systems and their locations, and to obtain information on their legal jurisdiction. In 1974, the file was upgraded to include units of government with less than 1,000 population. The file was also expanded to include the county name, and population data. In 1976, Federal and Indian tribal agencies were added to the master file based on in-house research. Two other sectors were also added to the master file, Probation and Parole Agencies sector and Prosecution and Civil Attorneys sector. The information for these two sectors was obtained from the Directory Survey of Probation and Parole Agencies and the Directory Survey of Prosecution and Civil Attorneys Agencies respectively. In 1978, information from the National Census of Jails, which was conducted in February of 1978, was added to the master file. In addition, name, address, and data corrections detected through ongoing research activities are accumulated and made to the file on a quarterly basis.

FILE STRUCTURE

The National Justice Agency List, 1980: Federal and Indian Tribal Agencies Subfile data are available from the ICPSR in two formats: a card-image file and an OSIRIS dataset. The card-image file contains several decks per case in a format based on 80 column punched cards. The data are sorted by agency with all decks for a case together in ascending order.

PART NUMBER 1 COURT S 2 STATE A FACI 3 PUBLIC 4 PROBATI SUBF 5 "OTHER" 6 LOCAL AL FACIL 7 PROSECUT AGENC 8 FEDERAL AGENC 9 LAW ENFO 10 JUVENILE

The OSIRIS data file can be accessed directly through software packages or programs which do not use the OSIRIS dictionary by specifying the tape locations of the desired variables. These tape locations are given in the OSIRIS dictionary-codebook.

្រា

The study was processed according to the standard ICPSR processing procedures. The data were checked for illegal or inconsistent code values which, when found, were recoded to OSIRIS missing data values. No consistency checks were performed. Statements bracketed in "[" and "]" signs in the body of the codebook were added by the processors for explanatory purposes.

GA.

The OSIRIS dictionary gives the format and other information for each variable in the OSIRIS data file. The dictionary or dictionary-codebook file is used in conjunction with the OSIRIS software package. The OSIRIS data file is constructed with a single logical record for

Some analysis software packages (including the OSIRIS software package) require that certain types of data which the user desires to be excluded from analysis be designated as "MISSING DATA," e.g., inappropriate, unascertained, unascertainable, or ambiguous data categories. Although these codes are defined as missing data categories, this does mean that the user should not or cannot use them in a substantive role if so desired.

STATE - Agencies are assigned to the State level if they are administered by the State, if the agencies serve more than one county, or if the agencies are administered in districts not having the same boundaries as single counties, municipalities, or townships.

COUNTIES - Agencies administered by the county or serving more than one local government within the county are assigned to the county government. Organized county governments are found throughout the Nation, except in Connecticut, Rhode Island, the District of Columbia, and limited portions of a number of other States. In Louisiana, the counties are officially designated as parishes; in Alaska, the boroughs resemble county governments in other States.

APPENDIX

 NOTE 1 ***

CLASSIFICATION OF GOVERNMENTAL UNITS

Agencies on the National Justice Agency List are assigned to a level and type of government according to the criteria summarized below. Some of the type designations are not applicable for certain subfiles. The following table summarizes this information:

TYPE OF GOVERNMENT

MUNICIPALITIES - Agencies are assigned to the municipal level of government if they are administered by a municipality. This category includes all active governmental units officially designated as cities, villages, boroughs (except in Alaska) and towns (except in the six New England States, Minnesota, New York, and Wisconsin). This concept generally corresponds to the incorporated places category recognized in the Census Bureau reporting of population and housing statistics. Any agencies in unincorporated places are not covered.

TOWNSHIPS - This category includes governmental units located in 20 States. They are officially designated as towns in the six New England States, New York, and Wisconsin; plantations in Maine; locations in New Hampshire; and townships in other areas. In Minnesota, the terms town and township are used interchangeably with reference to township governments. Excluded from coverage are unorganized township areas, townships coextensive with cities where the city governments have absorbed the township functions, and townships known to have ceased to perform criminal justice functions.

SPECIAL DISTRICTS - Special districts make up the most varied area of local government. They are administratively and fiscally independent of any other unit of government and are usually established to perform a single function (e.g., fire protection, transportation, housing, recreation); however, some have been given authority by their enabling legislation to provide several kinds of services. Law enforcement agencies are the only justice agencies administered by special districts.

INDEPENDENT SCHOOL DISTRICTS - These are school districts that are administratively and fiscally independent of any other unit of government. As with special districts law enforcement agencies (school and campus security) are the only justice agencies administered by independent school districts.

FEDERAL AND INDIAN TRIBAL AGENCIES* - Federal agencies are classified by major justice sector following the same guidelines used for State and local agencies. Indian tribal justice agencies are listed in 15 States and are distributed throughout all justice sectors. The types of tribal agencies represented in the name and address listing include tribal police departments or sheriff's offices, prosecutor's offices, probation and parole agencies, tribal courts, jails, and the Bureau of Indian Affairs area offices listed under "other justice".

REGIONAL levels of organization are included in addition to the headquarters offices located in Washington. Listed in every State is at least one Federal law enforcement agency (U.S. Marshals Service), one prosecution/civil attorney agency (U.S. Attorney's Office), one court (U.S. District Court) and one probation/parole agency (U.S. Probation Office).

REGIONAL AGENCIES - An agency serving more than one local government was generally assigned to the next highest level of government; however, regional jails and juvenile correctional facilities are assigned to the largest governmental unit served.]
