INTRODUCTION

Crime and Delinquency in California is an annual publication of the Bureau of Criminal Statistics mandated by Penal Code Sections 13010 and 13012. It is a descriptive report containing information on the nature and extent of crime and delinquency in California and describes the manner in which criminal justice is administered in the state.

The information presented in this report is based largely upon data compiled from reports submitted to the Bureau on a regular basis by state and local criminal justice agencies. The major sections of the report are:

- Crimes
- Arrests
- Adult Felony Arrest Dispositions
- Adult Corrections
- Juvenile Justice System
- Criminal Justice Agency Expenditures and Personnel
- Citizens' Complaints Against Peace Officers

A major change was effected in this year's report. A 1983 law raised the lower limit of felony theft from $200 to over $400. In 1983, theft was removed from the BCS measure of crime, the California Crime Index, so that felony trend data can be maintained. A section on larceny-theft follows the California Crime Index offenses.

 This logo, which appears in the report, will alert the reader to featured analyses or items of special interest.

The Appendix contains a glossary of criminal justice terms, known data limitations, and arrest offense codes.

In addition to this report, a supplemental report series, Criminal Justice Profiles, is published annually in late October. Individual reports are prepared for the state and each of the 58 counties. They contain ten-year trend data for the state and individual counties as well as annual county and jurisdictional data for the report year. Criminal justice data collected by the Bureau not provided in either this report or the Profile series may be obtained on a special request basis.

CRIMES

WHAT IS A CRIME?

A crime is an act specifically prohibited by law, or failure to perform an act specifically required by law, for which punishment is prescribed.

- Felonies are serious crimes punishable by death or by imprisonment in state prison.
- Misdemeanors are less serious crimes punishable by imprisonment in county jail and/or fine.
- Infractions are the least serious crimes and are usually punishable by a fine.

HOW ARE CRIMES COUNTED?

All crimes are not counted on a nationwide, or in California on a statewide, scale. Instead, there are two methods used as indicators of the scope and fluctuations in crime.

Victimization Studies have been conducted regularly by the Federal Government since 1972. The method is similar to public polling, in which a representative sample of households and commercial organizations is selected and their occupants interviewed to determine the crimes which have been committed against them and/or their premises. The amount of crime is determined by the responses of the representative sample being expressed in percentages of the entire population.

The Uniform Crime Reporting (UCR) Program was inaugurated 50 years ago and is administered on the national level by the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI). It provides criminal statistics for use in law enforcement administration, operation, and management. In California, this program is administered by the Bureau of Criminal Statistics (BCS).

As part of this program, law enforcement agencies throughout the state report information to BCS on "selected" offenses. Offenses reported are classified by UCR definitions designed to eliminate differences among various states in penal code definitions of crimes. This information is processed and forwarded to the FBI for use in its annual publication, Crime in the United States.

The offenses, selected because of their seriousness, frequency of occurrence, and likelihood of being reported to the police are: willful homicide, forcible rape, robbery, aggravated assault, burglary, larceny-theft, motor vehicle theft, and arson. Except for larceny-theft, UCR does not count misdemeanors and infractions.

BCS differs slightly from the FBI in presentation of crime data. The California Crime Index (CCI) is comprised of willful homicide, forcible rape, robbery, aggravated assault, burglary, and motor vehicle theft. These crimes are all felony offenses. When a 1983 law raised the lower limit of felony theft from $200 to over $400, BCS dropped theft ($200 and over) from its measure of crime. Arson data have been collected only since 1980. Therefore, to maintain felony trend data in the CCI, only six offenses are included.

WHAT IS A CRIME RATE?

Crime rates describe the number of events reported to the police per 100,000 population. In effect, the number of crimes is divided by the total population. For instance, in 1983 there were 85,824 robberies in California and the population was 25,174,000, equalling a robbery crime rate per 100,000 population of 340.9

BCS Crime Index charts pertaining to each crime or group of crimes were developed from information provided in Table 1 (page 82).

For any given BCS Crime Index chart, the index number above each bar represents the crime rate for the year indicated in terms of its relationship to the 1974 crime rate, set at 100. The reason for selection of 1974 as the base year was that it was the earliest year in which data were available in a consistent format.

Percent changes shown on index charts were calculated from rates per 100,000 population. Because of rounding, percentages may differ slightly if calculated from index numbers.

WHAT ARE THE UCR LIMITATIONS?

The UCR Program does not account for all crimes. For example, not all crimes reported to the police are counted in the UCR system and some crimes are not reported to the police; for instance, narcotic sales and prostitution. Some Index crimes go undetected and therefore unreported. Another reason for under-reporting of serious crime is the hierarchy rule.

Most offenses occur singly as opposed to many crimes being committed simultaneously. However, if several offenses are committed at the same time, only one is reported through UCR. For example, if a person were to enter a bar, rob eight patrons, and kill the bartender, only the homicide would be reported.

The hierarchy rule assigns a value to each of the crimes and requires that only the single most serious offense be reported. Arson is the exception. Since arson frequently occurs in conjunction with other crimes reported in the UCR system, it was felt that valuable information would be lost using the hierarchy rule.

Given these qualifications, what is the value of the UCR Program? Since its conception in 1930, UCR has become virtually nationwide. All California law enforcement agencies report UCR data. Quality control surveys conducted by BCS staff, since the mid-1970s, have shown a high level of compliance with UCR reporting standards. The number of participants and the amount of data collected under the stringent rules of the system make it a prime indicator of the amount and fluctuation in serious crime.

CAN JURISDICTIONAL COMPARISONS BE MADE WITH UCR DATA?

UCR data are collected nationwide in a manner that standardizes the definitions of offenses. However, a number of factors can influence crime counts in particular jurisdictions. These factors should be considered when using UCR crime statistics, especially for comparison purposes.

- Variations in composition of the population, particularly age structure.
- Population density and size of locality and its surrounding area.
- Stability of population with respect to residents' mobility and transient factors.
- Economic conditions, including job availability.
- Cultural conditions, such as education, recreation, and religious characteristics.
- Climate.
- Effective strength of law enforcement agencies.
- Administrative and investigative emphases of law enforcement.
- Policies of other components of the criminal justice system (i.e., prosecutorial, judicial, correctional, and probational).
- Attitudes of citizenry toward crime.
- Crime-reporting practices of citizenry.

WHAT IT ALL MEANS

It means crime is not an easy thing to measure. In California, however, due to the high quality of its police agencies and their close cooperation with the State Department of Justice, the UCR is, and has been for many years, an extremely good indicator of the amount and fluctuation in crimes reported to the police.

Willful Homicide — The willful (nonnegligent) killing of one human being by another.

From 1982 to 1983:

- The rate of willful homicides reported decreased 6.2 percent.

From 1978 to 1983:

- Knives or cutting instruments accounted for 25.1 percent (655).
- Other weapons, such as blunt objects, personal weapons (hands, fists, feet), and "other" accounted for 20.4 percent (533).

HOMICIDES INVOLVING PEACE OFFICERS, 1974-1983

Because of the relatively small numbers of both peace officers killed in the line of duty and justifiable homicides by peace officers each year, annual percent changes are unreliable for detecting meaningful trends. Consequently, these data have been analyzed over a ten-year period.

Peace officers killed in the line of duty

From 1982 to 1983:

- The number of peace officers killed increased from 6 to 9.

From 1974-1978 to 1979-1983:

- There was a 20.8 percent decrease in the number of peace officers killed in the past five years compared to those killed in the previous five years (42 and 53, respectively).

LARCENY-THEFT, 1978-1983

Larceny-theft - The unlawful taking, carrying, leading, or riding away of property from the possession or constructive possession of another. (Except embezzlement, fraud, forgery, and worthless checks.)

A 1983 law raised the lower limit of felony theft from $200 to over $400. In order to maintain trend data, theft was removed from the BCS measure of crime (formerly Seven Major Offenses and now California Crime Index). A high-volume crime, larceny-theft comprises 52 percent of the FBI Crime Index (excluding arson).

From 1982 to 1983:

- The rate of total larceny-theft crimes reported decreased 9.0 percent.

From 1978 to 1983:

- Total larceny-theft crimes increased 1.9 percent in rate.

In 1983, of 866,992 larceny-theft crimes reported:

- Theft over $400 in value accounted for 20.1 percent (174,623).
- Theft $200 to $400 in value accounted for 15.7 percent (135,827).
- Theft $50 to $199 in value accounted for 26.9 percent (233,116).
- Theft under $50 in value accounted for 37.3 percent (323,426).

crimes

When dollar-value categories of larceny-theft were indexed to 1974 and analyzed from 1978 through 1983, the following was noted.

From 1982 to 1983:

- The rate of larceny-theft under $50 in value decreased 10.5 percent.
- The rate of larceny-theft $50-$199 in value decreased 13.6 percent.
- The rate of larceny-theft $200 and over in value decreased 3.4 percent.

From 1978 to 1983:

- Larceny-theft under $50 in value decreased 18.7 percent in rate.
- Larceny-theft $50-$199 in value decreased 10.5 percent in rate.
- Larceny-theft $200 and over in value increased 61.5 percent in rate.

Differences in the rate changes of these categories of theft are attributed primarily to inflation.

STOLEN AND RECOVERED PROPERTY, 1982-1983

As part of the UCR Program, law enforcement agencies submit monthly reports to the Bureau of Criminal Statistics of the estimated dollar value of property stolen and property recovered. In these reports, type of property is categorized in a uniform manner. However, agencies do not report these data consistently and frequently vary in their methods of estimating the dollar value of stolen property. Furthermore, property stolen and property recovered in any given time period are not identical. For these reasons, dollar values of such property must be viewed as rough approximations.

From 1982 to 1983, it was found that:

- There was a 3.3 percent decrease in the dollar value of all property reported stolen.

Source: Table 9.

PERCENT OF VALUE BY TYPE OF PROPERTY STOLEN AND RECOVERED, 1983

Source: Table 11.

- There was a .9 percent increase in the dollar value of motor vehicles reported stolen.
  - There was a 5.4 percent decrease in the dollar value of other property reported stolen.
- And,
- There was a 3.4 percent increase in the dollar value of all property reported recovered.
  - There was a 4.6 percent increase in the dollar value of stolen motor vehicles reported recovered.
  - There was a 1.7 percent decrease in the dollar value of other stolen property reported recovered.

In 1983, of the total dollar value of all property reported stolen:

- Stolen motor vehicles accounted for 34.2 percent.
- "Other" property accounted for 65.8 percent.

And, of the total dollar value of property reported recovered,

- Stolen motor vehicles accounted for 82.2 percent.
- "Other" property accounted for 17.8 percent.

When the dollar value of property recovered in 1983 was related to that of property stolen in 1983, it was found that:

- The recovery ratio of all property stolen was 28.9 percent.
- The recovery ratio of stolen motor vehicles was 69.3 percent.
- The recovery ratio of other property stolen was 7.8 percent.

Despite the limitations of law enforcement agency data discussed earlier, the recovery ratios of 1983 were similar to those of 1982.

In 1983, the value of property reported stolen exceeded $1.5 billion, and the value of property recovered was nearly $436 million.

ARSON, 1982-1983

Arson—Any willful or malicious burning or attempting to burn, with or without intent to defraud, a dwelling house, public building, motor vehicle or aircraft, personal property of another, etc.

Law enforcement agencies began submitting arson crimes data in 1979; however, 1980 was the first year of complete reporting. Experience with the investigations of suspected arson crimes and their classification has impacted the level of reporting; therefore, caution should be exercised when comparing annual data.

As shown in Table 13 (page 89),

From 1982 to 1983:

- The number of arson crimes reported decreased 12.7 percent.
- The value of property damage decreased 22.5 percent.

In 1983, of 17,705 arsons reported:

- Structures accounted for 40.5 percent (7,163).
- Mobile property accounted for 25.0 percent (4,423).
- Other property accounted for 34.6 percent (6,119). Included in this category are crops, timber, fences, signs, etc.

In 1983, of the total dollar value of all property damaged:

- Structures accounted for 88.7 percent.
- Mobile property accounted for 10.4 percent.
- Other property accounted for .9 percent.

ARRESTS

WHAT IS AN ARREST?

Arrests occur when persons are taken into custody because they are believed to have violated the law. Not all arrests result in persons being placed in jail. If not released by the arresting agency, many arrestees either post bail or are released on their own recognizance to appear in court at a later date. Others are issued citations, much like traffic tickets, which direct them to appear in court at a later date.

Arrests are divided into two major groups: adult arrests (18 years of age and older) and juvenile arrests. Adults and juveniles may be arrested for either felony-level or misdemeanor-level offenses. A felony-level offense can result in a sentence to state prison or death if the offender is convicted as an adult. A misdemeanor-level offense can result in a fine or a sentence of up to one year in a county jail.

Juveniles, because of their status, may also be arrested for truancy, incorrigibility, runaway, and curfew violations. These are commonly referred to as status offenses.

HOW ARE ARRESTS REPORTED?

Unlike crimes, which are classified by nationwide Uniform Crime Reporting (UCR) standards, arrests are reported by California Penal Code definition of the offense. This may cause some differences in the definition of certain crimes and the arrests for that crime. For instance, theft from a locked automobile is a burglary by California Penal Code definition. The crime would be classified and reported as a theft under UCR definition, while an arrest for this offense would be reported as burglary under California Penal Code definition.

All California law enforcement agencies report arrest and citation information to the Bureau of Criminal Statistics (BCS) on the "Monthly Arrest and Citation Register," which lists each arrestee; includes information on age, sex, and race/ethnic group; and specifies the "most serious" arrest offense and law enforcement disposition. Both arrest and citation information are included in BCS arrest statistics.

ARREST RATES

Most data basic to this section of the report are presented in Tables 14, 20, and 22. Arrest rates are based on the number of arrests per 100,000 population. BCS Arrest Index charts pertaining to arrests at a particular level (felony or misdemeanor), arrests for status offenses, or arrests for a specific crime or group of crimes were developed from information provided in these tables.

For any given BCS Arrest Index chart, the index number above each bar represents the arrest rate of the year indicated in terms of its relationship to the 1974 arrest rate, set at 100.

Percent changes shown on index charts were calculated from rates per 100,000 population. Because of rounding, percentages may differ slightly if calculated from index numbers.

Rates per 100,000 population at risk and percent changes in rate may differ from those previously published because of revised population estimates released by the Population Research Unit of the California Department of Finance.

LAW CHANGES

On January 1, 1983, a law change raised the lower limit of felony theft from $200 to over $400. This law was last changed in 1923, when the lower limit was raised from $50 to $200.

On July 1, 1982, the law was changed to include driving under the influence of a drug with driving under the influence of intoxicating liquor or a combination of liquor and drugs (23152 and 23153 V.C.). Felony driving under the influence of drugs is now included in the felony "all other arrests" category. The effect of this law is negligible on changes in counts within offense groupings.

On January 1, 1976, the law was changed to stipulate that the possession of not more than one ounce of unconcentrated marijuana was a misdemeanor rather than a felony offense. The effects of this law were reflected not only in the decrease of total felony and felony marijuana arrest rates, but also in the increase of total misdemeanor and misdemeanor drug law violation arrest rates (Criminal and Delinquency in California, 1979).

In the early 1970s, federal monies were made available to establish programs that would divert status offenders from the juvenile justice system. Although this philosophy of "treatment by diversion" was not codified into law until 1977, it had a considerable impact on status offense statistics. Since 1974, there has been a general downward trend in status offense arrest rates.

ALL OTHER ARRESTS, 1978-1983

Total, Adult, and Juvenile

This category includes arrests for "other" felony offenses such as sex law violations, driving under the influence, weapons, and escape.

From 1982 to 1983:

- There was a 5.6 percent decrease in the rate of total arrests.
- There was a 5.6 percent decrease in the rate of adult arrests and a 5.3 percent decrease in the rate of juvenile arrests.

- There was a 27.3 percent rate increase in total arrests.
- There was a 28.1 percent rate increase in adult arrests and a 23.7 percent rate increase in juvenile arrests.

- Adult arrests accounted for 85.9 percent (42,506).
- Juvenile arrests accounted for 14.1 percent (6,970).

The rate increase in total drug law violations was largely due to increases in adult arrest rates for narcotics and dangerous drugs.

DISCUSSION OF CHANGES IN ARREST RATES BASED ON DIFFERENT AT-RISK POPULATIONS

An arrest rate is the ratio of the number of reported arrests to the population at risk. The three comparison populations used in the Arrests section of this report are: adults (18 years of age and over); juveniles (10-17 years of age); and total (10 years of age and over). If, in calculating periodic changes in arrest rates of any one of these three populations, the size of the population remained constant:

- The arrest rate in any given year would be larger than that of a previous year if the number of arrests reported that year was larger than that of the previous year.
- The arrest rate in any given year would be smaller than that of a previous year if the number of arrests reported that year was smaller than that of the previous year.

However, if the number of arrests remained constant and the size of the population changed,

- The arrest rate in any given year would be smaller than that of a previous year if the population increased.

- The arrest rate in any given year would be larger than that of a previous year if the population decreased.

Because both the number of arrests and the at-risk populations upon which adult and juvenile arrest rates are based are independent, one would not expect any relationship between the percent change in adult and juvenile arrest rates from one year to another. However, because total arrest rates are based on the sums of both adult and juvenile arrests and adult and juvenile at-risk populations, one would expect the percent change in the total arrest rate from one year to another to reflect percent changes in adult and juvenile arrest rates during the same time period. It does; but the relationship is complex. This complexity is attributed to the fact that percent change in the total arrest rate from one year to another is the result of independent changes in both the number of arrests and the at-risk populations of adults and juveniles in those years. Consequently, in some instances, it is extremely difficult to relate either the magnitude or the direction (positive or negative) of the change in the total arrest rate with those of changes in adult and juvenile arrest rates.

For example, in the analysis of total arrests on page 24, it was stated that from 1978 to 1983 there was a 7.1 percent increase in the total arrest rate, and, during the same period, there was a 13.7 percent increase in the adult arrest rate and a 20.0 percent decrease in the juvenile arrest rate.

The apparent inconsistency between changes in the total arrest rate and adult and juvenile arrest rates can best be understood by mathematically showing exactly how each occurred.

The raw data for the illustration which follows is taken from arrest data presented in Table 14 and annual at-risk populations shown in Table 58.

ADULT FELONY ARREST DISPOSITIONS

The Offender-Based Transaction Statistics (OBTS) System in California describes the aggregate experience of adults arrested for felony offenses from their arrest through final disposition. Data pertain specifically to the 201,158 reported adult felony arrests reaching final disposition in 1983. Because of underreporting, this number represents approximately 70 percent of all adult felony arrests receiving final dispositions in 1983. Varying degrees of underreporting also occurred in previous years. The Data Limitations Section of this report contains additional underreporting information. Despite underreporting, those arrest dispositions which were received generally describe the annual statewide processing of adult felony arrestees through California's criminal justice system.

The flow chart displays the felony arrest dispositions reported for 1983. After arrest, the subject is released by the arresting agency or referred to the prosecutor, who determines if enough evidence is available to justify filing a complaint. The prosecutor releases or refers the arrestee to court for adjudication. Either dismissal, acquittal, or conviction occurs at the court level.

A more detailed report on 1983 adult felony arrest dispositions will be published later this year.

Total Arrest Rate

For 1978, the arrest rate per 100,000 population at risk equals

$$\frac{1,431,835 \text{ (arrests)}}{19,470,437 \text{ (population at risk)}} \times 100,000 = 7,353.9 \text{ (arrest rate).}$$

For 1983, the arrest rate per 100,000 population at risk equals

$$\frac{1,690,544 \text{ (arrests)}}{21,470,619 \text{ (population at risk)}} \times 100,000 = 7,873.8 \text{ (arrest rate).}$$

From 1978 to 1983, the change in the arrest rate equals

$$\frac{7,873.8 - 7,353.9}{7,353.9} \times 100 = 7.1 \text{ percent.}$$

Adult Arrest Rate

For 1978, the arrest rate per 100,000 population equals

$$\frac{1,145,323 \text{ (arrests)}}{16,427,281 \text{ (population at risk)}} \times 100,000 = 6,972.1 \text{ (arrest rate).}$$

For 1983, the arrest rate per 100,000 population at risk equals

$$\frac{1,471,232 \text{ (arrests)}}{18,559,647 \text{ (population at risk)}} \times 100,000 = 7,927.0 \text{ (arrest rate).}$$

From 1978 to 1983, the change in the arrest rate equals

$$\frac{7,927.0 - 6,972.1}{6,972.1} \times 100 = 13.7 \text{ percent.}$$

Juvenile Arrest Rate

For 1978, the arrest rate per 100,000 population equals

$$\frac{286,512 \text{ (arrests)}}{3,043,156 \text{ (population at risk)}} \times 100,000 = 9,415.0 \text{ (arrest rate).}$$

For 1983, the arrest rate per 100,000 population equals

$$\frac{219,312 \text{ (arrests)}}{2,910,972 \text{ (population at risk)}} \times 100,000 = 7,534.0 \text{ (arrest rate).}$$

From 1978 to 1983, the change in the arrest rate equals

$$\frac{7,534.0 - 9,415.0}{9,415.0} \times 100 = -20.0 \text{ percent.}$$

ADULT CORRECTIONS

Adults convicted in California courts are usually placed under the jurisdiction of either the state correctional system or a correctional system operated by local government. The state correctional system provides both confinement and rehabilitative services through the California Department of Corrections (CDC), the California Youth Authority (CYA), the California Rehabilitation Center (CRC), and the California Department of Mental Health (CDMH). Local correctional agencies provide confinement and rehabilitative services for those sentenced to their care and also house persons awaiting trial or sentencing.

Supervision data are obtained annually by a one-day count of persons either in state and local institutions, or on parole, probation, or outpatient status.

- Parolees returned with new commitments accounted for 13.9 percent (3,217).

And,

- Commitments to CDC (prison) accounted for 93.4 percent (21,559).
- Commitments to CRC accounted for 3.5 percent (815).
- Commitments to CYA accounted for 3.1 percent (704).

JUVENILE JUSTICE SYSTEM

WHAT IS THE JUVENILE JUSTICE SYSTEM?

The juvenile justice system in California differs from the adult system in the type of offenders received and the manner in which it processes them.

TYPE OF OFFENDER

The juvenile justice system receives and processes persons under 18 years of age who have either violated criminal statutes or have committed "status offenses." Status offenses are those acts which are offenses only when committed by a juvenile, such as incorrigibility, truancy, and runaway.

JUVENILE JUSTICE PROCESS

The data shown in this report cover most of the referrals to the juvenile justice system. In 1979, ten counties began reporting in a pilot juvenile justice program which expanded statewide in 1980. The program requires the reporting of all delinquency referrals for both new and active cases. However, four large counties (Alameda, Los Angeles, San Diego, and Santa Clara) are still reporting in the old format that compiles information only on new referrals and some select subsequent referrals. Therefore, data on new referrals are statewide, while subsequent referral data are limited to 54 counties.

Complete subsequent referral data are shown in county profiles for the 54 counties. The Criminal Justice Profile series, a supplement to this publication, is published annually in late October.

System processes are shown in the flow chart. New referrals of law violators and status offenders are made to county probation departments by law enforcement agencies, schools, parents, and "other" sources.

NEW REFERRALS

New referrals are made when juveniles are not on probation or parole at the time of the referral. This does not imply that the juvenile has not previously been in contact with the criminal justice system.

From 1982 to 1983:

- The number of new referrals decreased 7.4 percent.

From 1978 to 1983:

- The number of new referrals decreased 18.2 percent.

In 1983, of 116,893 new referrals to probation departments:

- Law enforcement agencies referred 91.7 percent (107,158).
- Schools referred 1.0 percent (1,214).
- Parents referred .6 percent (666).
- "Other and unknown" sources referred 6.7 percent (7,855).

And, of the referrals,

- Males comprised 77.3 percent (90,400).
- Females comprised 22.7 percent (26,493).

 The number of new referrals has decreased 18.2 percent since 1978.

juvenile justice

On January 1, 1977, a major revision to the juvenile court law went into effect. The change did essentially two things: First, it encouraged the diversion of status offenders from the criminal justice system. The law change also stipulated that a status offender could not become a law violator solely because the juvenile failed to obey an order of the court. Second, it made certain law violators more responsible for their acts. The law also stipulated that juveniles 16 and 17 years old charged with specific felony law violations must be adjudicated in adult court unless it was determined they were amenable to treatment available through the juvenile court. These specific felonies are listed in Welfare and Institutions Code 707. Prior to this change, adjudication in adult court for these juveniles was contingent upon a determination of "unfitness" for juvenile court.

One major effect of these changes in the juvenile court law has been to reduce the number of status offender referrals to probation. Status offenders averaged 27.1 percent of all new referrals to the system for the three years prior to the juvenile court law revision (29.3 percent in 1974, 26.4 percent in 1975, and 25.7 percent in 1976). In the years after the revision, status offenders have averaged only 9.2 percent of all referrals. As shown in the chart, the law revision produced the greatest reduction in new status offense referrals in the first year (down from 25.7 percent in 1976 to 13.8 percent in 1977).

JUVENILE PROBATION CASELOAD

Juveniles are supervised by county probation departments on three levels of probation. They are placed on either informal probation or on non-ward probation, which cannot exceed six months; or on formal probation as wards of the court for an indeterminate length of time. The caseload count is taken on December 31 of each year.

As shown in Table 52 (page 130),

From 1982 to 1983:

- The number of juveniles on caseload status increased 10.9 percent.

And,

- The proportion of informal probation cases decreased from 12.3 to 10.4 percent.
- The proportion of non-ward probation cases decreased from 1.8 to 1.7 percent.
- The proportion of formal probation cases increased from 85.9 to 87.9 percent.

From 1978 to 1983:

- The number of juveniles on caseload status increased 24.8 percent.

And,

- The proportion of informal probation cases decreased from 18.1 to 10.4 percent.
- The proportion of non-ward probation cases decreased from 4.4 to 1.7 percent.
- The proportion of formal probation cases increased from 77.5 to 87.9 percent.

Of 67,236 juveniles on probation on December 31, 1983:

- Those on informal probation accounted for 10.4 percent (6,999).
- Those on non-ward probation accounted for 1.7 percent (1,132).
- Those on formal probation accounted for 87.9 percent (59,105).

JUVENILE DETENTION

County-level detention facilities are used to house juveniles prior to a petition hearing and to provide treatment after court or probation department determinations. These facilities are classified as "secure" and "nonsecure." Secure facilities, such as juvenile halls, camps, and ranches, are to be used solely for law violators. Status offenders may be held in a secure facility, prior to a hearing, for strictly limited time periods and under certain circumstances, such as locating and notifying parents, checking for warrants, or when the juvenile is a danger to himself or others. Nonsecure facilities, such as shelter care or crisis resolution homes, can be used for both law violators and status offenders. Detention data are obtained annually by a one-day count of juveniles in county-level detention facilities.

From 1982 to 1983:

- The number of juveniles in county probation detention facilities increased .5 percent.
- The number of juveniles detained in nonsecure facilities increased 15.7 percent, and those detained in secure facilities decreased 6.1 percent.

And,

- The number of males detained in nonsecure facilities increased 15.3 percent, and the number of females increased 25.3 percent.
- The number of males detained in secure facilities decreased 9.1 percent, and the number of females increased 15.0 percent.

In 1983, of 7,542 juveniles in county probation detention facilities:

- Those detained in nonsecure facilities comprised 34.5 percent (2,605).
- Those detained in secure facilities comprised 65.5 percent (4,937).

And,

- Males comprised 88.5 percent (6,672) of juveniles in county probation detention facilities.
- Females comprised 11.5 percent (870) of juveniles in county probation detention facilities.

And,

- Males comprised 96.0 percent (2,501) of the juveniles detained in nonsecure facilities.
- Females comprised 4.0 percent (104) of the juveniles detained in nonsecure facilities.

And,

- Males comprised 84.5 percent (4,171) of the juveniles detained in secure facilities.
- Females comprised 15.5 percent (766) of the juveniles detained in secure facilities.

CRIMINAL JUSTICE AGENCY EXPENDITURES AND PERSONNEL

Expenditure and personnel data were collected by the Bureau and grouped into the following criminal justice agency categories: law enforcement, prosecution, public defense, courts, and corrections.

Criminal justice agency expenditures are fiscal year data obtained from the Governor's Budget and publications by the State Controller's Office. These data include salaries and employee benefits, services, and supplies. They do not include monies derived from federal and state grants or expended for building construction.

EXPENDITURES, FISCAL YEARS 1977-78 - 1982-83

As shown in Table 54 (page 131),

From Fiscal Year 1981-82 to Fiscal Year 1982-83:

- Total criminal justice agency expenditures reported increased 8.1 percent.
- Law enforcement agency expenditures increased 8.8 percent.
- Prosecution agency expenditures increased 7.9 percent.
- Public defense agency expenditures increased 15.7 percent, the largest percent increase in any criminal justice agency category.
- Court expenditures increased 10.4 percent. Superior courts showed the largest increase in court expenditures (12.6 percent).
- Court-related expenditures increased 9.3 percent.
- State and local correctional agency expenditures increased 5.6 percent, with jail and rehabilitation showing the largest increase (11.9 percent).

From Fiscal Year 1977-78 to Fiscal Year 1982-83:

- Total criminal justice agency expenditures reported increased 85.4 percent.
- Law enforcement agency expenditures increased 88.8 percent. These expenditures accounted for over half of each year's total criminal justice agency expenditures.
- Prosecution agency expenditures increased 89.1 percent.
- Public defense agency expenditures increased 104.3 percent, the largest percent increase of any criminal justice agency category.
- Court expenditures increased 82.3 percent.
- Court-related expenditures increased 89.0 percent.
- State and local correctional agency expenditures increased 77.4 percent.

expenditures

In Fiscal Year 1982-83, of $5.4 billion expenditures reported by criminal justice agencies:

- Law enforcement agencies spent 55.7 percent ($3.0 billion).
- Prosecution agencies spent 5.3 percent ($281.2 million).
- Public defense agencies spent 2.1 percent ($111.9 million).
- Courts and court-related agencies spent 9.6 percent ($515.6 million). Courts spent $349.8 million and court-related agencies spent $165.8 million.
- State and local correctional agencies spent 27.4 percent ($1.5 billion).

PERSONNEL, 1978-1983

Personnel data were obtained from annual one-day counts of all authorized full-time employees. Proportions of sworn and civilian personnel to total law enforcement personnel for the years 1974 and 1978-1983 are shown in Table 56 (page 133). Also included is an index of total, sworn, and civilian law enforcement personnel for these years.

From 1982 to 1983:

- Total criminal justice agency authorized full-time personnel reported increased 2.0 percent.
- Law enforcement agency personnel increased 1.8 percent.
- Prosecution agency personnel increased 1.1 percent.
- Public defense agency personnel increased .4 percent.
- Court personnel increased 3.0 percent. Justice court personnel showed the only decrease in this category (6.3 percent).
- State and local correctional agency personnel increased 2.9 percent.

From 1982 to 1983, expenditures for categories of public defense and courts showed the largest percent increases. However, these agencies combined accounted for less than nine percent of each year's total criminal justice agency expenditures.

- Public defense agency personnel increased 11.1 percent.
- Court personnel increased 13.9 percent.
- State and local correctional agency personnel increased 2.8 percent.

Court and law enforcement agencies reported the largest percent increases in personnel (13.9 and 11.4 percent, respectively).

In 1983, of 106,697 reported criminal justice agency authorized full-time personnel:

- Law enforcement agency personnel accounted for 67.8 percent (72,317).

COMPLAINTS

Section 13012 of the Penal Code states "The annual report of the department provided for in Section 13010 shall contain statistics showing: . . . (d) The number of citizens complaints received by law enforcement agencies under Section 832.5. Such statistics shall indicate the total number of such complaints, the number alleging criminal conduct of either a felony or misdemeanor, and the number sustained in each category. The report shall not contain a reference to any individual agency but shall be by gross numbers only. . . ."

Section 832.5(a) of the Penal Code requires that "Each department or agency in this state which employs peace officers shall establish a procedure to investigate citizens' complaints against the personnel of such departments or agencies, and shall make a written description of the procedure available to the public."

Because of the individual nature of the requirements of Penal Code Section 832.5, reporting definitions and procedures vary among reporting agencies. The data shown are accurate and complete to the extent that contributing agencies met their reporting obligations.

KNOWN DATA LIMITATIONS

ARRESTS

Arrest and Citation Register

The analysis of race/ethnic data must be considered in light of the subjectivity of the labeling process and recent classifications changes, such as those of the U.S. Bureau of the Census (1980).

ADULT CORRECTIONS

Characteristics and Data Limitations

- The data include adults placed on supervised probation only.
- Persons are counted once for each jurisdiction. Thus, data include original grants of probation and do not include subsequent grants of probation to persons already under probation supervision ordered by the same level court in the same county. Also, the probationers under jurisdiction of both superior and lower courts and any who are jurisdictional cases of more than one county are counted more than one time in statewide totals.
- The sources of data are county probation departments' monthly reports of summary data.

DISPOSITIONS OF ADULT FELONY ARRESTS

Offender-Based Transaction Statistics System

- There is an important difference between arrests compiled through the Bureau of Criminal Statistics (BCS) arrest reporting system and Offender-Based Transaction Statistics (OBTS) data on the dispositions of adult felony arrests. Arrest data, as reported on the Monthly Arrest and Citation Register, are based on the year the arrest occurred. OBTS data pertain to the year of final disposition regardless of when the felony arrest occurred, and may be reported a year or more after the actual arrest was made.

- OBTS data do not reflect the total number of adult felony arrests or the total number of dispositions at any particular level of the criminal justice system during a given disposition year. It is estimated that, in 1983, OBTS reports were received by the Department of Justice (DOJ) for approximately 70 percent of the total adult felony arrests which received a final disposition during the calendar year. Despite underreporting, those dispositions which were received generally describe the annual statewide processing of adult felony arrestees through California's criminal justice system. However, county and local data should be used with caution since the extent of underreporting may vary between jurisdictions and from year to year.
- In cases where an individual is arrested and charged with multiple offenses, the OBTS system records only the most serious offense at both the time of arrest and the point of conviction. The seriousness of the offense is based on the severity of possible punishment.
- OBTS data on commitments to state institutions from lower and superior courts may vary from data compiled and reported by other state agencies because of differences in the data collection systems. For example, the California Department of Corrections (CDC) counts the number of defendants actually received by CDC institutions (e.g., prison) even though some may have been committed from one or more counties. The OBTS system, on the other hand, counts each commitment. This and underreporting account for the differences between OBTS counts and statistics generated by other state agencies.

JUVENILE JUSTICE SYSTEM

Characteristics and Data Limitations

- While 1982 and 1983 juvenile justice system data are shown as reported, 1978 through 1981 data contain estimated totals for Los Angeles County. Because of variability in reporting by that county's Probation Department, some underreporting occurred during those prior years. By agreement with that agency, estimates were developed that more fully represented the number of new referrals and new petitions handled by the department. These annual estimates for Los Angeles County were added to data for the other 57 counties to produce statewide figures. Annual estimates for Los Angeles County data on offense distributions are not available for years prior to 1982; therefore, Table 48 and the chart showing offenses are for only 57 counties.
- In cases where a juvenile has multiple petitions filed for more than one offense, only the petition with the most serious offense is recorded. This accounts for the differences between BCS counts and the statistics generated by the Administrative Office of the Courts, which counts the number of petitions processed.
- Since 1980, the new juvenile justice reporting system included 54 counties. Alameda, Los Angeles, San Diego, and Santa Clara counties are reporting in the old format.

<sup>a</sup>In 1979, FBI Crime Index offenses were expanded to include arson; however, 1980 was the first year of complete reporting. In order to maintain consistency with the data of prior years, arson crimes reported in 1980 through 1983 were subtracted from the FBI Crime Index total.

<sup>c</sup>The BCS Arrest Index represents arrest rates from 1978 to 1983 with the 1974 rate set at 100.

Note: Arrest rates calculated from the total population may not add to the total or subtotal arrest rates because of rounding.

<sup>a</sup>Juvenile arrests for kidnapping were not available prior to 1977.

<sup>b</sup>These rates are based on the population at risk for each year: total (10 years of age and older), adult (18 years of age and older), and juvenile (10-17 years of age) (see Table 58).

<sup>c</sup>The BCS Arrest Index represents arrest rates from 1978 to 1983 with the 1974 rate set at 100.

Notes: Arrest data may differ from previously published data because of changes in some offense groupings.

In 1974, drug law violations were not reported in the four categories.

<sup>a</sup>In 1974, family support personnel were not fully reported.

<sup>b</sup>In order to permit meaningful comparisons of workload, full-time court commissioners and referees employed by courts were included as auxiliary judicial positions. This treatment assumes that these court officers were available to handle matters which would have otherwise required the full-time effort of an equivalent number of judges.

<sup>c</sup>Probation departments classification counts, compiled by the Youth Authority, were not available for 1980.

Notes: Lawrence Radiation Laboratory reported 265 law enforcement personnel in 1980, 262 in 1981, 281 in 1982, and 302 in 1983. Because annual personnel counts are not available for years prior to 1980, these counts are excluded from the total and the personnel index. One day count of personnel taken June 30 with the exception of police departments, sheriffs' departments, California Highway Patrol, and University of California Police which were taken October 31.

As a result of additional information, 1982 prosecution and corrections data have been revised from previously published data. Personnel in Department of Justice and other regulatory agencies are not included.

Notes: These population estimates are provided by the Population Research Unit of the California Department of Finance.

Each year, minor adjustments are made in the population estimates. The adjustments have a minimal effect on crime and arrest rates.

Crime rates are based on the total population; arrest rates are based on the population at risk.

INTRODUCTION

The annual Criminal Justice Profile series summarizes and combines data pertaining to California's criminal justice system. Separate publications are available for each county and the state. Much of the data presented in the Statewide Profile supplements the Bureau of Criminal Statistics' (BCS) annual Crime and Delinquency publication, which is available upon request. Data not provided in these publications may be available from BCS by special request.

Each Profile consists of two sections. The first section displays annual criminal justice data in tabular form for 1974 through 1983. The second section contains reference tables displaying selected data for 1983.

This year, BCS introduced the California Crime Index, which excludes theft ($200 and over) from the original Seven Major Offenses. This new format was prompted by a 1983 law raising the lower limit of felony theft from $200 and over to over $400.

CRIMINAL JUSTICE DATA

Trend data in the Profile are reported to BCS by state and local agencies and have been summarized for each year. Individual county or statewide totals for selected criminal justice activities are provided in tabular form in this section. Tables are provided on crimes, arrests, processes, personnel, expenditures, and correctional actions. This year, a table showing supplemental crime data was added to the report.

Where used, population data are shown in hundreds and can be converted to original numbers by adding two zeros. For example, the state population for 1983 is shown as 251,740, which converts to a population total of 25,174,000.

REFERENCE TABLES

The individual reference tables in this section cover data for 1983 on crimes reported, adult and juvenile arrests, prosecution, and adult and juvenile probation.

Each county publication contains jurisdictional data. The statewide publication relates to California counties.

CRIMINAL JUSTICE DATA FOOTNOTES

- 1 Possession of limited quantities of marijuana was changed from a felony to a misdemeanor by legislation effective January 1, 1976.
  - 2 Due to a 1982 law change, arrests for driving under the influence of a drug have been removed from this category and included in the "driving under the influence" category.
  - 3 Caseload count taken December 31 of each year.
  - 4 Adult Probation: Removals exclude the "all other" category, which includes deceased, transferred to another county, sentence vacated, and appeal approved. Lower court probation removals for 1976 include estimated data for Alameda County based on the 1977 proportions reported. Terminations and violations are shown both numerically and as a percent of total removals.
Juvenile Probation: Prior to 1982, initial referrals with prior status of 654 W&I were counted as new referrals. In 1982 and subsequent years, these will be counted as subsequent petitions filed. Subsequent petitions filed include all cases dismissed, transferred, or remanded to adult court.
  - 5 Previously published court data through 1974 are not comparable with data for 1975 and subsequent years.
  - 6 Previously published superior court filings data through 1974 are not comparable with data for 1975 and subsequent years.
  - 7 Totals have been rounded and are shown in thousands. Expenditures include salaries and employee benefits, services, and supplies. Building construction is not included. Prior to 1976, family support was not fully reported by prosecution. Expenditure and personnel data are not comparable with each other.
  - 8 Includes costs for Juvenile Justice Commission, Delinquency Prevention Commission, jurors, interpreters, examination of the insane, juvenile court referees, jury commissioners, and other court-related expenses.
  - 9 One day count of personnel taken June 30 with the exception of police departments, sheriffs' departments, California Highway Patrol, and University of California Police (includes state colleges) which were taken October 31. Probation personnel counts were taken January 1, 1984. The dates varied in previous years. Personnel counts for Lawrence Radiation Laboratory were not available prior to 1980. Personnel and expenditure data are not comparable with each other.
  - 10 Counts for county and city jails and camps and juvenile nonsecure and secure facilities were taken the fourth Thursday in September of each year. Counts for active adult and juvenile probation caseload and juvenile halls were taken December 31 of each year.
  - 11 Resident population is by county of wardship for 1974 through 1977. Beginning in 1978, data are shown as county probation detention, nonsecure and secure facility counts.
- Notes: To maintain consistency with prior years' data, the arson crimes reported are excluded from the FBI Crime Index trend data (page 5), however 1983 arson crimes reported are included in the reference table (page 21).
Rates on California Crime Index offenses, clearances, and arrests are not computed where population is less than 100,000.
Rates may not balance because of rounding.
Percents may not total 100.0 because of rounding.
Percent distributions are not calculated when the total number upon which those percents are based is less than 50. This does not apply to clearance rates on the California Crime Index offenses.

KNOWN DATA LIMITATIONS, 1983

ARRESTS ARREST AND CITATION REGISTER

- Race/ethnic data must be considered in light of the subjectivity of the labeling process and recent classification changes, such as those of the U.S. Bureau of the Census (1980).

DISPOSITIONS OF ADULT FELONY ARRESTS OFFENDER-BASED TRANSACTION STATISTICS SYSTEM

- There is an important difference between arrests compiled through the Bureau of Criminal Statistics (BCS) arrest reporting system and Offender-Based Transaction Statistics (OBTS) data on the dispositions of adult felony arrests. Arrest data, as reported on the Monthly Arrest and Citation Register, are based on the year the arrest occurred. OBTS data pertain to the year of final disposition regardless of when the felony arrest occurred, and may be reported a year or more after the actual arrest was made.
- OBTS data do not reflect the total number of adult felony arrests or the total number of dispositions at any particular level of the criminal justice system during a given disposition year. It is estimated that, in 1983, OBTS reports were received by the Department of Justice (DOJ) for approximately 70 percent of the total adult felony arrests which received a final disposition during the calendar year. Despite underreporting, those dispositions which were received generally describe the annual statewide processing of adult felony arrestees through California's criminal justice system. However, county and local data should be used with caution since the extent of underreporting may vary between jurisdictions and from year to year.
- In cases where an individual is arrested and charged with multiple offenses, the OBTS system records only the most serious offense at both the time of arrest and the point of conviction. The seriousness of the offense is based on the severity of possible punishment.
- Because of a change in reporting procedures, type of trial (guilty plea, jury trial, court trial, and transcript trial) is not available for 1982 and subsequent years.
- OBTS data on commitments to state institutions from lower and superior courts may vary from data compiled and reported by other state agencies because of differences in the data collection systems. For example, the California Department of Corrections (CDC) counts the number of defendants actually received by CDC institutions (e.g., prison) even though some may have been committed from one or more counties. The OBTS system, on the other hand, counts each commitment. This and underreporting account for the differences between OBTS counts and statistics generated by other state agencies.
- All arrests made in correctional institutions (e.g., San Quentin, Soledad, Susanville, etc.), where a disposition was reported to DOJ, have been deleted from the county data, and grouped separately for statistical reporting purposes. Institutional arrest dispositions are included in all statewide reports.

ADULT PROBATION

- The data include adults placed on supervised probation only.
- Persons are counted once for each jurisdiction. Thus, data include original grants of probation and do not include subsequent grants of probation to persons already under probation supervision ordered by the same level court in the same county. Also, the probationers under jurisdiction of both superior and lower courts and any who are jurisdictional cases of more than one county are counted more than one time in statewide totals.
- The sources of data are county probation departments' monthly reports of summary data.

JUVENILE PROBATION

- In 1983, the new juvenile justice reporting system included 54 counties. Alameda, Los Angeles, San Diego, and Santa Clara counties are still reporting in the old format.
- In cases where a juvenile has multiple petitions filed for more than one offense, only the petition with the most serious offense is recorded. This accounts for the differences between BCS counts and the statistics generated by the Administrative Office of the Courts, which counts the number of petitions processed.

CRIMINAL JUSTICE
GLOSSARY

CRIMINAL JUSTICE GLOSSARY<sup>1</sup>

ACQUITTAL: a judgment of a court, based either on the verdict of a jury or a judicial officer, that the defendant is not guilty of the offense(s) for which he was tried.

ADULT: a person 18 years of age or older.

APPEAL: a petition initiated by a defendant for a rehearing in an appellate court of a previous sentence or motion.

ARREST: "... taking a person into custody, in a case and in the manner authorized by law. An arrest may be made by a peace officer or by a private person." (P.C. 834)

ARREST RATE: the number of arrests per 100,000 general population.

CALIFORNIA DEPARTMENT OF CORRECTIONS: see Department of Corrections.

CALIFORNIA REHABILITATION CENTER (CRC): an institution operated by the Department of Corrections which is designated for the treatment of persons addicted to narcotics or in imminent danger of addiction. Commitment to the facility is by civil procedure only.

CALIFORNIA YOUTH AUTHORITY (CYA): the state agency which has jurisdiction over and maintains institutions as correctional schools for the reception of wards of the juvenile court and other persons committed from justice, municipal, and superior courts.

CHARGE: a formal allegation that a specific person has committed a specific offense.

CLEARANCE: an offense is cleared or "solved" for crime reporting purposes when at least one person is arrested, charged with the commission of the offense, and turned over to the court for prosecution or cited to juvenile authorities. In certain situations a clearance may be counted by "exceptional" means when the police definitely know the identity of the offender, have enough information to support an arrest, and know the location of the offender but for some reason cannot take the offender into custody.

CLEARANCE RATE: method used to determine the percentage of crimes cleared. The rate is based on the number of total crimes reported.

CLOSED AT INTAKE: a case is closed by the probation department at the time the juvenile is referred to the department, following an investigation of the juvenile's circumstances and nature of the alleged offense. No further action is taken.

COMPLAINT: a verified written accusation, filed by a prosecuting attorney with a local criminal court, which charges one or more persons with the commission of one or more offenses.

CONTROLLED SUBSTANCE: a drug, substance, or immediate precursor which is included in Schedules I through V inclusive, as set forth in Health and Safety Code Section 11054 through 11058. These would include heroin, marijuana, amphetamines, barbiturates, and psychedelics.

CONVICTION: a judgment, based either on the verdict of a jury or a judicial officer or on the guilty plea of the defendant, that the defendant is guilty.

CORRECTIONS: see Department of Corrections.

COURT: an agency of the judicial branch of government, authorized or established by statute or constitution, and consisting of one or more judicial officers, which has the authority to decide upon controversies in law and disputed matters of fact brought before it.

CRC: see California Rehabilitation Center.

CRIME: "... an act committed or omitted in violation of a law forbidding or commanding it ..." (P.C. 15)
